Attorney General Knudsen visits Anaconda 48 hours after four people were killed in shooting

Montana Attorney General Austin Knudsen received a briefing and updated the public today in Anaconda regarding the Friday shooting and ongoing search for the suspect.

On Friday around 10:30 a.m., 45-year-old Michael Brown walked into The Owl Bar and opened fire killing four people before fleeing the scene. Brown remains at large. Attorney General Knudsen visited the incident command center for a briefing and to show his support and thank the dozens of local, state, and federal law enforcement officers for their efforts as they continue to search for the suspect.

During the Attorney General's update to the community following his briefing he identified the four victims who were killed in Friday's shootings as 59-year-old Daniel Edwin Ballie, 64-year-old Nancy Lauretta Kelly, 70-year-old David Allen Leach, and 74-year-old Tony Wayne Palm. All four were residents of Anaconda.

Anaconda Deer Lodge Police Chief Bill Sather, Montana Division of Criminal Investigation Administrator Lee Johnson, Montana Highway Patrol Colonel Kurt Sager, Deer Lodge County Attorney Morgan Smith, and Acting Assistant Special Agent in Charge Michael Montoya with the FBI also joined Attorney General Knudsen at the press conference.

The U.S Marshals Service is offering a reward of $7,500 for any information that leads to the arrest or capture of Michael Brown. Citizens are encouraged to call 1-877-926-8332 to report a tip.

Multiple Agencies Respond To Roe Fire Near Clark Canyon Reservoir

Jeremy Crawford, Southwestern Montana News

On the evening of August 3rd, a wildfire erupted near Clark Canyon Reservoir, prompting a large-scale response from multiple emergency agencies. The Lima Volunteer Fire Department, Grasshopper Valley Volunteer Fire Department, EMS Montana DNRC, Dillon Volunteer Fire Department, and the Beaverhead County Sheriff's Office all responded to the scene.

The fire initially started around 10 p.m., quickly drawing a significant response. Over 15 engines and tenders were mobilized to contain the blaze. Thanks to the coordinated effort of these agencies, the Roe Fire was brought under control by approximately 3 a.m., covering an estimated 360 acres.

Authorities have not yet disclosed the cause of the fire, but the swift and collaborative response prevented more extensive damage. The agencies remain on alert for any additional flare-ups or new fire starts in the area.

This incident highlights the importance of inter-agency cooperation in managing wildfires and protecting local communities and natural resources.

Fifteenth Annual Cemetery Walk

The fifteenth annual Cemetery Walk presented by the Beaver Head Hunters Genealogical Society will be Saturday, August 9th at 2:00 pm. This year the theme is restaurateurs. Come learn about four members of the community who used to have eating establishments: Fern Wheeler, Ned C. "Skeets" Murray, Luanna Lyons, and Harriet Estes. Whether you ate at their place or not, you will be "fed" with information! The presenters this year will be Darlene Hildreth, Ruth Little, Bette Hull, and Michele Stephen-Hassard.

You are encouraged to bring a chair, water, and shade of some sort (umbrella, hat, etc.). Watch for the little red flags to show you where to start. See you there!

Hoot-owl fishing restrictions to take effect Saturday on Blackfoot River

Hoot-owl restrictions will take effect Saturday, Aug. 2, on the entire mainstem of the Blackfoot River – from the headwaters at the confluence of Anaconda Creek and Beartrap Creek to the confluence with Clark Fork River.

Hoot-owl restrictions prohibit fishing from 2 p.m. to midnight each day. These restrictions will stay in effect until conditions improve.

FWP's Statewide Fisheries Management Plan and the Blackfoot Drought Response Plan call for angling restrictions when flows drop below critical levels for fish, when water quality is diminished or when maximum daily water temperatures reach at least 71 degrees for three consecutive days. Water temperatures of 77 degrees or more can be lethal to trout.

These restrictions are designed to protect fish that become more susceptible to disease and mortality when water temperatures warm. Restricting angling to only cool morning hours can help reduce catch-and-release mortality.

Catch-and-release anglers can reduce stress on fish by getting them to the net or in hand quickly, keeping them in the water and reviving them prior to releasing them back into the river.

Along with monitoring stream temperatures, FWP also monitors stream flows and in some streams holds instream flow water rights. FWP's water program can issue a call on junior water users, when appropriate, to contribute to stream flows through the late summer and early fall.

If high temperatures and extremely low flows persist, anglers may want to consider fishing areas with less stressful temperatures and conditions, such as larger lakes or reservoirs or higher elevation waterbodies.

BLM approves limited access for carbon sequestration test well in response to public input

In direct response to public feedback, the Bureau of Land Management Montana/Dakotas has approved a limited portion of the proposed Snowy River Carbon Sequestration Project application in Carter County, Montana, authorizing only access to a two-track access route and a portion of Lone Tree Road to a single stratigraphic test well site located on State of Montana land. The BLM is not approving a right-of-way for any other surface infrastructure or pore space with this decision.

This limited approval will allow project proponent Denbury Carbon Solutions, LLC, to collect additional geologic and hydrologic data before any further development on federally managed lands is considered. The decision reflects the BLM's commitment to a science-based approach and meaningful public engagement.

"We've heard the public's concerns, and we're acting on them," said BLM Montana/Dakotas State Director Sonya Germann. "This decision allows for critical data gathering without advancing the full project at this time. It's a step that ensures transparency and continued dialogue."

Denbury's full right-of-way application, submitted in 2021, proposes a 30-year carbon sequestration project involving up to 15 EPA Class VI injection wells (12 on BLM-managed land, 3 on State land), 500 acres of surface disturbance, roads, pipelines, pump stations, and use of 100,200 acres of federally managed pore space. The company estimates the project could inject up to 150 million tonnes of CO₂ over 20 years.

BLM will consider next steps on the broader application only after reviewing the Environmental Protection Agency's evaluation of data collected from the test well and updated planning guidance pending the Record of Decision for the Montana Greater Sage-Grouse Plan Amendment.

More information is available on the project's ePlanning site: <https://eplanning.blm.gov/eplanning-ui/project/2026556/510>.
