Barrett Hospital & HealthCare Revolutionizes Cancer Care for Rural Communities with New Infusion Services in Dillon

Barrett Hospital & HealthCare proudly announces the launch of its cancer infusion services, significantly enhancing rural healthcare access for cancer patients within Dillon, Beaverhead County, and surrounding rural areas. This innovative approach to delivery of cancer services ensures that rural patients no longer need to endure extensive travel to larger cities to receive critical cancer treatments away from their homes and their support systems.

Originally envisioned as a collaborative project in 2022, with Montana State University, Bozeman Health, Barrett Hospital & HealthCare, and the American Society of Clinical Oncology (ASCO), has now culminated as a trailblazing model for rural cancer care that can be replicated throughout rural communities nationwide. This framework will bring critical cancer treatments to people in rural areas instead of residents traveling long distances to urban places of care.

"Increasing access to oncology care is our steadfast commitment at Bozeman Health Cancer Center, and we recognize this innovative and transformational partnership as another example of how we are carrying out this mission," said Bozeman Health oncologist and ASCO pilot program medical director Dr. William Conkright.

"With the introduction of our cancer infusion services, Barrett Hospital & HealthCare is addressing a crucial gap in necessary healthcare accessibility for our rural community," said Carolyn Hansen, Chief Clinical Officer at Barrett Hospital & HealthCare. "We are committed to providing high-quality, compassionate care in Dillon that is equivalent to the care anyone would receive at a larger cancer center in Bozeman, Billings, or out of state. Our new cancer care services will allow patients to receive critical therapies close to home, surrounded by the support of their local community and loved ones, which contributes to better health outcomes."

Cancer care accessibility has long been a challenge in rural Montana. According to ASCO, rural regions across the nation, including Montana, face significant disparities in cancer care access. Limited local services often mean that rural patients are forced to travel long distances to urban centers, adding to the physical and emotional burdens of cancer treatment.

"Traveling to larger cities for cancer treatment is not only exhausting but can also be a financial burden for many families," said Taylor Rose, Chief Executive Officer of Barrett Hospital & HealthCare. "By bringing these treatments to Dillon and surrounding communities, we are removing barriers to essential care and supporting our community in a profound way. This initiative reflects our mission to improve lives by providing local healthcare."

Barrett Hospital & HealthCare emphasizes patient-

Bulldogs Tripped Up in Ashland by Southern Oregon

The no. 4 ranked Montana Western Football (3-1) suffered their first loss of the season in a road matchup against the no. 14 ranked Southern Oregon Raiders.

Despite racking up 438 yards on offense, the Bulldogs struggled on third and fourth down, going two of 12 on third downs and two of four on fourth down attempts.

"Our guys played hard today. SOU has a really good team and we missed several scoring opportunities on the goal line and a few stops on defense that disabled us from pulling it off in the end," Head Coach Ryan Nourse said. "I am proud with the effort and fight and we will get back after it and improve in the areas we fell short."

Fritz Breaks Montana Western Career Ace Record in Win Over RV Rocky Mountain

The no. 13 ranked Montana Western women's volleyball team (10-4, 2-2) got back on track this evening after they defeated the RV Rocky Mountain College (9-7, 1-3) in a 3-1 matchup 25-21, 24-26, 27-25, 25-16.

"This was a great all-around team win tonight. The defense did awesome expanding their range and being confident in serve receive. Our setters did a great job spreading the ball around on offense and our offense did a great job being aggressive and smart," Head Coach Katie Lovett said. "They worked hard this week on playing together and that is exactly what they did tonight against a strong Rocky team".

Senior setter Kaylee Fritz served up two aces in the match, marking her place in the UMW record books as she broke the career service ace record that was previously held by Paige Latimer (2011-14).

"Our offense really stepped up and we picked up a lot of balls on defense. We went into the game trying to work together and do it for each other and we did a great job at that," Fritz said after the win.

How It Happened

Rocky Mountain got a jump early in the first set, claiming a 10-7 lead to start. Jordan Olson tied the game up at 11 for the Bulldogs after she knocked down a kill and recorded a block on back-to-back points. After a service ace put Rocky up by a point, UMW rattled off five straight points to take a four-point lead. The Bulldogs would hang on to the lead to win the set 25-21.

Fighting for ground through the second set, the Bulldogs led 21-17 heading into the final stretches of the set. Rocky found momentum and went on a tear, holding the Bulldogs scoreless for five straight points to reclaim the lead at 22-21. Olson broke the streak and Kaitlyn Van Well added to the score to help the Bulldogs to a 24-22 lead. Rocky Mountain did not lay down though as they found a spark blocking at the net to take the final four points and win 26-24.

Down 9-4 in the third frame, Kelsey Goddard served the Bulldogs to three straight points as Peyton Vogl added a kill and a block to close the gap to two points. After trading points down the stretch, the two teams remained deadlocked at 23 all. A service error from Rocky along with a kill from Olson ended the set at 27-25 in favor of the Bulldogs.

Despite a rough start for UMW that saw Rocky go on a 6-2 scoring run, Jazi Smith gave the Bulldogs some life after knocking down a kill. Tied at 10 all, Smith went on a tear and had three straight kills to push UMW over the hump. They went on to close the final set out on top 25-16.

Notables

- The Bulldogs hit their best hitting percentage of conference play so far with a .209 team percentage.
- Smith totaled a season high 17 kills while also adding 21 digs in the back row.
- Fritz and Taylor Petersen combined for a total of 49 assists in the four-set match, enough for a combined 12.25 assists per set.
- Olson added 12 kills and a pair of blocks.
- Vogl totaled five blocks in the game while also hitting for 10 kills.
- Jaiden Perez had a season high 10 kills in the game.

Immunization Clinic

Kudos and thank you to the pharmacy team at Safeway for the "parking lot flu (and Covid 19) shot clinic." The community was provided this very nice service on September 26. A drive-up and get vaccinated deal by showing your private insurance or Medicare card.

I'm sure this was very much appreciated by all who took advantage of the clinic.
