Join the Women's Resource Center on Giving Tuesday to Support Survivors

This Giving Tuesday, December 3, the Women's Resource Center (WRC) will host a resource table at Safeway in Dillon, MT, from 10:00 am to 6:00 pm. Stop by to learn about WRC's free, confidential services for survivors of domestic and sexual violence, and to support critical emergency shelter services in Beaverhead and Madison Counties.

As a special thank-you, all donors on Giving Tuesday will be entered into a drawing to win a handcrafted quilt made by local artisan Kathleen Martinell.

Since July 1, 2024, the WRC has provided over 900 nights of emergency shelter to women and children in Southwest Montana. As the only safe shelter in the region, WRC serves clients referred by law enforcement, medical professionals and mental health providers. Services include safe shelter, safety planning, crisis counseling, and access to essential resources such as food, clothing and referrals to community partners.

This Giving Tuesday, we'll also be hosting a Winter Coat Drive to benefit the Busby K-12 School on the Northern Cheyenne Reservation. We encourage the community to donate new or gently used children's coats, hats, and gloves to help keep kids warm this winter.

The WRC's Main Office is located at 236 E. Reeder in Dillon and operates Monday through Friday, 9:00 am to 5:00 pm. Support is also available 24/7 through the National Domestic Violence Hotline at 1-800-799-7233 and the National Sexual Violence Hotline at 1-800-656-4673.

For more information about WRC's programs, volunteer opportunities, or donation needs, visit www.wrcmt.org or call (406) 683-6106.

Congratulations

By: MJ

I read in the Dillonite that Mr. Parke Scott retired from the Search and Rescue organization. I would like to congratulate Parke and say a few words.

I have served with Parke on committees over the years for the betterment of community and county's future. Parke started with Search and Rescue when it was a fledgling. He was part of growing the organization to the point it is today. He was a member that involved himself throughout the community and learned what the county would require of Search and Rescue in the future.

It was not easy to serve on some of the committees. The private sector always had to work with elected officials, state and federal representatives and had limited representation at the table. Never enough personnel to be able to make a decision that would be upheld.

Looking back several of the ideas Parke worked on and presented to the local elected officials would have been an economical support for Dillon & Beaverhead County today. He was a strong member of a group of 100± that wrote a Resource Use Plan in book form for the county. This book was adopted by the commissioners and is being used by those officials today to support and help provide for a future of Beaverhead County.

Thank you, Parke, for your service and love for your community.

River Recreation Advisory Council offers recommendations to address increase in river use FWP seeking public comment

After a three-day workshop in October and a follow-up meeting earlier this month, the River Recreation Advisory Council (RRAC) submitted recommendations to Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks for managing river recreation and administering the use of water-related activities.

With an increase in river recreationists, user conflicts and access-point congestion have become more frequent. The council members, who were selected by FWP Director Dustin Temple, were tasked with addressing these challenges by developing a set of recommendations for managing river recreation.

The council recommends that FWP develop a statewide river recreation management plan to reflect the current situation. This would include incorporating existing rules, the River Recreation Management Planning Manual, and current river management plans; providing guidance on how to manage rivers; devising a data collection framework; identifying river use and types; and hiring additional personnel to meet management needs.

The council also developed a set of questions that would help FWP decide if a particular river or stretch of river needs to go through a full-scale planning process. These questions would identify the type and severity of an issue, determine if enough data is available or still needs to be collected, and whether the river or stretch of river has ever been reviewed for recreational conditions and concerns. Depending on the answers to these types of questions, FWP would decide if a recommendation should be offered to the Fish and Wildlife Commission to initiate the planning process.

An opportunity for public comment will be open until Dec. 23. To review the recommendations and to comment, go to fwp.mt.gov/aboutfwp/commission-councils-committees/river-recreation-advisory-council.

3 suspects charged in 2023 poaching case

Three people were charged this month in Broadwater County courts following an almost year-long investigation by game wardens into several animals killed in 2023.

The investigation began with a tip to Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks from a concerned citizen. During the investigation, FWP game wardens uncovered evidence indicating three elk and three deer were killed unlawfully on public and private land in Broadwater County. This led to three people facing a mix of felony and misdemeanor charges.

