Montana to receive $3.5 million from baby powder settlement with Johnson & Johnson

Attorney General Austin Knudsen announced today that Montana will receive over $3.5 million in a multi-state settlement with Johnson & Johnson to resolve allegations the company manufactured, marketed and knowingly sold baby powder tainted with carcinogenic asbestos.

Montana will receive $3,537,515 of the total $700,000,000 multi-state settlement. Johnson & Johnson also agreed to cease the manufacturing, marketing, promotion, sale, and distribution of all baby, body, and cosmetic powder products and not to do so through a third party.

"Johnson & Johnson violated Montana's consumer protection laws, but worse put the health and safety of consumers at risk. The company's actions are unacceptable and I'm glad we could help to hold them accountable," Attorney General Knudsen said.

The settlement holds Johnson & Johnson accountable for manufacturing and selling talc body powder products and marketing them as safe for daily use by consumers, while knowing the asbestos contained in the products could cause cancer. The company continued to manufacture, sell, and market the product for decades knowing it was harmful.

In his complaint against Johnson & Johnson, Attorney General Knudsen states that the company's actions violated Montana's Unfair Trade Practices and Consumer Protection Acts when they misrepresented the sponsorship, approval, characteristics, benefits, or qualities of their talc powder products; and when they misrepresented the safety of talc products.

Montana is scheduled to begin receiving payments from the settlement July 30, 2024, and will receive payments through 2027. The funds will be dispersed at the discretion of Attorney General Knudsen and can be used for restitution and grants for the Children's Advocacy Centers of Montana.

UMW Student Carson Crary Excels in John Ruffatto Startup Challenge

University of Montana Western student Carson Crary was recently named a finalist and award winner at the University of Montana's John Ruffatto Startup Challenge.

The John Ruffatto Startup Challenge, an annual event established in 1989 and hosted by the University of Montana College of Business, provides a dynamic platform for students across Montana to present innovative business and social entrepreneurship ideas. This statewide competition not only fosters entrepreneurial skills but also offers experiential learning and valuable networking opportunities.

Participants present their business concepts to a diverse panel of judges, including experts from academia, industry, and state agencies. The competition features several stages, from preliminary rounds to live finals, enabling students to showcase their projects comprehensively. It also serves as a crucial networking venue, connecting students with seasoned professionals and potential investors.

The 2024 event attracted over 100 entries, with finalists presenting ideas that spanned healthcare, technology, sustainability, and housing. These ideas addressed issues at local, regional, national, and international levels.

Carson Crary, a UMW sophomore, was selected as a finalist for his innovative business model aimed at providing specialized food services for individuals with digestive issues, illnesses, or diseases. Drawing from his personal experience with irritable bowel syndrome (IBS), Crary identified a significant market gap and developed a service to offer safe, convenient food options for people with dietary restrictions. His business focuses on supplying curated, diet-compliant meals and snacks for those engaging in outdoor activities such as hiking, camping, or exploring remote areas where suitable food is often unavailable.

In addition to his finalist recognition, Crary received awards for "Best Elevator Pitch" and "Most Passionate Presenter," securing a total prize of $3,000.

Crary's business plan originated from an Entrepreneurship course he took at Montana Western, where students develop business ideas and craft detailed business plans. Taking initiative, Crary applied for and participated in the competition, working with a mentor from the University of Montana to refine his presentation. He received additional

100 Things to Do in Montana Before you Die

Montana author, Susie Wall will be signing copies of her new book, 100 Things to do in Montana Before you Die at The Bookstore on Saturday, June 15th from 1:00-3:00. Please join this writer and road trip aficionado as she takes us on a journey across her beloved Montana.

From the towering western mountains to the rolling eastern plains, Montana's wide-open landscapes feature vast wilderness, quaint small towns, and fascinating historical sites. To best explore this wild and wonderful place, bring along a copy of this book and never be lost for things to discover in Big Sky Country.

Experience Montana's storied past as you dig for dinosaur bones in Bynum and admire prehistoric art at Pictograph Cave State Park. Get your adrenaline fix riding the rapids through the Albion Gorge. Dance the night away at the Montana Folk Festival. Find solitude on a winter hike in Glacier National Park or a slow paddle down the Clearwater Canoe Trail. Then reminisce about all the day's adventures over a glass of locally produced fruit wine or a pint from Montana's numerous craft breweries.

