Daryl Cooper

April 27, 1953 — October 19, 2024

Daryl Cooper, born on April 27, 1953, passed away on October 19, 2024, in Dillon, MT. Known for his outgoing, loving, and caring nature, Daryl adored his family and had a profound affection for his many dogs, horses, and other animals.

Daryl's life was marked by a dedication to ranch and farm work, and he ventured into private business focusing on agricultural applications. He also proudly served as an airtanker co-pilot for Arrow Union, a role that combined his love for flying and his commitment to service.

An avid outdoorsman, Daryl enjoyed hunting, fishing, camping, and attending aircraft shows and rodeos. He cherished the moments spent at concerts and with close friends and family. A quintessential scene for Daryl was watching football on a Sunday afternoon, with cowboy boots on, Wrangler jeans fitted, and his loyal dogs by his side.

Survived by his siblings Sheri Cooper Lien, Randy Cooper, Lynn Cooper, Jackie Lowe, and Kenneth Cooper, Daryl's legacy continues through his children, Raylene Rider, Caitlin Cooper, BJ Cooper, and Leroy Cooper. He was preceded in death by his parents, Raymond and Aliene Cooper, and his grandparents, Fon and Freda, among other family members.

Services for Daryl are pending.

Single Vehicle Rollover On Highway 91 North*Jeremy Crawford, Southwestern Montana News*

On Thursday morning, first responders were dispatched to the scene of a one-vehicle rollover at the intersection of Schuler Lane and Highway 91 North, resulting in traffic being diverted in the area.

According to reports, a side-by-side UTV was traveling northbound on Highway 91 when the driver lost control of the vehicle. The UTV rolled onto its side and skidded approximately 20 yards before coming to a stop in the northbound lane of the highway.

Fortunately, no major injuries were reported in the incident. The vehicle was subsequently towed from the scene.

Tracking The 1.1 Million In Funds Secured For Beaverhead County Law EnforcementJeremy Crawford, Southwestern Montana News*

We recently published an article on a John Tester ad that many Sheriffs across Montana called fake and wanted to know where the money was. We reached out to the Tester campaign and received this message:

Thank you for reaching out about the funds that Senator Tester has secured for law enforcement in Beaverhead County and across Montana in recent years. I noticed that you published your article before reaching out to the campaign for information. Is there any reason for that?

Happy to provide you the backup so that you can update your article to reflect that Senator Tester did secure federal funding for the law enforcement agencies mentioned in the article.

Senator Tester has worked hard to secure federal funding for law enforcement across Montana, and has personally pushed for grants and funding that have supported rural first responders in our state. Here is our spreadsheet with the break down of the law enforcement funding for Beaverhead County and the other counties mentioned in your article:

• Jon Tester has recently secured funding for county law enforcement in the rural counties mentioned in our ads, including through grants, task forces, and PILT.

1. The federal funding Sen. Tester helped secure is through a variety of grants to fund needs like hiring new police officers, funding new equipment like bulletproof vests, and task forces to tackle drug trafficking.

1. Beaverhead County received $1.1 million for new body cameras for police, victim assistance, and resources to address violence against women.

2. In Broadwater County, you will see $255K from the COPS Hiring Program and the bulletproof vests program.

3. Park County received grants for hiring new police officers, new bulletproof vests, and additional PILT funds.

4. Dawson County received US Department of Justice Office of Justice Programs funding, Operation Stonegarden grant funding, and PILT funds.

5. Roosevelt County received $1.8 million in federal funding

1. comprised of U.S. Department of Justice Coordinated Tribal Assistance Solicitation, Operation Stonegarden Grant funding, Bureau of Justice Assistance funding, Department of Justice funding for canine units to help crack down on drug trafficking, and PILT funds.
2. In nearly all counties there are also multi-jurisdictional drug task forces funded in large part by the federal government, which Sen. Tester fought to fund.

However, further examination reveals discrepancies between the ad's claims and the actual sources of the funding. While Tester's campaign cites federal funding as a primary source, critics point out that some funds, such as Payments in Lieu of Taxes (PILT), fall under the administrative authority of the Department of the Interior, not the senator. This raises questions about the misrepresentation of Tester's influence over these funds in the campaign ads. According to information from the Department of the Interior, PILT payments are calculated based on factors such as population and federal land within affected counties and have distributed nearly $12 billion since their inception.

When we asked Harry about this his response was as follows:
Hey Jeremy,

Thanks for the note back. If you look at the spreadsheet from my original email - linked again here - you'll find a funding breakdown for the $1.1 million secured by Senator Tester for Beaverhead County law enforcement from several different grants and bills.

Some of the federal funding for other counties is from PILT payments, which must be reauthorized by Congress or they do not get appropriated. Sen. Tester has championed PILT funding over the years; this year, Sen. Tester voted to reauthorize PILT payments in March. He was the only member of Montana's delegation to do so.