All three individuals have made initial appearances in court and pleaded not guilty to the charges. Every person accused of a crime is presumed to be innocent until and until his or her guilt is established beyond a reasonable doubt.

Montana Highway Patrol, the Broadwater County Sheriff's Office, and the Lewis & Clark County Sheriff's Office assisted in the investigation.

No further details about the investigation are available at this time.

Montana game wardens rely heavily on tips from the public. Anyone with information about crimes against wildlife or state lands is encouraged to visit tipmont.mt.gov to provide details. You may be eligible for a cash reward of up to $1,000.

No. 19 Bulldog Volleyball Punches Ticket to Sioux City in Opening Round Win

The no. 19 ranked Montana Western women's volleyball team (22-10) came back from a first set defeat to take down Oregon Tech 3-1.

"The team played really good tonight. We knew Oregon Tech was going to be a really tough opponent and they really showed that in full force today as their blocking was phenomenal," Head Coach Katie Lovett. "They have some really great athletes on that team."

The Bulldogs made history as they won their first ever home NAIA Opening Round playoff game, a year after they won their first ever NAIA playoff game.

"It was just a really exciting thing for our team to be really determined. We knew we wanted to get back to Sioux City and in the second set they really showed that determination and after that we just felt that momentum swinging our way," Lovett continued.

How It Happened: Jordan Olson got the Bulldogs off to a strong start, slamming down four kills to put UMW out 9-7 early in the first set. The Owls battled back and took a 4-0 run to a 16-13 lead. They would continue to put pressure on the Bulldogs as they closed the set on a 9-2 scoring run to win 25-17.

Oregon Tech continued to show their strength, taking a 10-4 lead in the early part of the second set. Jazi Smith broke the OIT run with a big swing to close the gap to five points, but the Owls continued to utilize the big swing from outside hitter Molly Grace to keep UMW chasing. Down 21-12, Smith knocked down a kill that sparked Western on an epic 13-2 scoring run to close the set on top 26-24.

Western utilized the momentum gained in the second set to start off the third frame hot. Kelsey Goddard served up an ace to give the Bulldogs a 13-5 lead early in the set. The Owls refused to give up though, fighting to close the gap within one late in the set at 23-22. Despite the late magic, Montana Western was able to gain a point on an error and close the set behind a kill from Smith at 25-23.

Montana Western combined for 10 kills in the fourth frame as they battled across the set with the Owls. Despite trailing 19-15 late in the set, the Bulldogs were able to tie it up following a solo block from Peyton Vogl. Tied at 23 all, UMW would get a point from Vogl once more and capture the win on the next point to win 25-23.

Bulldogs Push Past Mounties, Hand EOU First Loss of Season

The Montana Western men's basketball team (6-2) handed Eastern Oregon University their first loss of the season this afternoon in a 74-65 win for the Bulldogs.

The Bulldog men were led by Jalyn Stepney who racked up 26 points off of a 9-13 performance from the field.

How It Happened: After matching each other point for point across the start of the first half, it was the Bulldogs who took the first edge after triple from Stepney. Stepney would drain another shortly after to take a five-point lead halfway through the first half.

EOU's Malachi Afework brought the Mounties back within two following a jumper in the paint, but Stepney would drain another triple to continue to drive the Bulldogs forward. Alan Kane capped the quarter with a three-pointer to send UMW up at the half by eight.

The Mounties were the first to take an edge at the start of the second half, tying the game back up at 42 all with a fastbreak layup from Trent Rogers. UMW's Kane broke the stalemate and pushed Western forward on an 8-0 scoring run that gave them the edge for the remainder of the game. They held on to win the game 74-65.

Notables

- Western combined to shoot for 51.1 percent in the game from the field while also holding EOU scoreless from the three-point line.
- The Bulldog men shot 56 percent across the first half while knocking down a combined six threes to hold a 38-30 lead at the half.
- Four Bulldogs hit double digits in scoring with Stepney leading the way with 26 points.
- Kyle Gruhler impressed with nine rebounds while also adding 13 points on the night.
