Jed C. Fitch

December 3, 1973 ~ November 6, 2025

Jed C. Fitch, 51, didn't just live life. He charged through it with a grin, a story, and a "let's go" attitude that pulled everyone else along for the ride. He loved his family fiercely and collected friends everywhere he went. Jed lived loud, full-throttle, and was unapologetically himself, always doing things in his own Jed C. Fitch way...all the way to the end.

Jed died as he lived - fighting for every breath and stubbornly squeezing every last drop out of the life he loved. And he finally lost the fight on Thursday, November 6, 2025, at 10:03 pm. He was at home on the Fitch Family Ranch, held close by those who loved him dearly: Amanda, Phin, Darby, Brad (Flamm), and his mom, Jeannie.

Jed was born on a snowy December 3, 1973, after his parents, Buck and Jeannie, navigated the old White Bird Hill's icy switchbacks to Grangeville. Two and a half years later, his sister Julie joined the family, and the chaos, joy, and lifelong memories began.

Jed talked a lot about living. One of his favorite lines was from Lonesome Dove: "It ain't dying I'm talking about, it's living." And live he did - big, hard, without hesitation, and with a restless drive to do.

He learned early that work could be fun, thanks to his dad, and how to move across a dance floor with his mom. Jed spent his life wearing more hats than most people do in three lifetimes: dad, husband, Marine, lawyer, logger, hay handler, sheep herder, basketball referee, handyman, builder, driver, poker player, skier, rafter, hiker, motorcycle rider, off-tune singer, Jaycee, gate-puller at the rodeo, helper at military funerals, and undoubtedly a lot of roles that have never made it onto paper.

A scholar as much as an adventurer, Jed graduated Valedictorian from Salmon River High School and earned appointments to both West Point and the U.S. Coast Guard Academy. He chose the Coast Guard, and when glasses kept him from becoming a helicopter pilot, he returned to Idaho and graduated cum laude from the College of Idaho (Go Yotes) in 1996. He went on to earn his law degree from the University of Montana (Go Griz) in 1999, was admitted to the Montana Bar the same year, and joined the Marine Corps in 2001. He was at Officer Candidate School in Quantico when 9/11 happened, and with absolute conviction, Jed was ready to defend the country he loved. He earned his commission as a Second Lieutenant, rose to Captain in 2004 at Camp Pendleton, and then served in

Dillon, MT Since 1991

Al-Qa'im, Iraq, as Battalion Judge Advocate.

When he returned stateside, Jed practiced law in Helena, Butte, and Great Falls, Montana, later serving as Deputy County Attorney in Miles City before becoming Beaverhead County Attorney in Dillon.

It was in Dillon that Jed met Amanda Flamm in 2008, and life got even a little louder than it already was. They hiked, camped, skied, and chased live music every chance they could. Weekend getaways and long drives with no destination became commonplace, as did heading to the mountains to cut firewood to stock up for the long, cold winters of Dillon that they loved.

And then came Phineas and Darby, folding right into their rhythm: sports, school events, rodeos, ski trips, music, family time, and whatever other adventure was on the docket. The place they called home was filled with the friends who became their extended family. They took road trips, made time for those they loved, navigated all the twists and turns ahead of them, and built a life stitched together with miles, moments, and memories.

Their life together wasn't quiet or small. It was motion and music, friends, family, mountains, laughter, and fierce devotion to their children. It was a big life, well lived and made by effort, dedication, adventure, and through it all, love. They built a life, a partnership, and a family: Phin, now 16, and Darby, 11. In September of 2023, the four of them moved to the Fitch Family Ranch in Grangeville, ID. It's where he wanted to live out his life...close to family and old friends, and a return to the land and the roots that shaped him. To the place he always felt most himself.

In the end, Jed leaves behind a legacy measured not in titles or accomplishments, though he had plenty, but in the way he moved through the world. He lived boldly, loved deeply, worked hard, laughed often, and showed everyone around him how to squeeze meaning out of an ordinary day.

