Legendary Anglers and Authors

Join us at Patagonia Dillon for a rare evening with legendary anglers and authors Yvon Chouinard and Craig Mathews, as they unveil their new book Pheasant Tail Simplicity: Recipes and Techniques for Successful Fly Fishing, through a moderated conversation with Brayn Gregson.

This event is a chance to talk story and hear adventures from decades on the water, guided by two voices who continue to bring fly fishing back to its essence—where skill, knowledge, and technique matter far more than gear.

Large predator relocation notification law

When Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks relocates a large predator it is required to communicate this to local and tribal governments under a new law that went into effect Oct. 1.

In anticipation of this law, earlier this summer FWP began informing county sheriffs, county commissioners and tribal governments within the county or tribal government boundaries where a large predator is relocated.

The new law requires that notification take place within 24 hours of the capture of a large predator if it will be relocated into a county or tribal government boundary other than the one it was captured in.

"Communication with local governments is critical in ensuring a broad understanding of what we do for wildlife management," said FWP Director Christy Clark. "We welcomed this new law and met its requirement well before it took effect."

In Montana, large predators are mountain lions, wolves and bears. FWP doesn't relocate mountain lions or wolves but commonly relocates bears – both black and grizzly.

For years, FWP has published bear relocations on its website. This summer, it launched a dashboard with black and grizzly bear relocations. This tool is in addition to directly notifying local governments.

For more information on bear relocations, go online to the FWP website

Commerce Allocates Grant Funding to 6 Coal-Impacted Communities

The Montana Department of Commerce announced that more than $1.8 million in grant funding has been awarded to six Montana communities to support vital public safety and development projects in coal-impacted areas. The funding was allocated to these communities by the Montana Coal Board.

"Commerce is proud to support the people who live in Montana's coal country. In the last five years, more than $14 million of Coal Board grant funding has been awarded to seven counties, eight school districts, seven cities or towns and one tribe," said Montana Department of Commerce Director Marta Bertoglio.

The following communities and projects will receive Coal Board funding:

- The City of Colstrip will receive $120,000 for a cemetery paving project.
- Forsyth Public Schools will receive $247,096 for upgrades and repairs of the school heating system.
- Musselshell County will receive $250,000 for the purchase of a road grader.
- Pryor Public Schools will receive $500,000 for a school building improvement project.
- The City of Roundup will receive $500,000 for wastewater system improvements.
- Treasure County will receive $250,000 for the purchase of a road grader.

The Montana Coal Board awards Coal Board Impact Grants to counties, communities, school districts, tribal governments, or other governmental units to assist them in adequately providing governmental services or facilities that are needed as a direct consequence of an increase or decrease in coal development, or in the consumption of coal by a coal-using energy complex.

Be bear aware this fall

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks has wrapped up September's Bear Aware Month, but the need to be vigilant in bear country persists this fall.

Grizzly bear activity in September was high in many places in the state. This is normal this time of year as bear activity increases as they look to put on weight for the winter hibernation. This coincides with increased human activity as hunters take to the field.

Wildlife managers don't expect to see activity slow as fall persists. Fall hunting also picks up with waterfowl season opening Oct. 4 and pheasant and antelope rifle seasons Oct. 11. With more hunters in the field, it's important to remember to be bear aware.

For hunters specifically, the FWP website is a great resource for how to be safe in bear country.

Be bear aware

Montana is bear country. People should be prepared to encounter grizzly or black bears. Avoiding conflicts with bears is easier than dealing with conflicts. Here are some precautions to help avoid negative bear encounters:

- Pack meat out as soon as possible.

- Avoid cutting up carcasses at dusk or night. If you kill an animal at dusk, be prepared to cut up the carcass in the dark by carrying strong headlamps. Be extra vigilant and watch for bears.
- Properly hang meat until you can retrieve your downed game.
- If you must leave your animal, return to the site carefully. Leave it in an area that is easily observable from a distance.
- Drag gut piles into open areas, if possible, and at least 100 yards from your carcass as soon as possible.
- If a bear has claimed your animal, do not attempt to haze or frighten the bear away. Report any lost game to FWP.
- Bird hunters should be extra careful while walking in and along areas of brush, especially along waterways. Grizzly bears use thick cover for day beds. Walk with the wind, carry bear spray and keep a close eye on hunting dogs. If there is abundant fresh sign of grizzly bears in the area, consider bird hunting somewhere else.

Town Pump Matching Donation 2025
 Town Pump has graciously offered to match up to $20,000 in monetary donations to the Food Pantry! The event has begun and will run through November 30th.
 The Beaverhead Community Food Pantry cannot thank the community enough for the support we receive every year!

Bicentennial Inc. 2025 Grant Cycle to Support Senior Services in Beaverhead & Madison Counties

Bicentennial Inc. has officially opened its 2025 grant cycle to support programs and services that improve the lives of senior citizens in Beaverhead County and the Ruby Valley of Madison County. Applications have been mailed to past grant recipients, and new applicants are encouraged to apply before the deadline of October 31, 2025.

From 2022 through 2024, Bicentennial Inc. distributed more than $640,000 in grant funding to organizations serving local communities.

"Supporting senior citizens has always been at the heart of our mission," said Fred Morganthaler, spokesperson for Bicentennial Inc. "Through these grants, we are able to continue investing in programs that make a meaningful difference in the lives of seniors throughout Beaverhead County and the Ruby Valley."

Bicentennial Inc. was formed following the 2022 sale of Bicentennial Apartments Inc. The apartments were originally established in 1976 as a community collaboration to provide safe, affordable housing for seniors in Dillon, Montana. The building was constructed on the site once known as the "cabbage patch" on West Center Street and for decades served as subsidized housing for countless local residents.

When the Board of Directors made the difficult decision to sell the property, proceeds from the sale were used to establish Bicentennial Inc. as a foundation dedicated to continuing this legacy of service.

Grant recipients for the 2025 cycle will be announced at the Bicentennial Inc. annual banquet on December 5, 2025. Representatives of recipient organizations must be present at the banquet to receive their awards.

For more information about the grant process, please contact: Fred Morganthaler, Vice President

My dog Jake has been diagnosed with allergies to everything except VENISON, BEEF LIVER and RICE. Beef liver can cause copper poisoning in dogs. Rice is ok as a supplement but it can contribute to inflammation for dogs with allergies. With this very unusual diagnosis I am struggling to keep my dog alive.

If you have any venison in your freezer that you don't want I sure could use it. I will pick it up. Call me - Catherine Cain 406-498-6198
