Max Baca and Los Texmaniacs are the Past, Present, And Future of Conjunto Music. Conjunto music may be a familiar sound to residents of Texas, but its worldwide appeal can be surprising. Combine a hefty helping of Tex-Mex conjunto, simmer with several parts Texas rock, and add a daring dash of well-cured blues and R&B riffs, and you've cooked up the tasty Grammy-winning LosTexmaniacs groove.

Los Texmaniacs are the new worldwide kings of Texas Roots music, feeding the masses with only the best in musical fare, cooked up from a wide-ranging experience touring and recording with Flaco Jimenez of Texas Tornados fame, Los Super Seven, and even the Rolling Stones. While Max Baca has participated in eleven Grammy-winning projects, the band themselves won their first Grammy in 2010 and a nomination for their last Smithsonian Folkways recording in 2019, Borders y Bailes - featuring Lyle Lovett and Rick Trevino.

MONTANA: 1 OF 4 STATES HELPING SECURITIES FRAUD VICTIMS WITH THE CSI RESTITUTION FUND, HONORING THE LATE LYNNE EGAN

In 2023, consumers reported losing more than $4.6 billion to investment scams nationwide, according to the Federal Trade Commission. To date, national data indicates investment-related fraud in 2024 is among the fastest-growing types in the United States. Unfortunately, once money is scammed it is often gone for good. For Montanans, there is help.

Montana is one of only four states with a restitution fund for eligible securities fraud victims, with the others being Indiana, Vermont, and Maine. In 2011, Montana created the Securities Restitution Assistance Fund to help victims of investment fraud recover a portion of money lost in certain cases when full restitution is not possible. The Restitution Fund is not paid for with taxpayer dollars – funds come from fees paid by registered firms doing business with Montana investors and from settlements entered into by the CSI Securities Division.

In 2022, the Fund was renamed the “Lynne Egan Memorial Securities Restitution Assistance Fund,” after long-time Deputy Securities Commissioner, Lynne Egan, who lost her hard-fought battle with breast cancer. Lynne was a well-known advocate for consumer protection and was instrumental in creating the Fund. She led investor education efforts for the CSI and the North American Securities Administrators Association (NASAA).

“Lynne was the heart and soul of investor education,” said Diane Young-Spitzer, Director/General Counsel, Massachusetts Securities Division, and Lynne’s former friend and colleague from NASAA. “She fought really hard to protect the vulnerable from securities fraud, especially the elderly.”

Friday marking the anniversary of Lynne’s passing, the CSI would like to honor her legacy and highlight the value of the Restitution Fund. For more information on the Lynne Egan Memorial Restitution Assistance Fund or to apply, visit csimt.gov/restitution-assistance-fund.

Attorney General Knudsen issues statement on court's stay of Biden's 1557 rule change

A federal court granted Attorney General Austin Knudsen's request to block the Biden administration's radical new rule that would hold funding hostage if states and healthcare providers refuse to provide or pay for dangerous and experimental "gender-transition" treatments for adults and children. In response, Attorney General Knudsen released the following statement:

"The Biden administration issued another lawless order and it was rightfully smacked down by the court. The president went too far forcing healthcare providers to perform dangerous and life-altering experimental procedures and states to foot the bill for treatments that are leaving people, even children, with irreversible damage."

Attorney General Knudsen filed a lawsuit against the Department of Health and Human Services' rule in June.

The rule, "Nondiscrimination in Health Programs and Activities," was promulgated under Section 1557 of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA) and forces healthcare providers to perform "gender-transition" medical activities on adults and children seeking to "transition," or risk losing federal funding. However, Section 1557 does not authorize—and has never authorized—the federal government to compel anyone to perform or pay for "gender-transition" procedures.

"How strangely will the Tools of a Tyrant pervert the plain Meaning of Words! Here, federal agencies are attempting to impose a sweeping new social policy by manipulating and perverting the statutory text that constrains them. Texas and Montana seek a stay or preliminary injunction to prevent the irreparable harm that will undoubtedly follow. The Court grants the States' request," the judge wrote in the decision.

Montana's Biggest Weekend Concert Opener

The Dillon Jaycees are excited to announce the opening act for Montana's Biggest Weekend. Opening for Shane Smith and the Saints will be Colby Acuff! Colby is a 4th generation Idaho native with a rugged spirit true to his mountain home. Colby launched his debut album in 2023 title Western White Pines and it introduced a country talent as wild and free as the Idaho mountains themselves. He was lauded as one of the year's best by Saving Country Music, Whiskey Riff, Country Chord and more. With new music coming soon, Acuff is currently on the road with Flatland Cavalry and will join Luke Combs for stadium shows this summer. We could not be more excited to have Colby Acuff for Labor Day in Dillon! Tickets on sale now.