His story doesn't end here; it continues in all of us who were lucky enough to be pulled into his orbit, shaped by his grit, steadied by his strength, and lifted by his fire for life. His stories, his laughter, his fierce love for his family, and his unstoppable drive to live fully will echo in the people who knew him best. We will keep telling his stories, keep remembering his words, and keep carrying forward the parts of him that made this world brighter, louder, and better.

He is survived by his wife, Amanda Flamm; their children, Phineas Baker Fitch and Darby Flamm Fitch; his parents, Buck and Jeannie Fitch; his sister and brother-in-law, Julie and Jason McClanahan; his mother- and father-in-law, Carla and Daniel Flamm; and his brothers- and sisters-in-law, Scott and Anne Flamm, Brad Flamm and Esther Wyss-Flamm, and Jason Flamm and Kelly Coplin; in addition to a myriad of nieces, nephews, and cousins.

Jed's Celebration of Life will be held on December 5, 2025, at 1:00 p.m. mountain time at the Salmon River High School Multipurpose Room in Riggins, ID. There will be a reception/after-service gathering at the Riggins Community Center immediately following. Arrangements are under the direction of the Blackmer Funeral Home, Grangeville. Send condolences to the family to blackmerfuneralhome.com.

Deadline for Youth Hunting Story Contest is December 2

Youth hunters between the ages of 10 and 17 are invited to tell Gov. Greg Gianforte their best hunting story. Winners of the story contest will have a wild game dinner with the governor and have the opportunity to win prizes from Montana brands like Sitka, Stone Glacier and Kenetrek Boots.

This is the fourth year for the Youth Hunting Story Contest. The governor selects 10 hunters, five aged 10-13 and five aged 14-17. The winners are announced in December and then hosted in the Capitol in January. To enter the contest, young hunters can visit youthhunting.mt.gov by Dec. 2 and submit a story of no more than 500 words and a photo from their 2025 hunt. Hunters must be Montana residents and licensed hunters or apprentice hunters. Eligible entries include harvesting any legal game, furbearer animals or birds in Montana.

The 2025 contest's prize partners include Sitka, Stone Glacier, Kenetrek Boots, J2 Taxidermy, Murdoch's, the Montana Outfitters & Guides Association, the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation and Zink's Big Sky Archery Targets. Enter today at youthhunting.mt.gov.

She provided legal counsel on issues ranging from military justice to national security and deployed to Afghanistan in 2019.

Her military career was cut short by injuries that led to her medical retirement. During recovery, she discovered adaptive sports and wheelchair curling, which rekindled her competitive drive and opened the door to representing her country once again.

"If anything comes from this, I want to share the message that you can still achieve whatever dreams you may have despite illness or disability," Verderber said.

After returning to Montana, Verderber served as a civil litigator for the Montana Department of Justice before joining Silverman Law Office, where she focuses on business, contract, real estate and probate litigation. The firm has offices in Helena, Bozeman, Butte and Big Timber.

"We are incredibly proud of Katie," said Silverman Law Office CEO Joel Silverman. "Her work ethic, character, and determination are evident in everything she does, both in the courtroom and on the ice."

The Paralympic Winter Games begin March 6, 2026, and will be televised on NBC and streamed live on Peacock.

On Tuesday, December 2, DMS Boys Basketball will be playing a home game against Butte Central. The 7th grade A team plays at 4:30 and the 8th grade A team will play at 5:30 in the Parkview Gym.

On Friday, December 5, Quarter 2 Mid-term grades will be sent home. Grades will be due the day before on December 4th. So students, make sure to keep up on your assignments and get all missing assignments turned in!

The Beaverhead County ACEs Task Force wants you to know that children who grow up in a household with a family member with mental illness or depression can experience confusion, fear, anxiety, and stress. But one committed, caring adult can help a child build resilience and find success. Be that adult! Healthy families build strong communities.

Can the Cats/Griz results

The 2nd annual can the Cats/Griz event to benefit the Food Pantry was a huge success again this year.

We raised over 1500lbs of food to help them out.

At the high school the Cats canned the Griz with 75lbs of food raised, and 56.5lbs to can the Cats.

At Safeway, 160.6 lbs of food was collected to can the Cats, and at T&C 1274.2 lbs of food was collected to can the Griz and was the winner!

We'll see you all next year to do it again!
