Bulldog Volleyball Adds Five With 2025 Recruiting Class

Montana Western Volleyball welcomed five signees in its 2025 signing class, the program announced Tuesday afternoon.

"We are so excited about this group of five freshmen joining the Bulldog program. All of them bring different and unique qualities to the team both athletically and with their personality," Head Coach Katie Lovett said.

This year's recruiting class includes two student-athletes from Idaho, one from Nevada, one from Montana, and one from California.

Antonia Duncan | Pin/Middle | 5'11" | Spanish Springs HS / Sparks, Nev.

Antonia is a pin and middle blocker who joins the Bulldogs as a 2025 graduate from Spanish Springs High School in Sparks, Nevada. During her career for the Cougars, Duncan earned a regional championship and a league championship in 2023. She ended up fifth in school history for all-time blocks in a season with 45 and fifth in single game hitting percentage with a .727. She earned All-State Academic honors throughout her varsity career. She also competed for the Tstreet Sierra Nevada club volleyball team where her team earned a national bid in the American Division. "Nia is a dynamic offensive player who can play pretty much anywhere in the front row. Nia has a high ceiling, and we are looking forward to seeing where she excels within this program," Lovett said. Duncan is the daughter of Mark and Tione Duncan and plans to major in Kinesiology while at Montana Western.

Jayda Ward | Setter | 5'5" | Highland High School / Pocatello, Idaho

Jayda is a setter who joins the Bulldogs as a 2025 graduate of Highland High School in Pocatello, Idaho. Ward was a two-time varsity athlete for the Rams. She earned second Nora Dominick | Middle/Pin | 6'1" | Shields Valley High School / Wilsall, Mont.

She was a four-year varsity volleyball player who averaged 18 kills, 15 digs, 3 aces and a block per game her senior season as her team took third place at Divisionals. She earned All-State honors her senior season and all-conference honors in 2022. Dominick also competed in basketball and track while at Shields Valley while earning seven academic All-State selections, is her class valedictorian, and is ranked first in her class. She competed for the Empire Volleyball Club in Belgrade, Mont. And was voted Big Sky Most Improved Player in 2023. "Nora's strength and heavy swing are fun to watch and hard to stop. We are excited about Nora's growth and to see how her play evolves at this next level," Lovett said. Dominick is the daughter of Dale and Spencer Dominick and plans to major in mathematics at Montana Western.

"Graduating five seniors who played an integral role in the growth of our program left us with some spots to fill, but we feel really confident not only with this group coming in, but with the returners as well," Lovett continued.

The Bulldogs are coming off a historic season highlighted by a stunning upset at the NAIA Women's Volleyball National Championship, where the no. 16-seeded squad knocked off top-seeded and previously undefeated Northwestern (Iowa) during pool play.

The team finished the year with an impressive 25-10 overall record, competing in 21 matches against opponents that were either nationally ranked or receiving votes.

Ready for the 250th birthday of the United States Army?

Tyrades! by Danny Tyree

No, I won't make it to the Grand Military Parade in Washington, D.C. on June 14, but...... I'll definitely be poring over my late father's Army memorabilia, including the mimeographed bulletin from October 7, 1946 when the young draftee was appointed as a temporary Tech Fifth Grade in the 368th station hospital at Fort Gulick in the Panama Canal Zone.Yes, the United States Army is celebrating its 250th birthday on June 14, and I am proud that so many of my forefathers served their country in that branch, the oldest and largest of the six armed forces. (Being the oldest and largest, it must constantly resist the urge to ask the others, "Why do you keep hitting yourself? Why do you keep hitting yourself?")

At least one direct ancestor served during the Revolutionary War. At least two fought in the War of 1812. True, two great-great grandfathers fought against the U.S. Army during the War Between the States; but I'm sticking to the story that hallucinogenic goober peas had something to do with the squabble.Technically, the U.S. Army was created in 1784, but the service considers itself a continuation of the Continental Army. (I think the Continental Army was the one that served pastries and fruit instead of chipped beef on toast.)Unfortunately, day-to-day appreciation of the Army has waxed and waned with periods of war and peace. And the creation of the all-volunteer military renders the Army "out of sight, out of mind" for all but the affected families. But the Army is still (rightfully) deeply ingrained in the American consciousness.Song lyrics such as the World War I-era "You're in the army now/You're not behind a plow" and Irving Berlin's 1942 "This is the army, Mr. Jones/No private rooms or telephones..." softened enlistees' lovehate relationship with the military. Sgt. Barry Sadler's "The Ballad of the Green Berets" (1966) upped the ante on duty, honor and sacrifice.

Hollywood has lampooned the military mindset with TV shows such as "Sgt. Bilko" and "M*A*S*H," as well as films including "At War With the Army" (Martin and Lewis) and "No Time For Sergeants" (Andy Griffith). George C. Scott's Oscar-winning portrayal of General George S. Patton delivered a more somber examination of combat.

And we mustn't forget Abbott and Costello in 1941's "Buck Privates." Sure, in light of recent controversial military policies, it would be renamed "Surgically Removed Privates" if produced today; but I got a kick out of Bud and Lou, anyway.

As far as the comics are concerned, Snoopy regularly paid tribute to editorial cartoonist Bill Mauldin, creator of the bedraggled infantry troopers Willie and Joe. "Beetle Bailey" has been in the Army since 1951. "Sad Sack" comic books proliferated like rabbits in the Sixties and Seventies. Sgt. Rock and Sgt. Fury are important parts of the history of DC Comics and Marvel Comics, respectively.

And who could forget those soul-stirring Army recruitment messages, like the recently-revived Eighties "Be all you can be" campaign?

Or James Montgomery Flagg's iconic 1917 poster featuring Uncle Sam insisting, "I want YOU for U.S. Army." (I understand it was more effective than 1976's poster of Peter Frampton insisting, "I want youuuu to show me the way...")

I know I've been irreverent enough to warrant latrine duty, but God bless the U.S. Army for playing a part in protecting that precious freedom!
