Home School Notification
Process in Beaverhead County

As Beaverhead County's public schools move toward the first day of school, those parents who wish to home school their children are also preparing for the new school year. Parents must notify the County Superintendent of Schools (Mike Miller) that their child is (or children are) being homeschooled.

The mandatory information parents need to provide the Superintendent's office is (1) a written notice of the intent to home school and (2) the "Notification of Opportunity to Participate in Federally-funded Program" Form. These forms are available at the Superintendent's office, on the County's website, or may be requested through an email or phone call at 406.683.3737. The Superintendent's email address is mmiller@beaverheadcountymt.gov. These forms take approximately 5-6 minutes to fill out and can be completed right in the office.

Parents must file these documents as soon as possible, but certainly before 1 October 2025.

Among the books I mean to get around to reading is Neil Ansell's "The Edge of Silence: In Search of the Disappearing Sounds of Nature."

Although Ansell's book focuses on his gradual hearing loss and his globetrotting quest to experience endangered species in the wild, I suspect we can find applications closer to home.

Just as sprawling city lights have rendered most of us incapable of doing the sort of stargazing our ancestors took for granted ("I think I see part of Orion's Belt...it's getting closer...wait, did the Greeks have any myths about Orion delivering packages for Amazon?"), an unrelenting barrage of ambulance sirens, beeping car horns, diesel engines and jackhammers separates us from the once-familiar sounds of nature.

Granted, you can have too much of a good thing. Even Mother Nature has been known to reach her limit with roosters crowing, donkeys braying and bobcats growling. ("I'm cranking up the 'white noise' machine. The bra comes off next! Avert your eyes, Father Time.")

We spend so much precious time in our homes, in our vehicles and in noisy shopping/entertainment venues, we don't get to hear the chirping of birds, the rustling of leaves or the babbling of brooks. ("Who needs babbling brooks? I've got babbling podcasters!")

Even if we're outdoors, we are bombarded by squealing tires, souped-up lawn equipment or the music filtering through our wireless earbuds. (Yes, the closest some of us come to wildlife reverberations is listening to the Beach Boys "Pet Sounds" album at 95 decibels.)

There's something soul-satisfying about the simple life. I had way too much fun after dark last night carrying out the garbage and hearing the tree frogs serenading me from their perch. Most of us could benefit from more hiking, camping, birdwatching or petting-zoo visiting.

Unfortunately, we face a double whammy. Even if we finally seize the opportunity to get "up close and personal" with nature, we have damaged our eardrums to the point that we don't get the richest listening experience. ("Hold it, hon. There's a piece of lint on your shoulder. Let me fire up the leaf blower!")

Promise me you'll (a) seek out out the wonders of nature and (b) practice proactive hearing conservation.

My late mother (bless her heart) serves as a cautionary tale here. Her hearing was terrible for the last several years of her life (as in couldn't hear a Whoopie Cushion factory explode next door).

Mom was in denial about the profound problem, refused to visit an audiologist and expressed a perverse pride about using bobby pins to dislodge her ear wax.

Hearing aids were verboten, but I was finally able to communicate with her without shouting so much when I purchased a less expensive set of headphones.

Towards the end of her life, I asked if she used the headphones when my softspoken brother made his daily visit.

When she answered in the negative, I inquired, "Well, how do you carry on a conversation?"

"Oh, I already know what he's going to say and he already knows what I'm going to say, so we just make do."

Come to think of it, maybe that's why y'all aren't encountering enough of nature's creatures. Because I went out into the woods and screamed and screamed...

A Reminder of the Past - by Bette Hull

The Bagley School 1905 building with 1913 addition

The front of the Bagley School Building, that was built in 1905, faces Sebree Street

The 1905 and 1913 structures became known as "The Training School" because the Normal School teachers taught there under the direction of Dr Grant Finch, director of teacher training from 1909 to 1922. In later years the buildings came to be known as the Bagley School for Dr. William Chandler Bagley. The Bagley Building had national consequences in the field of education. Dr. Bagley developed a theory of child education, which he published as Educational Process. The Bagley Building, was designed to accommodate Dr. Bagley's theory of education, featuring large classrooms which could accommodate two simultaneous learning centers.

Why I Chose to Run for Mayor and What Happened

Jeremy Crawford

I want to take a moment to explain what happened when I decided to put my hat in the ring for mayor of Dillon. Over the past month, several events have taken place that have led me to share my side of the story.

