First Responders Called Out To Wreck On Blacktail Road

Jeremy Crawford, Southwestern Montana News

Sunday, July 28th first responders were called out to a two vehicle wreck on Blacktail road just south past the Matador Ranch. The wreck involved a four door chevy pickup truck and another truck that collided. The black Chevy truck ended up in a field alongside the road on its roof with the flatbed of the truck becoming completely detached. Five people were transported to the hospital and life flight was called. Speed is being considered as one of the factors in the wreck.

Thank you!

The Peterson family at the Forty Bar Ranch in Jackson would like to take this opportunity to thank Wisdom, Jackson and Grasshopper Valley volunteer fire departments, DNRC, Forest Service, neighbors and passersby in their efforts to extinguish multiple, simultaneous fires on our property. There were additional fire calls prior and after our emergency call. Please remember the importance of local volunteer services in these small communities, especially in drought conditions such as this year, exhausting all resources of these departments. We are very grateful for the outcome as it could have been much worse.

Sincerely, Forty Bar Ranch
Jackson

Flash forward to 1983. A Christmas Story with Peter Billingsley came to the theaters and my own BB gun memories came flooding back. I believe it was his mother who said, "You'll shoot your eye out!" I wonder if Ralphie ever came clean about how his glasses were broken? My folks have passed away so I won't be telling them what really caused the large knot on my nose all those years ago.

By this time my cousin and I had consumed all the ice cream in the house. I suggested we head to Sam Patch's grocery for another couple of gallons. He said he enjoyed the walk down memory lane but needed to get home.

As I look back at the experience, 63 years ago, did I learn anything from the BB hitting me between the eyes? Dang right I did! It hurts like the dickens to get hit in the nose by a ricocheted, deflected, boomeranged, stupid BB.

with fire backing downhill towards Pettengill Creek and spotting to the north towards Grouse Creek.

Firefighters are assessing structures from the junction of Pettengill Road and along the Pioneer Scenic Byway to the north. They will be scouting for opportunities for firefighting operations, utilizing both natural and manmade control features. Crews will be working to improve and bolster fuel breaks previously constructed during the Alder Creek Fire of 2021. Firefighters will be installing water-handling equipment (pumps, hoses, and sprinklers) around structures in the Pettengill Creek area.

Weather and Fire Behavior:

The fire is burning mainly in a subalpine fir fuel model, in heavy timber on steep rocky terrain. Available fuels are unseasonably dry and include large amounts of standing dead and down trees. Fire behavior has been very active and extreme, including individual and group tree torching on all flanks and spotting. Dead fuels along the ridges at the highest elevations are consuming completely. If winds align with terrain, in combination with the dry fuels, extreme fire behavior with active movement can be expected. These conditions pose additional hazards to firefighters, limiting access and affecting on-the-ground progress.

Weather on Monday trends warmer with increased wind in the afternoon, elevating fire weather concerns. The next change for precipitation will be Tuesday, with chances for showers and thunderstorms throughout the day. High temperature will be in the 80s, with breezy conditions and gusts to 30 mph. Widespread haze will persist.

At 74 Dillon Local Proves He Still Has What It Takes To Hike The Highest Mountains

Jeremy Crawford, Southwestern Montana News

Dillon, MT local Wade Hansen has been on a quest all his life to hike up to the tallest mountains in and around Beaverhead County. After accomplishing these hikes, he started to look at mountains in other states and this year he climbed up Mount Elbert.

For any person this is a feat but keep in mind Wade is still young at 74. Mount Elbert is 14,433 feet and is the highest mountain in Colorado. On June 25, 2024, Wade's goal was to hike uphill for 8 hours. This got him to an elevation of 13,172 feet, that is 2,000 feet higher than Tweedy Mountain, the highest mountain in the Pioneers.

Satisfied with his accomplishments Wade then had the task of walking back down the mountain to his start. A little over five hours later Wade was back where it all started and at 74 years old, he knew he still has it.

Dillon Days Horsepower Roundup winners

The 4th annual Dillon Days kicked off with the Horsepower Roundup Friday. A huge turnout of vintage cars, trucks, muscle cars and farm implements created another event of family fun. This year the Best of Show winner is the 1949 Chevy Coupe owned by Pat and Larry McGrath.

The Peoples Choice award goes to the 1971 International Harvester Hydro owned by Jeff Welborn. Over two dozen entrants displayed their vehicles as many more joined the festivities.

While contestants of the 4th annual "Blowin' Smoke" BBQ set up for Saturdays competition. Chairman, Stan Smith said the winners will be posted soon along with results from every fun event through the weekend.

He credits much of this years success to the foundation committee and especially the efforts of tres./sec. Stacey Roundy. He thanks everyone involved and all that came to enjoy the Dillon Community Foundations annual fundraiser.

Firefighters Stop Fast Moving Fire at Dillon Rifle Range

Shortly before 3 pm on July 28, multiple crews and air resources responded to a fire at the rifle range on 10 Mile Road west of Dillon, MT. Firefighters from the Dillon and Grasshopper Volunteer Fire Departments, along with crews from the Montana DNRC and the Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest, were assisted by aerial resources using retardant and water drops.

"The forward progress was stopped," said Incident Commander trainee Tyler Reum. "We will continue to patrol and mop-up into the evening and following days." Reum estimates the fire burned approximately 494 acres.

Extreme heat and drought conditions throughout the state of Montana have increased the risk of wildfires. It only takes one spark to start a fire and professionals are asking the public to take caution when doing activities such as shooting during high fire danger. Sparks can come from a bullet striking a rock or a metal target, as those who responded suspect was the cause of this fire.

Many areas have implemented fire restrictions to help reduce the risk of human-caused wildfires. To find out more about these restrictions, and to learn more about protecting your property from a wildfire, please visit MTFireInfo.org.
