Elsie Ann (Rebich) Nelson October 29, 1935 ~ September 11, 2025

Elsie Ann Rebich Nelson, a devoted wife, mother and grandmother, passed away on September 11, 2025 in Missoula MT. In her final days she was comforted by family and passed with them by her side.

Elsie was born on October 29, 1935 in Dillon MT, to parents John H. Rebich and Mary E Rebich. She spent her early years on the family ranch where she developed a life long passion for the ranching way of life. She loved taking care of the animals and particularly the horses. She had a favorite horse, Patch, that she would gallop down the lane to pick up the daily mail. One day a boy from town, Gene Nelson, accompanied his mother on the motor mail route. Gene loved to tell the story of how he watched a little girl on a big black horse ride up the lane to greet them. Years later Gene would ask that same girl to the high school dance.

Elsie graduated from Beaverhead High School and furthered her education with a degree in Business Administration from the University of Montana. She began a teaching career in the Spokane WA school district.

Elsie married her high school sweetheart Ernest "Gene" Nelson on June 13, 1959 in Dillon MT. The newly married couple then began their married life in Alaska. In following Gene's career, the Nelson family lived in Alaska, California, Nevada and eventually settled in Missoula MT to raise their family.

She had a lifelong interest in horses and continued to develop her horsemanship with breeding and training quarter horses, western pleasure showings and halter led showings. In her 60's, she took cow cutting lessons with her horse Twist. She spent many enjoyable hours at her "horse farm" outside of Missoula MT.

Elsie was a quiet artist, painting and crafting for her own enjoyment. She worked with acrylics and watercolors. She designed and sewed her own clothes. She tried all different forms of crafts. Elsie was a cub scout den mother, a classroom parent, and a great cheerleader for her children's involvement in sports and activities. She truly enjoyed hosting family holiday gatherings and dinners. Often the dinner table, set with her fine china, would take up the entire front room and dining room.

Elsie said her greatest achievement in life was her family. She was so proud of and dearly loved her children,

Man Found Dead After Vehicle Discovered in Water Near Wisdom

Jeremy Crawford, Southwestern Montana News

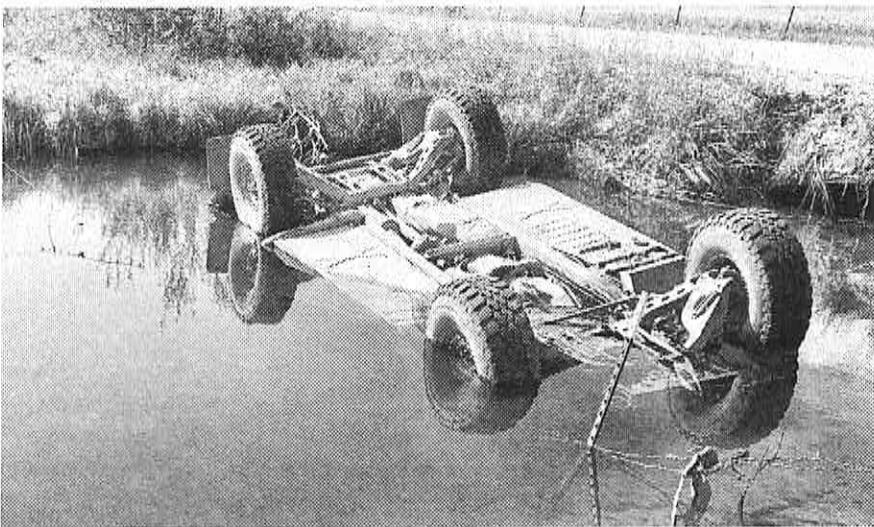

A 44-year-old Wisdom man was found deceased Sunday morning after authorities located his vehicle overturned in the water along Lower North Fork Road outside of Wisdom, according to the Beaverhead County Sheriff's Office.

Deputies responded around 10:37 a.m. after receiving a report of a vehicle upside down in the water with only its tires visible. When a deputy arrived on scene, it appeared the driver's side door had been forced open, suggesting someone may have attempted to escape.

The search initially focused on locating the vehicle's registered owner at his home and workplace, but when he was not found, attention returned to the submerged vehicle. Sheriff Wendt entered the water with chest waders, secured by a rope, and was able to pry open the passenger door. Inside, he discovered the body of the missing man.

Investigators determined the man had been seen the previous night and had likely been in the vehicle overnight. His identity has not yet been released, pending notification of out-of-state family members.

The Montana Highway Patrol is leading the crash investigation. Authorities said alcohol is suspected to be a factor in the incident.

Letter to the Editor

I never imagined I would be a politician's wife—and I'm still learning what that really means. When my husband announced his run for the state House of Representatives, our world shifted overnight. Excitement and pride were mixed with fear and uncertainty. Secretly, I almost hoped he wouldn't win—it would have been easier to stay out of the spotlight. But he did, and our lives changed in ways I never could have predicted. My children have learned more about politics and the foundations of our state and country, and they've seen firsthand their role as citizens. I've watched them ask thoughtful questions, discuss issues with neighbors, and even speak up in their classrooms—moments that remind me how much good comes from civic engagement.

I have learned more about politics as well. I have my own views, but I am more comfortable keeping them to myself and helping quietly through acts of service. Even writing this letter is uncomfortable, but it feels important to speak up. Public service is not just about debate and elections—it's about communities, families, and the responsibility we all share to act with integrity and compassion.

Life would be simpler if my husband focused on our family and his work, keeping his convictions to himself and staying out of the chaos. But that is not who he is, and it is not what he does. His dedication comes at a personal cost, and life in the public eye brings both rewards and challenges. Some days the scrutiny is exhausting, and some nights I lie awake worrying about protecting our children from its harshness. But there are also moments of pride, when our family's small acts—kind words, volunteering, respectful engagement—make a difference and inspire others.

I am continually surprised by how strangers have treated our family because of his public service. People call my husband names online. They comment on pictures of our family, sometimes targeting me and our children with cruel words, harassment, and even threats. It is frightening, and it is unacceptable. No one should live in fear for expressing their convictions or being part of a family in the public eye. Politics naturally sparks strong feelings. People care deeply about issues and leaders shaping our communities. But name-calling, threats, and violence do not advance a cause—they only cause harm.

As Theodore Roosevelt said, "It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena." My husband may not always be perfect, but he strives to do what he believes is right. That is something we should all aspire to.

If we model respect and decency, even in small ways, we can inspire the next generation to stand strong, act kindly, and shape a better society.

As part of the day's activities, military helicopters are scheduled to land around noon on the south end of campus in the tailgating/parking area.

This will be an exciting opportunity to see aircraft land on campus, but it also requires some important safety measures:

The south tailgating/parking lot and the adjacent parking lot near the BARC will be closed during the event.

These areas must remain clear to provide safe landing space and to account for rotor wash from the helicopters as they land and take off throughout the afternoon.

To ensure public safety, it is critical that all observers stay clear of these areas on October 8.

We appreciate your cooperation in keeping these spaces clear and safe for this special event. For more information, please contact the Montana Youth Challenge Academy at 406-960-4424.

My dog Jake has been diagnosed with allergies to everything except VENISON, BEEF LIVER and RICE. Beef liver can cause copper poisoning in dogs. Rice is ok as a supplement but it can contribute to inflammation for dogs with allergies. With this very unusual diagnosis I am struggling to keep my dog alive. If you have any venison in your freezer that you don't want I sure could use it. I will pick it up. Call me - Catherine Cain 406-498-6198