For years, many people asked me to run for mayor, but I lived on Schuler Lane—just a few hundred yards outside the city limits. When we moved into Dillon, I updated my voter registration and driver's license address online. I was asked again if I would consider running for mayor. After taking a weekend to think it over, I decided to go ahead and do it. I love this town—my hometown—and I truly believed my ideas could benefit Dillon. I also thought bringing a younger set of eyes into city government could make a positive difference.

I visited the courthouse and filled out the application. At no point did it state that I had to be a resident for two years immediately prior to the election. I paid my filing fee and left. Just five minutes after leaving, I received a phone call informing me that my voter registration reflected my old address on Schuler Lane. I explained that I had updated it online and I now live within the city limits. I was asked to come back and fill out the registration form in person. I did so, and no other concerns were raised at that time.

A few days later, the official list of candidates was released. Around that time, I was warned by a city employee that someone had overheard another employee stating they didn't want me as mayor. I brushed this off. Later, while working on my campaign ad, another city employee told me I needed to read the city charter.

One week later, I received a call informing me that I was not eligible to run for office because I supposedly did not meet the requirements. This was just a day after I published an article publicly questioning the licensing of Beaverhead Meats and their alleged unlicensed killfloor.

When I asked Stacy why I was allowed to file and why I was later disqualified, she told me she was not present during the time I dropped off my filing and that my filings would be used as training. I was never told I could appeal the decision; I was simply informed that the decision was final. She sent me a check for my filing fee.

I've written to the Secretary of State to understand how I can challenge this, since the law does not specify that a candidate must have lived in the city for two years immediately before the election. I have yet to receive a response. I am also aware that I could pursue legal action to be on the ballot, but I don't believe that would happen in a timely manner.

I feel it's important for the public to understand why I was ultimately disqualified from running for mayor—the timing of events and the lack of clear communication from our election officials. I was only trying to do my part for the community and was willing to step into a position that many feel no one else wants, but everyone believes they can do.

Veteran's Corner Update #321
 By Mike Lawson

Veteran News Updates:

- The National Marine Corps League Convention will be taking place this week, when this News Weekly is distributed. This year it'll be near the Ft. Worth/Dallas airport at the Hyatt Regency Hotel. I'll be there from Tuesday to Friday, meeting old and new friends. It's always a great learning experience and fun as well. This year being the Marines 250th birthday, will see some celebrating going on in one form or another. I did get plane tickets from Butte this year, so I'm glad I don't have to go to Bozeman, which is cheaper. I'll have more to say next week about this trip.
- Many of us who served in Vietnam are acutely aware of that killer that keeps on killing and has caused many Vietnam Veterans to have severe disabilities. The name of that killer is Agent Orange, that was sprayed all over Vietnam to kill foliage. Most Viet Nam Veterans are in their 70s and 80s. Three medical conditions are now being considered to be added to the existing conditions that are already considered to be caused by exposure to Agent Orange. They are bladder cancer, hypothyroidism and Parkinson's-like symptoms. There are about 1 million Vietnam Veterans enrolled in the VA health system. The data collected for one year is saying that 5,484 of these Veterans have been diagnosed with bladder cancer, 15,983 suffer from hypothyroidism and 1,833 have Parkinson's-like symptoms. If any of you Vietnam Vets have any of these, please get to a VA Medical facility and get treatment. You might also file a claim for benefits.
- Recently in our neighboring city of Anaconda, Montana, a Veteran shot and killed four people. His relatives said he had mental problems like PTSD. It was a tragic killing of four people and to do something like this indicates mental issues for sure. They said they tried to get help for him at our State Hospital in Warm Springs and at our VA Hospital at Fort Harrison. If he had tried at Fort Harrison he would have been seen. I have taken a number of people to the Behavioral Health there. The problem is, the individual has to agree to be treated, go to appointments, etc. If he/she doesn't agree to make or keep the appointments, it's in that individuals ball court. People are quick to blame the VA or other mental health agencies when a tragedy such as this happens. The truth of the matter is that when someone is known to exhibit behavior that could harm someone, they need to be reported to the police and mental health authorities. Those folks have the authority to investigate and possibly get a court order to commit them for treatment or even put them in a lock down facility for their protection and for the protection of the community. Four Anaconda citizens were murdered and this very well could have been prevented. Enough said.
