Tina Beck Death Notice

Our beloved Barber, Friend, Granny and Mama Tina Beck passed away peacefully Sunday morning 8/18 at her home surrounded by her family. There will be a celebration of life over Labor Day weekend. Details will follow with an obituary.

Walter Lame

December 18, 1937 — August 12, 2024

Born during a blizzard in Belt, Montana. Walter Clarence Lame was officially assigned the birthdate of December 18, 1937. Although, family lore has always questioned the exactness of that date. In 1939 he moved with his family, parents Everett and Adellia (Hildebrand) Lame to a farm outside of Augusta, Montana and with the exceptions of serving in the Navy and working on a dairy farm in Fairfield, that farm was where he called home for the next 85 years.

Walter attended school in Augusta and joined the track team without his mother's permission. It was only when the local paper published the names of the athletes heading to state that she found out. With the coach's convincing, Walter was able to participate in the state track meet in Missoula. Although he didn't place, he had fond memories of his first trip to "the other side of the mountains."

Walter enlisted in the Navy at 17 and after basic training was stationed in Pensacola, Florida. It was on the beach in Panama City that he met Annie Cairney on a blind date, it was such a blind date, that she spent a fair amount of time thinking his name was Pinto Pete, as that was his Navy nickname! On July 19, 1958 they eloped to Thomasville, Georgia and were married. After his service concluded, he brought Annie, a city girl from Glasgow, Scotland, back to the family farm. The trip from Florida to Montana became tricky when their car broke down in Childress, Texas (he said they were almost arrested for vagrancy) and had to call Walt's parents for bus ticket money, and they finished their journey on the Greyhound.

Walter often said that he did three things right in his life; he joined the navy, married Annie, and had four daughters, though he would jokingly admit that only the first two were really choices. Besides raising those four daughters, Walter and Annie worked on many ventures together. Dad worked in the smelter in Great Falls. He also worked at Augusta Schools as a custodian and bus driver. With Annie, they ran the family farm, sold plants out of their greenhouse, and owned Mel's Diner in Augusta. Mel's Diner was a hopping place in the 90s and if you didn't eat there, you likely pulled a shift making milkshakes and scooping ice cream! Walter and Annie were married for 55 years at the time of her death in 2013.

Dad loved to fish and care for his yard. He did a Sudoku every day. In his later years he kept busy with woodworking and built log beds, Adirondack chairs, and trunks. He loved a good prank, taking long drives in the mountains, and spending time with his family. He loved watching Westerns and sports and telling stories of his childhood many of which included hijinks with his nephew, Dick Cosgriffe, who was like a younger brother to him.

Walter was preceded in death by his wife Annie Patterson Cairney Lame his parents Everett and Adellia (Hildebrand) Lame as well as his siblings Everett Lame, Floyd Lame, Vera Mathison, and Julia Neckstad. Two sisters, Almira Adellia and Rose Mildred, died in childhood before Walter was born. Last but not least, his loyal cat Sadie who died a few years ago.

Walter is survived by daughters Debbie (Bill) Sporch, Tammy (Frank) Dellwo, Cindy (Nick) Gonzalez, and Lisa (Marty) Quinn and his grandchildren Beau (Melissa) Dellwo, Shayna Dellwo, Derek (Hannah) Dellwo, Nicole Gonzalez, Walter Gonzalez, Kade Quinn, and Kellan Quinn. He also had four beautiful great grandchildren Silas, Marvin, Abigail, and Oliver and many nieces and nephews. Additionally, he leaves behind his cat, whose name is Buffy but dad called her "Cat".

A service took place at the Augusta Cemetery on Saturday, August 17. A celebration of life was held at the Lame/Dellwo residence immediately following the graveside service.

Cowboy Cologne

Bryce Angell

My grandson pinched his nose as he was gagging every breath.
The poor boy acted like he might just suffocate to death.
It's so obvious when people turn their nose from horse manure.
The pungent smell is too much for their sniffer to endure.
A crusty cowboy taught me "Horse manure smells all its own."
'Cuz when we were much younger it was called cowboy cologne."
I doubt he wore Old Spice or Aqua Velva aftershave. I'm sure his horse manure cologne followed him right to the grave.
For me the smell of horse manure brings back old memories.
I can't forget the smoldering smells brought in by summer's breeze.
While on the farm we did our chores before we went to school.
We tried to keep our boots clean. 'Twas my mother's family rule.
One morning during feeding, a mare would not cooperate.
There was no time to clean my boots. The horse had made me late.
My boots were caked with horse manure from heel to tip of toe.
English was first period. I'd been better not to go.
The English room was toasty warm. I cranked a window out.
But the smell that drifted off my boots was still a bit too stout.
So, my English teacher told me, "Throw those filthy boots away."
I told him, "I don't think so, but I'll walk on out today."
My Agriculture teacher didn't mind the horse manure. But said,
"When taking English, clean your stinking boots for sure."
So, I didn't push my luck. From then I cleaned 'em till they shone.
Horse manure in English class was a no-no carved in stone.
One day my father told me "Load the truck with horse manure.
Haul it to your grandma. If she runs out, get her more."
I mulched it in the garden till grandma told me, "Time to stop."
And to this day I've never seen a finer tomato crop.
I gulped down ripe tomatoes. Didn't care how they were grown.
And no evidence or smell of the old cowboy cologne.
As long as there are horses, there'll be plenty of horse manure.
And if your nose is sensitive, start shoveling. That's the cure.

Artist Reception At Tendoy Fine Art Gallery

The Tendoy Fine Art Gallery is hosting a reception highlighting the work of Susan Jarmon on Saturday 8/31/2024 from 1-4 PM at the gallery, 35 E. Bannack Street.