As you can see from the press release issued at the time, a large slice of that is intended to fund law enforcement & emergency services (and does!)

The bottom line is that Sen. Tester has worked really hard to secure this funding, and there are a lot of public resources that show his long-standing effort, year after year, to bring these dollars to Montana. The newspaper ads are an honest representation of that work.

Thank you, and if you could let me know about updating the article that would be great.

Best, Harry

The breakdown of the $1.1 million funding claim shows that $24,000 for body cameras was allocated to the City of Dillon through the American Rescue Plan Act, with an additional $9,669 for remote backup related to those cameras. Furthermore, the grants cited in the ad appear to have gone to various local organizations rather than directly to the Beaverhead County Sheriff's Office.

Organizations such as the Women's Resource Center received multiple grants totaling $427,863, the Beaverhead County Attorney's Office obtained two grants totaling $162,713, and the Community Support Center received five grants amounting to $496,819 from the Montana Board of Crime Control. Some of these fundings and grants go as far back as 2019.

While it's undeniable that these funds are crucial for community resources, the distinction between the allocations directed to local law enforcement and those granted to other organizations is significant. Critics argue that the ad's portrayal of Tester's contributions does not accurately reflect the flow of funding to the Beaverhead County Sheriff's Office, particularly in the context of the current budget shortfalls the Sheriff is facing.

As the Sheriff's office seeks voter approval for a levy aimed at addressing these financial challenges, the discrepancies highlighted in the advertisement only serve to amplify frustrations among local law enforcement. Many see the ad as misleading, suggesting that the funding directly supports deputies and essential services when, in fact, a large portion is allocated to other entities.

No. 15 Bulldogs Fall in Three to No. 14 Providence

The no. 15 ranked Montana Western volleyball team (18-7, 8-4) broke their five-game win streak tonight after they fell 3-0 to the no. 14 ranked University of Providence (20-6, 9-3).

The Bulldogs struggled behind a .096 team hitting percentage, their lowest mark since losing to Carroll College back on Sept. 20.

How It Happened: The Bulldogs played tight with the Argos from the start of the first set and went on to take a 17-15 lead following a solo block from Peyton Vogl. The Bulldogs were unable to keep out in front though as the Argos came alive to outscore Western down the stretch and win 25-19.

The Argos kept the momentum heading into the second set, riding a 5-0 start and taking a 10-5 lead mid-set. Jazi Smith broke through the hot Argo start, knocking down a kill for UMW to spark a 5-0 run and tie the game at 11. Once again, the Bulldogs led at 19-18 late in the set, but Providence closed up shop by outscoring UMW 7-3 to win 25-22.

With hopes of keeping the game alive, the Bulldogs fought their way to a 19-15 lead in the third set. The Argos answered by recording three perfectly timed blocks to shut down the hopes of a fourth set for the Bulldogs and win the final set 25-22.

Notables

- Western is now 4-6 with the Argos in their last 10 matchups and has an away record with the Argos of 6-23 in the series that began in 2001.
- The Bulldogs were led by Smith with 12 kills and a pair of aces.
- Danyel Martin totaled four blocks and six kills.
- Kelsey Goddard led with 17 digs in the back row.

Up Next: Montana Western will regroup and return to the Straugh Gymnasium to take on MSU-Northern on Saturday Nov. 2 at 2 p.m.

THANK YOU

I want to thank all my Friends that came to see me while I am in the hospital. Especially a big thank you to all my friends in Wisdom for their card and donation. Miss all of those who couldn't make it here to visit.

Bulldog Volleyball Continues to Move Up In NAIA Top 25 to No. 15

The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) has announced the results of the NAIA Volleyball Coaches Top 25 Poll No. 5. Montana Western Volleyball remained in the top 25, moving up two spots to the no. 15 spot.

This week's poll features three Frontier teams in the top 25 with one Frontier team knocking at the door with receiving votes nationally.

The no. 17 ranked Montana Western Volleyball team (18-6, 8-3) continued their hot streak, pushing out to a five-game win streak after last week. UMW first won a five-set battle against RV Carroll College. Senior Kelsey Goddard broke the UMW career digs record in the match, a record previously held by Bulldog alumni Dylan Fowler. She totaled 26 digs in the game, putting her at a career total of 2,098.

They then went on to win their third straight five-set game with a 3-2 reverse sweep over the Rocky Mountain College Battlin' Bears (12-15, 2-9) to cap the weekend. Saturday's five-set win marks their ninth five-set win this season, going 9-0 in games that have gone the full five frames.

With just four conference games remaining in the regular season, the Bulldogs will be on the road to face the no. 13 ranked Providence in Great Falls, Mont. on Oct. 30 at 7 p.m. They will then return on Nov. 2 for a home matchup with MSU-Northern on Nov. 2 at 2 p.m.

"Putting Compassion into Action: Understanding ACEs"
