Kyle Rausch - Football - 1996–2000

A standout on the football field and a Bulldog through and through, Kyle Rausch played for Montana Western from 1996 to 2000. Known for his versatility and grit, he made his mark as both a defensive back and return specialist. He earned Second Team All-American honors at defensive back, an Honorable Mention All-American nod, and was twice named First Team All-Conference—once as a cornerback and once as a punt returner. interceptions, pass deflections, and punt return average, capping off his career as a key player on both sides of the ball and on special teams.

A Frenchtown native, Kyle graduated from Montana Western in 2003 with a degree in Health and Physical Education, and later earned his master's in Teacher Leadership from Grand Canyon University. He returned home to Frenchtown, where he has spent the past two decades teaching K-5 physical education in the school district and coached football for 12 years—including the 2009 season that ended with a state championship.

Kyle's on-the-field highlights are many—leading the conference in stats, earning Defensive Player of the Week honors, and sealing big wins—but what stands out most to him is the camaraderie. He'll never forget the chance to play alongside both of his brothers and having his parents in the stands at every game. And then there's the legendary moment when teammate Craig LeCoure accidentally ran over Kyle's dad during a spring scrimmage—something that has never been forgotten!

Kyle is married to Raquel, and together they have a family of five. Over the years, he has loved supporting his kids in all their sports and activities.

Jack Filcher - Track - 1968

Jack Filcher, a 1968 Montana Western graduate, was a true standout athlete who left his mark in both track and football. On the track, Jack dominated—he was a conference champion all four years, set a conference record in the triple jump, and qualified for nationals. In football, he was a First Team All-Conference defensive back in 1966 and helped lead his team to a conference championship that same year, scoring over 20 points in the title game. He also played a key role on Western's undefeated mile relay team.

Jack's athletic success wasn't just about wins—it was about versatility. At the NAIA District 5 Championship in Idaho, he racked up 27 points while competing in the long jump, triple jump, high jump, 400 meters, and the mile relay. He trained under coaches Casey Keltz (football/track) and Cecil Kent (track) and competed alongside teammates Fred Snook, Ed Ferris, Dick Ferris, Jim Clairmont, Carl Henderson, Wayne McEwen, and Ken Walt.

After graduation, Jack carried his love of sports and competition into education and coaching. He spent five years teaching in Entiat, Washington, where his track teams won conference championships every year. Back in Montana, he became a head coach in football and track, winning a conference championship in football by his third year. For the past 25 years, he has been a cornerstone in Stevensville, Montana, coaching football, basketball, track, and golf. His golf teams even finished second in the state three years in a row.

Outside of sports, Jack and his wife, Cecelia, have raised two daughters, Tonia Omlid and Kara Brown. His legacy as an athlete and coach continues to inspire the Bulldog community.

in 2003 that earned her Frontier Co-Coach of the Year honors. She coached numerous athletes who went on to their own Hall of Fame careers, always emphasizing hard work, toughness, and pride in being a Bulldog.

Reflecting on her career, Jenny says her time as both an athlete and coach at Western shaped her life in countless ways:

"Nothing is too small for you. Whether it's a work study job, practice, or a game—whatever you do, give your best. No one has success without hard work."

Jenny is married to Jesse Peterson, a former Montana Western rodeo athlete. Together, they have two sons: Justus, who played football at Montana Tech, and Jace.

2002 Montana Western Volleyball Team

The University of Montana Western is proud to induct the 2002 Bulldog Volleyball Team into the Athletics Hall of Fame. More than two decades ago, this team carved its place in school history with one of the most successful seasons ever recorded. The Lady Bulldogs finished with a 25-13 overall record and captured a share of the Frontier Conference regular season championship with a 12-2 mark. Their outstanding play carried them to the NAIA Region I Tournament, where they stood among the region's elite programs.

Guided by head coach Jenny Peterson, the Bulldogs were celebrated for their grit, teamwork, and relentless energy on the court. Seniors Katie Stokes, Kasey Smith, Amy Smith, Emily Smith, Annawyn Ballou, and Kristi Chidester anchored the lineup and provided the leadership that helped shape the program's growth. Stokes had a standout season, earning Conference MVP, First Team All-Conference, All-Region honors, and NAIA All-American Honorable Mention. Emily and Kasey both earned Second Team All-Conference and All-Region recognition, highlighting the depth of talent among the veteran players.

