Carol McLaren Funeral Notice

Funeral Services for Carol McLaren will be Monday, July 29th, 2024 at 10 am at St. James Episcopal Church. Graveside service and reception to follow at the Guild Hall.

Dean Charles Martin

In loving memory of Dean Martin

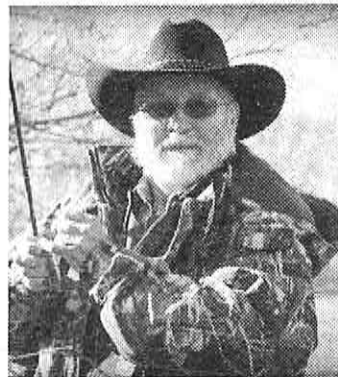

It is with heavy hearts that we announce the passing of Dean Charles Martin, who left us peacefully on July 17, 2024. He was a husband, loving father, brother and loyal friend to many.

Dean Martin was born on January 4th, 1950 in Butte, Montana to Margie and Bert Martin. He graduated from Butte High School. He was a kind-hearted and hardworking man, always putting his family and friends first while providing unwavering support to those around him. His presence brought joy and warmth to all who knew him, and his generosity and guidance will be missed.

Throughout his life, Dean touched the lives of many with spirit, humor, kindness, and unwavering love. He had a great passion for fishing and hunting, sharing this enthusiasm with everyone he knew. He was a leader and a strong presence for everyone who knew him.

He is survived by his wife, two children, his brother, Martin and a host of other family members and friends who will carry his memory in their hearts forever.

A celebration of Dean's life will be held on August 16th at The Grasshopper B&B in Polaris, Montana, from 2-4 p.m.. Though he may be gone from us, he will never be forgotten. His legacy of love, kindness, and strength will continue to inspire us all and he will always be remembered with our love shall be appreciated in our hearts, in return.

IS COUNTRY MUSIC COOL AGAIN?

Tyrades! by Danny Tyree

The rhythm-and-blues-tinged 1962 Ray Charles album "Modern Sounds in Country and Western Music." John Travolta's mechanical-bull-riding adventures in the 1980 film "Urban Cowboy." The star-making 1990 "No Fences" album by Garth Brooks. The 2005 Country Music Association Awards show held in Madison Square Garden rather than Nashville.

These were all milestones that increased the visibility of country music beyond hardcore fans.

Unfortunately, casual country listeners can be as fickle as a honky-tonk temptress. Country has been "in" and "out" more often than a rhinestone-bedazzled housecat.

But right now, according to the Wall Street Journal, record sales, streaming, concert attendance and merchandising are in the biggest "boom" phase of the last 30 years.

Hip-hop remains America's dominant genre, but country is once again allowed to sit at the "cool kids" table. (Admittedly, the cool kids remain jittery that longtime country fans might dress a deer carcass on the aforementioned table, but a win is a win.)

As a person with eclectic musical tastes ("Favorite CD is waaay across the room? Never mind. This'll do"), I am cautiously optimistic about the breaking down of nonsensical cultural barriers.

For too long, urban elitists have derided country fans as inbred, under-educated moonshiners. Likewise, many country fans have dismissed fans of jazz/blues/pop/classical as "city slickers" and softies who wouldn't know how to pour urine out of a boot. (Job applicants, please wait for the interviewer to ask before demonstrating such hidden talents.)

The Journal largely credits social media and streaming for country's rise. With nontraditional artists gaining notoriety via Spotify and TikTok, record labels and radio programmers no longer maintain the same megalomaniacal stranglehold on playlists as they once enjoyed. ("You malcontents claim that we play the same four artists over and over and over, but that's a doggone lie! Number Four is just Number Three on the days his drawers are too tight, Mr. Know-It-All!")

After long being associated with farms and small towns in a limited swath of the nation's real estate, country is pushing beyond its traditional regional strongholds. At the rate the international strategy is progressing, Vladimir Putin may soon crank up "Achy-breaky Interrogation Room." And Antarctica could someday host a rousing performance of "If Drinkin' Don't Kill Me, the Collapsing Ice Shelf Will."