Susan has explored the Great Outdoors of SW Montana and her artworks reflect the stunning beauty and vibrant energy of this place she calls home. Susan uses the medium of watercolors to loosely recreate familiar scenes, stir our imagination of the natural world, and evoke the pride and inspiration associated with being in the presence of healthy waters, vividly colorful skies and "purple mountains' majesty".

Susan offers affordable quality, Montana-made artworks, gifts for you to give to others and gifts to give yourself.

Statement on recount in Butte-Silverbow Co.

The Legislature learned that Butte-Silver Bow County has been ordered to recount the ballots cast in the June 4 primary election. As reported by The Montana Standard, there is a possibility that as many as 1,000 ballots may have been double counted. This recount could impact the outcomes of a handful of close races. The order was issued by retired Gallatin County judge Mike Salvagni, and the recount will happen Tuesday in view of the candidates and members of the public.

Given the Legislature's commitment to ensuring election integrity, Senate President Jason Ellsworth is forming a Special Select Committee to investigate the incident and determine what changes to the law may be required to prevent similar situations in future.

Bulldogs Down No. 5 Viterbo, Go 1-1 On Opening Day
 The no. 15 ranked Montana Western women's volleyball team (1-1) opened their 2024 campaign on a high note as they downed the no. 5 ranked Viterbo (Wis.) in a five-set thriller early this morning.
 The Bulldogs then struggled to get back into the groove later this evening as they lost in three straight sets to (RV) Morningside (Iowa).
How It Happened vs. No. 5 Viterbo
 The Bulldogs and the V-Hawks stayed close throughout much of the first set, with the score remaining within three points before a pair of service aces from Megan Hardman got UMW out to a 19-13 lead. The UMW firepower continued to take the set at 25-19 after combining for 12 kills on just four errors.

Excitement following the statement set one win faded as Viterbo clapped back and went on a 9-4 run to start the second frame. UMW would battle back to steal the lead at 18-17, but ultimately fell 25-22 in the end.
 UMW found themselves down 11-5 early in the third set, but showed grit as they clawed their way back into the set. Kills from Danyel Martin and Jazi Smith kicked off a 5-1 run that brought the game back within two.
 Viterbo held a tight grip on the fourth set, allowing just seven kills from the Bulldogs and took a convincing 25-13 win.
 Despite the lopsided set four loss, UMW refused to lay down and ran behind five kills from Martin to upset the no. 5 V-Hawks 17-15.

How It Happened vs. (RV) Morningside
 Despite matching the Mustangs point for point for much of the first half of the opening set, the Bulldogs struggled behind a slew of errors to fall 25-16 down the stretch.
 The Bulldogs continued to battle for footing in the second set, rallying to an 18-15 lead following a solo block from Kaitlyn Van Well. Morningside was undeterred by the three-point Bulldog lead and went on to claim momentum that would carry them to a 25-22 set two win.
 Back-to-back kills from Smith and Peyton Vogl got UMW rolling early to a 7-2 lead. Another round of UMW errors helped get the Mustangs back within three at 10-7. Riding a block from the combo of Van Well and Vogl, the Bulldogs claimed their largest lead of the game yet at 16-9. The Mustangs picked up momentum though and outscored the Bulldogs 16-9 down the stretch to finish the sweep.

Volleyball Finishes Weekend With Five-Set Win Over College of Idaho, Fall to No. 3 Eastern Oregon

Montana Western women's volleyball team closed out their opening weekend with another five-set victory, this time over the (RV) College of Idaho.

They then closed out the day with a 3-1 loss to Eastern OR.

How It Happened vs. (RV) College of Idaho

The Bulldogs turned an early 6-9 set deficit into a 17-12 lead thanks to three kills and a solo block from Peyton Vogl. Western then closed out the set up 25-17 following a 5-0 run that featured kills from Danyel Martin and Vogl paired with a block from Jaiden Perez and Vogl.

Bulldogs got Western out to a solid start in set two, but the Yotes battled their way back into it and tied. Kara Pospisil pounded down a kill to take UMW to a 12-10 lead before COI would take a 4-0 run. After battling for position for the remainder of the set, the Yotes took the final two points to win 25-23.

The Yotes pushed out to a 18-12 lead following a pair of aces to start the third frame. Despite the deficit, UMW rose to the occasion and found success. Up 22-21, the Bulldogs outscored the Yotes and closed the set up 25-23.

Finding little success in the middle of the fourth frame, the Bulldogs allowed the Yotes to run behind a 13-2 scoring run to a 21-10 lead. A kill from the arm of Dani Brown broke the streak and the Bulldogs fought back to fall 25-19 in the set.

Utilizing the late fourth set magic, the Bulldogs pushed out to a quick 7-4 lead. A pair of kills from Perez pushed the UMW lead to 11-6 and the Bulldogs were able to hang on to finish the fifth set win 15-11.

How It Happened vs. No. 3 Eastern Oregon

UMW found little rhythm in the first two sets against Eastern Oregon. The Mounties combined for a whopping 25 kills on just four errors across the first two sets to hold the Bulldogs to scores of 25-11 and 25-12.

Maxine Hoagland got the Bulldogs within striking distance in the third frame after recording a kill to bring UMW down one at 9-8. EOU continued to take shots at the Bulldog defense but the Red and Black remained tough and stayed close with the Mounties through the set. Down 22-17, Olson proved to be too much for EOU and put down four kills and recorded a pair of blocks as the Bulldogs outscored EOU 9-2 to win the set 26-24.

Third set excitement wore off as the Mounties found their rhythm once more and they went on to hold the Bulldogs to just five kills on seven errors to win the set 25-10.