Katherine Sunwall also made an immediate impact, being named Frontier Conference Freshman of the Year after leading the league in blocks. With this mix of veteran leadership and emerging talent, the Bulldogs achieved a remarkable balance of toughness, skill, and team unity that powered them through one of the most memorable seasons in program history.

Today, the 2002 Lady Bulldogs are remembered not only for their championship banner and postseason run, but also for the lasting legacy they left behind — one that continues to inspire Montana Western volleyball.

Veteran's Corner Update #329
 By Mike Lawson
 Veteran News Updates:
 • Our DAV Drivers, Local DAV Area Coordinators, and DAV Hospital Transportation Coordinators work together to get our Veterans to their VA Medical appointments at either a VA medical facility or a Care in the Community facility. When at times we can't get a Veteran to his/her appointment, because we don't have enough Drivers, our LACs and HTC's try and coordinate with other entities like the Veteran's Transportation Service, etc., to get them to where they need to go. It's a challenge at times as some of these Veterans are hanging on to life by a thread and medical treatment is crucial. We need more Volunteer DAV Drivers. If any of you could drive once or twice a week call one of our HTC's, either at Fort Harrison- 406-513-9022, or Billings VA -406-373-3857, or myself at 406-560-3591. It's a worthy cause and rewarding in helping veterans live healthier lives.
 • Having a healthy mind is the gate to having a healthy/happy life. "Over time, unhealthy drug or alcohol use can cause changes in your brain, creating an overwhelming urge to keep using—even when it threatens your life or harms your physical and mental health". Recovery is possible for everyone. The VA offers evidence-based treatments for Substance use disorder which is a mental health condition. If you or someone you care about is suffering from this, check at your local VA medical center or clinic. Treatment referral services are also available at Vet Centers.
 • No matter which political side, each of us are on, the government shut-down will have an impact on most people, in one way or another. For the VA and Veteran benefits, due to advance appropriations, championed by all our Veteran Organizations, the majority of the VA's core services are protected, for now: VA Health Care will continue. Compensation and Pension Benefits will continue. Cemetery Services will continue as necessary. Key Call Centers will remain open. Some services will cease: Veteran Readiness and Employment. Education Call Center. Transition Assistance Programs. Some Cemetery Operations. For more information on the VA's contingency plan during the government shutdown, check out: <https://department.va.gov/contingency-planning/human-capital-contingency-plan/>

Pheasant hunting season to open October 11

Pheasant season opens on Saturday, Oct. 11, and FWP is busy with a second round of pheasant releases at several sites across the state.

This fall, Montana Fish Wildlife & Parks will release nearly 18,000 birds on wildlife management areas, fishing access sites and some school trust lands around the state. FWP released birds at several sites prior to the youth pheasant and waterfowl weekend. This week, FWP will release almost 2,000 pheasants at sites across the state.

This is the fourth year of the annual pheasant release program. In 2022, the Fish and Wildlife Commission approved the release of up to 50,000 pheasants annually on FWP WMAs through 2026. In 2021, the Legislature authorized spending up to $1 million each year for the program.

The purpose of the pheasant release program is to give new hunters an opportunity to experience hunting success, encouraging their future participation in conservation around the state. In Montana, like other states, fish and wildlife conservation is funded primarily through license dollars. Hunting and fishing are an active way to support wildlife management, habitat protection and conservation efforts.

To see a map of the release sites, go to fwp.mt.gov/hunt/roosters-for-recruitment. For more information on hunting pheasants and other upland game birds, go to fwp.mt.gov/hunt/regulations/upland-game-bird. As hunters head into the field, they should keep bear safety in mind and remember the potential for fire danger.

Section of Big Hole River reopens to fishing

Due to improved flows, the angling closure on Section 2 of the Big Hole River, from the North Fork of the Big Hole River to Dickie Bridge, is immediately lifted. That is the only section of the Big Hole River open to fishing. The existing closure upstream of the North Fork remains in place as well as the spawning closures downstream of Dickie Bridge that took effect Oct. 1. Annual fishing closures began Oct. 1 for sections of the Big Hole, Ruby and Beaverhead rivers to protect trout during spawning seasons.
