Horse Prairie Hayshakers

Hi, my name is Leneva Miller and I am the reporter for the Horse Prairie Hayshakers. Our club has been pretty busy throughout the spring and into summer.

Starting in March, each club member had to do a demonstration at our spring meetings to teach or show the club something they were interested in. I think everyone learned a lot, and it is always fun to see what everyone does! Starting in April there were a lot of horsemanship clinics, and the horsemanship members brought back reports on a lot of cool experiences. I had the chance to go to the State 4H Recreation Lab, with other members in our county, and I learned a lot about leadership, other opportunities and ideas to come back and teach other members in our club. I also met a bunch of other kids from around the state. In May, our club had applied for the 4H People's Partner Grant and had received $500 to be used towards making dog agility equipment and having speakers come for clinics. In June, we had our annual highway garbage clean up at Horse Prairie followed by a barbecue at Clark Canyon Reservoir Lake. In July, our club met at Roxy's greenhouse with Jessie Salix and we did a bee study, this was a really neat experience. August, it was super busy with clinics, the Horse Show and Working Ranch Horse Show and then fair.

The dog project kids, parents and their leader, Amber Burch, got together to make dog agility equipment, an A frame and a dog walk. On August 25th, the dog project kids got to participate in their first dog show, and showed in the areas of obedience, agility, and rally. After the show, they opened the agility course to the community members and their dogs, which was fun. All the members did great this year at the fair, and I think everyone had a great time! Our year end meeting and BBQ will be September 15th, and record books will be due.

D.V.F.D. Responds To House Fire Caused By Lightning Strike Tuesday Afternoon

Jeremy Crawford, Southwestern Montana News

Tuesday turned out to be almost as busy as the Labor Day weekend for local first responders. Dealing with multiple rollovers in the afternoon and heavy hail and rainstorms, they finished it off with a call to a house fire on Fox Ridge Drive. Around 4:30, reports came in of a house that had been struck by lightning on Fox Ridge Drive. Smoke could be seen coming from the roof of the house. The lightning strike had also caused some of the siding to be blown off the house. The fire was able to be stopped from spreading and destroying the entire house.

Applejack
Bryce Angell

Applejack surprised us when he showed one summer morn'.

We weren't aware of any appaloosa to be born.

We raised him from a colt. He was tough as a rhino's hide.

He could pack a half an elk all day and never break his stride.

He had the best of qualities; I'd say except for one.

'Cuz when you put a shoe on him that horse would come undone.

To think you would control him was a notion without hope.

He'd unravel faster than a brand new cheap five dollar rope.

Given choice of shoeing Applejack and pounding in my brain,

I'd choose nailing apple jelly to a runaway train.

The last cowboy who'd shod the horse still wore his right arm sling and looked like he'd gone fifteen with Mike Tyson in the ring.

So, when Applejack was needing shoes I hoped that he'd give in.

But when I looked into his eyes, I saw the devil's kin.

I picked up Applejack's right foot. He didn't move an inch.

I wondered if this was the time. Would this shoeing be a cinch?

But then he jerked his hoof and gave the halter rope a fling.

Applejack was madder than a rooster on caffeine.

He was blowing snot. His eyes were wide and being just plain rude.

Applejack was proving his tornado attitude.

He reared up too far backward then fell down and hit his head.

I swear I heard my brother say, "Let's hope that horse is dead!"

He wasn't dead, just plumb knocked out. I thought, "Good time to shoe." I tried to grab his leg again, then Applejack came to.

He struggled, then he stood right up and looked like he was lost.

His expression so bewildered, 'cuz both his eyes were crossed.

I picked up Applejack's hind leg and nailed a brand-new shoe.

The other three went on so fast, he didn't have a clue.

For three whole hours old Applejack just stood and stared ahead.

I'm sure he must have felt like his poor head was made of lead.

Now I'm not recommending how to shoe an ornery cuss.

But when a horse tips over, then it might just be a plus.

And if you're wondering, did the headache cure old Applejack?

It didn't help a doggone bit. That old devil came right back.

Overtaken Trailer Causes Blockage on Interchange 63 North Of Dillon

Jeremy Crawford, Southwestern Montana News

A trailer overturned on exit ramp 63 to I-15 Tuesday afternoon. The truck was pulling a gooseneck trailer getting ready to head southbound on I-15. The truck took the corner coming off the ramp too fast causing the trailer to tip over and come loose blocking the entrance onto the ramp. Montana Highway Patrol reported no injuries.

Outstanding Young People

For many years I have been a 4-H judge for leather working at the county fair. Each year I am impressed with the 4-H members. this year was no exception. As you greet each person you shake their hand, and you immediately notice their dress! White shirt, black pants and a tie. These 4-H members are polite, well spoken and very knowledgeable. they are obviously a tribute to their parents and their 4-H leaders. I would encourage parents to contact the Beaverhead County Extension Office in the courthouse to explore the many programs that are available in 4-H. This story is about the young people in 4-H!

Thank You!

Volleyball Finishes Play With Back To Back Sweeps

The Montana Western women's volleyball team finished up their preseason slate by winning a pair of matches at the OUAZ Invitational. They downed both Arizona Christian and Ottawa Univ. Arizona in straight sets.

How It Happened vs. ACU

UMW found themselves on top early in the first set following a serving run by Taylor Ketchum who served up a pair of aces to put the Bulldogs out three early on. Two kills from Jaiden Perez paired with Firestorm errors fueled a 7-1 scoring run for the Bulldogs. The Red and Black were able to go on and hold ACU to just 13 points in the set to take a 25-13 first set win.

With set two shaping out to be a close contest, the two teams battled down the stretch with neither team taking more than a four-point lead. UMW would claim the final set win 25-23 after hitting a game-high of .294 with just four hitting errors.

Taylor Petersen found success at the service line, serving up another pair of aces for the Bulldogs to give them a five-point lead. A kill from Peyton Vogl forced an ACU timeout late in the set, but the Bulldogs proved to be too much for ACU as UMW powered on to win 25-18.

How It Happened vs. OUAZ

OUAZ errors helped UMW get out to a hot start in the first set, with UMW jumping out to a quick 9-3 lead. Despite a quick 4-1 run for the Spirit mid-set, UMW was able to get back on track following three kills from Jazi Smith down the stretch to win the set 25-17.

Errors continued to prove to be OUAZ's kryptonite in the matchup, seeing the Spirit hit a team -.032 across the match and racking up 24 errors, with nine coming in the second set alone. The Bulldogs went on to win the set 25-20.

It was Smith once more who fired up UMW, knocking down three kills in a 6-1 run to open the set. Up 14-5, OUAZ found a bit of a groove and ran behind a 7-0 run to close the gap to just two points. Leading by three, the Bulldogs allowed just two points from OUAZ at the close of the set to win 25-19.