Susie Wall writes from her home in Missoula, Montana. Her parents instilled in her a love of travel and exploration during many family road trips and Sunday drives. Once she outgrew her propensity for car sickness, there was no looking back. After many years spent living in Oklahoma, Florida, and Colorado, Susie and her husband, Dave, drove across the country looking for a forever home in 2007. Thirty states and six months later, Montana won by a landslide. Susie's writing and photography have appeared in many state and national publications. Her boundless curiosity has led her to write about a variety of topics from food to farming to scat identification, but her favorite subjects continue to be the captivating people and places of Montana. If you have questions or would like to reserve your copy please call 683-6807.

Veteran's Corner Update
 By Mike Lawson

Greetings to all of you who read my SW MT Veteran update articles. It's Sunday afternoon with cloudy sky's and temperatures that have cooled off, which is a relief. We're not used to these above 70 degree tempts. We will be and know the new life of our foliage and crops need these higher degree temperatures to thrive. Driving some veterans to Missoula and Helena last week was uplifting as the irrigating was everywhere on the ranches and farms we viewed in our travels. New born life was everywhere as we were privileged to see the young beef calves, lambs and deer fawns and even a young eaglet in a nest high up on a power-pole. Every spring is like that and is always an uplifting of the spirit, for me. Hopefully we will get enough rain to keep the fires at a low rate as they benefit no one in terms of property loss and health issues, especially from breathing the smoke.

I was privileged to watch the debate between Senator Tester and his challenger Tim Sheehy. I felt it was a good debate and saw they agreed and disagreed on a number of issues. It was refreshing to see that there was no screaming or disrespectful put-downs between them. I have friends who support one or the other of them. We have had respectful discussions and despite our differences we remain friends. Independent of any Veteran's organization that I am a member of, I have always been in support of John Tester. He has gotten so many Veteran Bills passed, 27 the last I counted. The numerous Montana/National Bills that he's written and gotten passed impressive because he walked across the aisle, found common ground with his Republicans counterparts to make these bills be bipartisan. Being moderate or independent is what I think of myself. This kind of finding solutions, with both parties being involved, is true Americanism. Montana has experienced this many times over the years in our own legislative sessions. Folks moving from other states, often bring their beliefs they had before moving here with them, get politically involved and many times try to change our political system to reflect the systems they came from. We need to question and ask if what we have or had was not good enough or put the breaks on some of these purposed changes and say our hand-shake Montana values are worth saving. Enough said but well worth consideration.

- The Veteran world and veteran activities are in full swing. All our Veteran Organization Conventions have or will have happened by the end of June. Also during the months of May and June, election/installation of Officers take place. The planning and implication of community activities, that veterans are involved with, takes place more so in summertime, when the weather is more permissive to conduct them. Across our SW Montana, activities such as parades, rodeos, BBQ's/picnics, fundraisers, the Folk Festival, etc., are in full swing. This getting together with our communities doing some of these activities is what brings it citizens into a close knit group. The kids are what we always have a self spot for and who we want to see have fun times.
- I mentioned our Veterans of the past and how visiting our graveyards can be a neat experience and a history lesson for those who have a love for America's past. One such Veteran who is buried at the Holy Cross Cemetery in Butte, was a WWII soldier who fought in a particular area of Italy northwest of Cassino, Italy. What is so special about this man is that he is a Metal of Honor winner and it's on his grave. This is the highest metal given for "conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at risk above and beyond the call of duty". In our whole state of Montana we probably have only a handful of these recipients. The Metal of Honor is rarely given and to receive one is an incredible honor. This man's name is Leo J Powers, Private First Class, U.S. Army, 133d Infantry, 34th Infantry Division. He entered the service at Alder Gulch, Montana. He died at Lost Creek near Anaconda, Montana in 1967. What he did is fascinating to read and his heroism is almost beyond belief. In the lobby at the military museum at Ft Harrison, there is a display honoring him and the actions that he is honored for are there to be read. Check your graveyards and experience the discovery of your own local history.
- I have applications for DAV VAN Drivers and would encourage any of you to give it some consideration. Call 406 560 3591

Until next time, take care.