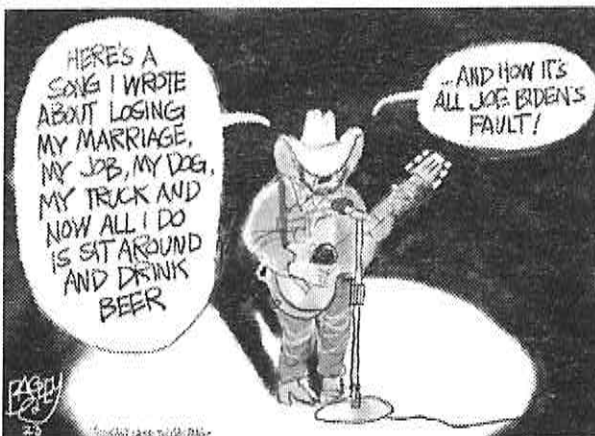

Country is also growing because of factors (such as a more diverse talent pool, fresh topics and a playful mixing of musical genres) that resonate with a younger demographic.

Relevance matters. College students and recent grads who would have been bored to tears by maudlin tunes about Momma are intrigued by songs about Momma Who Used To Be Daddy.

Underage students without a fake ID. can still stomp their feet for "I've Got Zits in Low Places."

Unattached young professionals who can't identify with songs about cheatin' with your spouse's best friend may latch onto one about cheatin' with a slice of gluten-enhanced bread.

Twenty-somethings with no interest in the lingo of diesel truck drivers are fascinated with the lingo of people waiting in line at the EV charger (even if I can't repeat the lingo here).

I remain wary of ups and downs, but I haven't been so excited since I got an issue of "Hee Haw Magazine" for my tenth birthday.

The sky is the limit for country music. Truly. Someday a little green man may emerge from his flying saucer and demand, "Take me to your boot-scooter."

YOU'RE INVITED!

Does your Operation Christmas Child shoebox gift really make a difference?

Come celebrate with Carole Meltzer as she shares her Vision Trip to Paraguay!

Carole represented 80 Central Montana churches as their Operation Christmas Child missionary to Paraguay in June to hand out Shoeboxes to kids. During her trip, she witnessed firsthand the impact that these simple gifts had on the children, their families and their communities. She was also able to participate in the Greatest Journey Graduation Celebration, which invites children to attend a follow-up discipleship program.

The mission of Operation Christmas Child partners with local churches to provide children in need with shoeboxes filled with toys, school supplies, and hygiene items. As they pass out these gifts, they also have an opportunity to share the Good News of Jesus Christ and make disciples. The project delivers not only the joy of what, for many kids, is their first gift ever, but it also gives them a tangible expression of God's love.

Come and hear about Carole's experience and meet the local Montana team, the National Ministry Team, and the Ministry Partners of Paraguay through her stories and photos. This is a FREE presentation for anyone who would like to learn more about Samaritan's Purse and how churches, organizations, businesses or individuals can make a difference in the lives of children who live in over 100 countries around the world.

Three (3) Presentation opportunities (each at 7pm)

- July 26, First Presbyterian Church 901 W. Platinum, Butte
 - July 27, Grace Bible 1049 Laknar Lane, Dillon
 - August 2, South Hills Baptist Fellowship, Clancy
- Paraguay type refreshments will be served.

For more information or to arrange a presentation at your church or organization, contact Carole at: (209) 743-9258 centralmontanaocc@gmail.com

Attorney General Knudsen calls for removal of Biden's education secretary for violating federal law

Montana Attorney General Austin Knudsen filed a formal complaint with the U.S. Office of Special Counsel (OSC) against Secretary of Education Miguel Cardona for using government resources for political activities while touting the Biden-Harris administration's student loan cancellation schemes, which is a violation of the Hatch Act. In the complaint, Attorney General Knudsen requests that OSC recommend Secretary Cardona be removed from his federal position.

Earlier this month, on at least two separate occasions Cardona and an unidentified spokesperson used their official office to engage in political activity when attacking Republican elected officials for successfully enjoining the Department of Education's lawless loan forgiveness program. The Hatch Act prohibits a federal employee from engaging in political activity while the employee is on duty or in any room or building occupied in the discharge of official duties. It also prohibits an employee from using their official authority for the purpose of interfering with or affecting the result of an election.

Cardona sent a politically motivated letter around July 15 to student loan borrowers on government time, using official email lists and the Department of Education's letterhead. "Let me be clear: President Biden and I are determined to lower costs for student loan borrowers, to make repaying student debt affordable and realistic, and to build on our separate efforts that have already provided relief to 4.75 million Americans – no matter how many times Republican elected officials try to stop us," Cardona wrote.

