Bulldog Athletics - Aug. 26-Sept. 1

VOLLEYBALL

The no. 15 ranked Montana Western Volleyball team (5-2) enters the week following a standout weekend where the Bulldogs went 3-0 in New Orleans, La. Following an opening 3-0 sweep of Webber International (Fla.), the Bulldogs downed RV Loyola (La.) 3-1 and RV Texas Wesleyan 3-2 to close the weekend.

The Bulldogs will continue their preseason travel slate as they are heading off to Phoenix, Ariz. to compete in the OUAZ Invitational, hosted by Ottawa University Arizona. UMW will first face off with RV Embry Riddle on Friday evening at 4 p.m. to kick off the weekend. They will then take on Arizona Christian at 11 a.m., followed by the host OUAZ at 2 p.m. on Saturday to close the weekend out.

Commemorative Fair Shirts

Volleyball Wins Two In New Orleans

The no. 15 ranked Montana Western women's volleyball team kicked off the weekend at the Wolf Pack Welcome with a pair of wins against Webber International FL and RV Loyola LA. UMW recorded their first sweep of the season after they defeated Webber International in three straight sets.

They then closed out the night with a 3-1 win over Loyola by scores of 25-19, 26-28, 25-18, and 25-19.

How It Happened vs. Webber International

The Bulldogs trailed for much of the first set before riding a 5-0 scoring run to a 21-19 lead behind a pair of kills from both Jordan Olson and Danyel Martin. After a struggle down the stretch, UMW capped the set with three straight points to win.

Set two was much different than the first, with the Bulldogs forcing Webber to 13 hitting errors to run away with a 25-13 set two victory.

The Bulldogs found success in the final frame behind a season single set best of 19 kills and a .400 hitting percentage. Martin led UMW in the set with four kills as the Bulldogs finished sweep with a set three 25-20 win.

How It Happened vs. (RV) Loyola

UMW got out to a hot start as Kaitlyn Van Well put down a pair of kills to help the Bulldogs to a 12-7 lead. Martin closed the first set out with a solo block to give Western a 25-19 set win.

After falling to a four-point deficit early in the second set, kills from Jazi Smith and Jordan Olson pushed UMW on to a 5-0 run to take a lead. The two teams continued to battle for position, taking jabs until Loyola closed out the set with a 28-26 win.

Looking to bounce back after the second set, the Bulldogs raced out to a 13-7 lead and kept the Wolfpack at an arm's distance for the remainder of the set to finish up 25-18.

Jaiden Perez kicked off the final frame with a big kill to boost UMW to a 7-1 lead. Martin added to the lead with a kill and block. Loyola pushed back and cut the lead to 3, but a service ace from Hardman fueled Western for the set to win 25-19.

Bulldogs Claim Five-Set Victory Over RV Texas Wesleyan

The no. 15 ranked Montana Western women's volleyball team (5-2) claimed their third five-set win this season after they took down (RV) Texas Wesleyan this afternoon.

Jazi Smith had a monster game, leading the Bulldogs with 17 kills, 16 digs and an ace in the match.

How It Happened: Montana Western got out to an early lead in the first set following a 9-2 scoring run early in the set. Kills from Danyel Martin and Jazi Smith added to the 16-8 Bulldog lead. With UMW up 24-13, Texas Wesleyan provided a glimpse into the rest of the match after they battled for five straight points before falling in the set to the Bulldogs 25-18.

Jordan Olson got UMW back on track early in the second set and Smith served the Bulldogs to an 11-7 lead. The Rams refused to give in and tied the game back up at 15 before pushing to a 17-16 lead. A service ace for Kaylee Fritz followed by kills from Peyton Vogl and Olson gave the Bulldogs a 23-19 edge. The Rams then secured momentum and outscored UMW 7-1 to take the second set 26-24. The third set proved to be a power struggle early on. A block from Martin and Maxine Hoagland tied the third set at 18 apiece, but the Rams continued on to take the third 25-21 after the Bulldogs totaled just nine total kills in the set.

With no room for error, the Bulldogs came out on fire in the fourth frame. Three aces from the service line from Taylor Petersen fueled a massive run that put UMW out 19-6. The Rams finally were finally able to put two points together in a row but still trailed 23-11. A 5-0 run for the Rams forced a Bulldog timeout and Martin capped the game with a kill from the middle.

The fifth frame proved to be evenly matched, with neither team taking more than a two-point lead throughout the entire set. Needing extra points to finish the game, the Bulldogs gained a boost from Smith and Vogl to finish the win at 19-17.

