PUBLIC NOTICE

The Beaverhead County Road Department Will be closing the Pioneer Mountains Scenic Byway and the Lemhi Pass from December 2, 2024 to May 15, 2025.

Respect for landowners can continue even after hunting season wraps up

With less than a week to go before the final day of the general season, hunters can help ensure the future of public access for generations to come. During these final days, remember "It's Up to Us. Respect access. Protect the hunt."
This is a message from FWP and partners to encourage hunters to always practice conscientious behavior and show respect for private land and the access landowners provide.

There are five actions hunters can take to show respect for landowners to ensure the hunting tradition continues:

- Plan ahead for access
- Respect private property
- Practice safe hunting behavior
- Turn in poachers – visit tipmont.mt.gov
- Gratitude goes a long way

Hunters can also show their commitment to developing and maintaining good relationships with landowners by going through the the Hunter-Landowner Stewardship Program.
Through the online program, hunters learn more about safety, access programs and tools, personal responsibility and special considerations for hunting on private land. Those who complete the program and take the multiple-choice test by Feb.
15, 2025, will have the opportunity to win a pair of Leupold binoculars, donated by Capital Sports in Helena.

Hunters are also encouraged to participate in the #ItsUpToUsChallengeFWP on Instagram. Follow @
MontanaFWP on Instagram and post a photo demonstrating
"It's Up to Us" hunting behavior. Use the hashtags
#ItsUpToUs, #ProtectTheHunt, #RespectAccess and #ItsUpToUsChallengeFWP. You could win an "It's up to us"
T-shirt.

For more information on hunting ethics, working with landowners and to link to all the partners involved, go to fwp.mt.gov/ItsUpToUs.

Bookstore Featuring Butte author on Shop Small Saturday

Debbie Sorenson author of Beyond the Jumpshot will be signing copies of her book at The Bookstore during shop small Saturday November 30th starting at 1:00 pm.

Have you ever heard the name Kenny Sailors? Didn't the jump shot always exist in basketball? When Kenny Sailors was born in 1921, his dad didn't want another mouth to feed. Ed Sailors left the family. Kenny and his brother were raised by a single mother on a starvation operation farm in Wyoming. With faith in God and grit, the family preserved and overcame. If the boys had any free time on the farm, they played ball in the dirt corral in front of a wooden windmill. To score against his bigger brother, Kenny used his ingenuity, and speed, to jump and shoot. His jump shot helped him to succeed on the hardwood and propelled him into basketball leadership; in high school, college, and eventually pro ball. After leaving the pros, Kenny and his wife made their way to the interior of Alaska, where he taught high school and volunteered to coach basketball in the town of Glennallen. While in Alaska, Kenny developed the girls' basketball program in the public school system of that state. Basketball continued to be a springboard for Kenny to encourage many folks, especially young people until he died in 2016. Even if you are not a basketball fan you will enjoy this book.

Beyond the Jump Shot is a story of basketball and life that will elevate and inspire you to believe, and try something different. If you have any questions or would like to reserve a copy call The Bookstore at 683-6807

Veteran News Updates: By Mike Lawson

The Marines Toys For Tots, Campaigns are getting in full swing all across America. Our Butte Campaign, which covers Butte, Dillon, Twin Bridges & Ruby Valley, Whitehall, Harrison and Cardwell, has been busy getting the Toy and Donation boxes out to the many generous businesses who want to be drop-off sites for folks to make toy and money donations. I'm always overwhelmed at the generosity of folks giving for the less fortunate children. We'll start processing applications this week and as December kicks off, it'll get real busy. Action Ink is taking and processing the applications for Butte. Les Schwab in Dillon has the applications and will take them when they're filled out. For Twin Bridges & Ruby Valley call Jordan Pettigrew: 406-596-9999, for Whitehall/Harrison/Cardwell call Deb Jacobson: 406-580-6899 and for Butte call Coordinator Mike Lawson: 406-560-3591 or Assistant Coordinator Shirlee Boitnott: 406-560-5056. We don't want to see any child in need, left without presents at Christmas.

An update on the DAV Van situation for our Butte, Anaconda and Dillon areas: I did have to turn down a veteran from a rural area that needed a ride. I didn't have enough drivers available for that day. A bit of good news is we did get a new driver for Dillon who can start in December. That will help the lone driver who has been driving there. If we could get one or two more there, that would be great. We had a guy fill out and turn in a driver application from Butte. It'll have to be processed and approved before he can get a physical, etc.. Hoping that will happen soon. We still need another one or two drivers here and really need a couple more from Anaconda. It's very disheartening when we have to turn a Veteran in need of a ride away because of not having a driver available. If you think it's something you would consider doing, please give me a call. Mike Lawson: 406-560-3591

Some good news is that it's reported that Veteran homelessness has reached a record low, decreasing by 7.5% since 2023. The VA has been aggressively working to get homeless veterans off the street and into housing and training programs to help them make permanent life changes and to become productive members of society. This is encouraging to say the least.

Time to wrap this up with my wish for you all to have a great Thanksgiving. My wife and I will be traveling, on Thanksgiving Day, to Salt Lake to spend a few days with some of our family members. We are hoping for decent weather.

Until next time, take care.

Mountain lion population monitoring planned for eastern Pioneer Mountains and Highland Mountains

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks biologists and experienced houndsmen will be conducting field work this winter in the Eastern Pioneers and Highland Mountains south of Anaconda and Butte to help estimate the number and density of mountain lions in the area. The work is part of a statewide research strategy to monitor and manage Montana's lion populations.

The research is scheduled to run from December 2 through mid-April 2025, and is part of FWP's mountain lion monitoring and management strategy adopted in 2019, using genetic samples to make periodic population estimates of lions in different management ecoregions of the state.

FWP is in its sixth year of this new population monitoring strategy, and this year's work will be the second of two estimates conducted in the southwest lion ecoregion, focused in southwestern Montana.

To collect data, FWP biologists and local houndsmen use trained dogs to track, tree and dart mountain lions to take DNA samples that will be combined with other information to help biologists estimate lion numbers. In an effort to improve population models, FWP will also put collars on 10 individual lions this winter as part of the genetic-based monitoring project.

Hunter harvest data, including DNA from lion management units 211, 213, 214, 215, 270, 302, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 331, 340, and 350 will also be collected this winter. Hunter-harvested lions taken from one of these areas will have genetic samples taken when the lion is checked in by FWP.

Over time, FWP will be able to use these population estimates, along with more than 25 years of field research data and annual harvest information to guide lion management decisions. This new monitoring program will improve Montana's ability to understand the effects of lion harvest and help biologists manage lion numbers at levels that maintain viable populations and remain in balance with other wildlife species and various public interests.

For more information, contact FWP field research lead, Ashley Hodge at ashley.hodge@mt.gov.