Following Cardona's letter, on July 18, a Department of Education spokesperson made statements to the media with the purpose of affecting the result of an election, including the 2024 Presidential election, by distinguishing the Biden Administration from its "Republican" opponents.

Attorney General Knudsen filed a lawsuit against the Biden-Harris administration's student loan cancellation scheme in March. It was subsequently enjoined by a federal judge in Kansas.

Kansas Attorney General Kris Kobach joined Attorney General Knudsen in filing the complaint.

Surplus drawing license opportunities to be randomized
Successful hunters to be contacted through email
 Hunters who signed up for the Surplus License List were randomized and selected, Wednesday, July 24. The list includes licenses left over from the drawing for Deer B and Elk B licenses. Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks will contact hunters who are at the top of the list via email with instructions to finalize their purchase within a specified time. Hunters must finalize the purchase of the license within the timeframe specified in the email, otherwise, the opportunity will be offered to the next hunter on the randomized list. This new process for the sale of surplus licenses began in 2020 in response to issues in years past. Nonresidents who hold a nonresident native license, youth combo license, or nonresident college student combination license may purchase Deer B and Elk B licenses at half price. New for 2024, nonresident hunters who hold a nonresident combination license may possess a total of two Deer B licenses. Nonresident hunters who do not hold a nonresident combination license may possess a total of one Deer B license. For more information, contact the FWP licensing office at 406-444-2950 or fwplic@mt.gov.

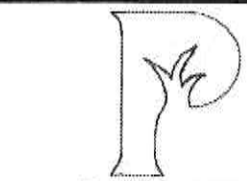

Candice Turner Featured Author During Dillon Days
 Local author and BCHS graduate, Candice Turner will be signing copies of her new book, Into the Shadows a Faelie Novel at The Bookstore on Saturday July 27th from 1:00-3:00. Turner originally came to Dillon in 2006 when her father took a job in law enforcement with the local BLM. She graduated from high school in 2009 and married her high school sweetheart that same summer. She credits her teachers for inspiring her and telling her to follow her passion. Her husband joined the United States Air Force in 2011. What followed was a life filled with travel and inspiration that took them away from the heart of Dillon. Returning to Dillon after her husband's military retirement in the summer of 2023 they hope to plant their roots permanently back in the hometown they missed and love. Currently she is engrossed in crafting the sequel, delving deeper into the enchanting universe she first brought to life. If you have any questions or would like to reserve a copy of Into the Shadows please call 683-6807.

What the Bible says about alcohol

(Pastor Ken Gilchrist, Big Sky Missionary Baptist Church)

Alcohol is considered by most as being a beverage that in some way enhances whatever activity one is involved in. Statistics, however, tell a different story. The last statistics I read stated that our nation has over nine million alcoholics. Many highway deaths, including many innocent victims, are due to drinking drivers. The CDC statistics for 2020-2021 reveals over 179,000 deaths from excessive use of alcohol. Though there is some indication that a small amount of alcohol can be good for heart health, too much alcohol can be damaging to the heart. The American Heart Association does not recommend drinking wine or any other form of alcohol to gain potential health benefits and advises that one should not start drinking for unproven health benefits. It also recommends that if you don't drink already, DON'T START!

The all wise God, creator of heaven & earth, gives explicit warnings against drinking alcohol in the following scriptures: Ephesians 5:18 says, "Be not drunk with wine."

Proverbs 20:1 states that "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging: and whoever is deceived by it is not wise."

In Proverbs 23:29 it lists "woe, sorrow, contentions, babbling, wounds without reason and redness of eye" as the results of drinking alcohol.

King Solomon, who wrote Proverbs, advises in Proverbs 23:31-35 against drinking alcohol because it bites like a snake, stings like an adder (asp), leads a man to behold perverse, adulterous women, makes one speak evil, and causes one to feel like he is on a ship at sea. It also refers to those times when the drunkard has suffered a physical beating that he doesn't even remember. Possibly some who read this have experienced some of these things.

In Isaiah 28:7-8 it states that alcohol ruins ones judgment and vision, thus causing them to err. The prophet there describes the sickness often experienced by drinkers, "...For all tables are full of vomit and filthiness (bodily waste...pollution), so that there is no place clean."

In spite of these facts from the medical profession and counsel from God, thousands of Americans will suffer terrible injury, death, disease and sorrow from alcohol consumption.

I hope his information will move someone to think seriously about this problem and get over the mentality that alcohol is healthy or that you can't have fun without alcohol!