FWP to host virtual meeting on waterfowl hunting zones, season dates Sept. 5

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks will hold a community meeting on waterfowl hunting regulations and zone management. The meeting will be held Sept. 5 at 6 p.m. on Zoom.

The event is intended to provide information about how federal frameworks influence state regulations. The meeting will also provide an opportunity for hunters to share their concerns, suggestions and ideas regarding current waterfowl hunting zones and season dates directly with agency representatives.

Topics to be discussed include current waterfowl hunting zones and their effectiveness, proposed changes to hunting seasons and zones.

To join the meeting via Zoom, go to mt-gov.zoom.us/j/85833660929?pwd=z2iAOAOsdegzI6zNcXxiceE6VAIzfq.1 and type in the passcode: 109378

Nobody talks about freedom anymore

By Roger Koopman

"The Divine Knowledge has ebbed out of us, and we do not know enough to be free."

Daniel Webster

Have you noticed? When the election season rolls around, nobody talks about freedom anymore. Sure, that word is sometimes still dropped into campaign speeches, sprinkled like salt over a bland plate of political platitudes. But freedom is never the primary subject, let alone the goal of modern political messaging. It's just a rhetorical enhancement, that leaves the scene as quickly as it arrived.

Why do you suppose that is? What does that tell us about the personal convictions and motivations of most political candidates who flash across our TV screens? What hearts beat in their chests? What passions and convictions guide their souls?

Maybe we're asking the wrong question. Yes, politicians have their own beliefs and agendas. A rare few have beliefs that run deep enough to not be shaken. But most politicians are pragmatists. Their goal is winning elections. They are mostly a reflection of the political marketplace where they sell their services. When candidates have nothing deep or important to say about freedom, that may be saying more about us than about them. The "sellers" are concluding that freedom, beyond being a quaint abstract, has no buyers. That freedom and liberty are irrelevant to us, the voters -- throw-away lines for speeches only. Not something to truly contemplate and embrace, let alone apply to today's issues.

When we lose our yearning for freedom, we lose respect for the freedom of others at the same time, and the animus and social chaos we see around us should be of no surprise. Freedom has been replaced by the secular, the superficial and the selfish. When the flame of freedom dies in our own hearts, who but we ourselves are to blame for a culture of control that now smothers free expression and free thought? Is it not the utter disrespect for the freedom of others (upon which our own freedom depends) that has brought us to a place where corporations, city governments and college campuses dictate to employees, citizens and students exactly what they cannot think, cannot hear and cannot say? Meanwhile, we signal to the politicians that freedom isn't that important anymore.

Perhaps we do this because we no longer understand the meaning of the word itself. To the extent that it is spoken, it is profoundly corrupted by the political establishment of both parties, but especially by the Democrats and the political Left. For it is the ideology of the Left that is dedicated to expanding the size, power and coercive influence of government in our lives – the extreme opposite of personal freedom. The ideology of take whatever you want from others and call it a "right."

Case in point: the Montana Democrat Party's Montana Freedom Rally, held in Bozeman the same night as the Trump event. The primary "freedom" they were promoting was something they call "reproductive freedom." Maybe I'm dense, but I can't think of a single politician who wants to stop men and women from reproducing. Last I heard, America isn't even reproducing at a replacement rate for its population. So reproduce away!

But no. The Democratic message is not about pink and blue baby booties. It's a much darker theme, painted in the color of death. They've turned the word freedom on its head, to mean the denial of human life to another human soul. It's the claim that your personal desires and demands are more important than another person's very life. Jefferson said, "the God who gave us life, gave us liberty," so the first freedom is life itself, or all our other God-given freedoms are meaningless.

Freedom requires faith in a free society and in our ability to thrive and prosper in an "unplanned" state of liberty under law. It calls for a belief in something far bigger than ourselves, and requires that we respect the freedom of others as more important than our own. The miracle of freedom is how it produces the very best in all of us, establishing a foundation for mutual respect and genuine peace, without the government spying on us and without angry elites telling us how to live.

Maybe we need to start reaching for something higher, something nobler than just asking politicians what the government can do for us today. Maybe we need to begin talking about freedom again.

A former Bozeman small businessman, Roger Koopman is president of Montana Conservative Alliance. He served four years in the Montana House of Representatives and eight years as a Montana Public Service commissioner.

"If ye love wealth better than liberty, the tranquility of servitude better than the animating contest of freedom, go home from us un peace. We ask not your counsels nor your arms. Stoop down and lick the hands that feed you. May your chains set lightly, and may posterity forget that ye were our countrymen."

Samuel Adams
