Elaine Evans Kalsta

Elaine Evans Kalsta was born in Billings, Montana, on January 5, 1941, and spent her early years on her parents' ranch in the shadow of the Big Snowy Mountains. The family later moved to a ranch near Lavina, where Elaine rode daily. She loved being on horseback, whether trailing cows, checking fence, or repairing windmills that kept water flowing to the herds. She attended school in Lavina, playing the French horn, cheerleading, and breaking a young horse that would become her barrel horse when she joined the rodeo team at Montana State University.

Elaine excelled in MSU's nursing program, working throughout the university's network in Great Falls, Warm Springs, Southern California, and finally Butte. It was in Butte, one evening, that a tall rancher named Gunnar Kalsta accompanied a friend to the student nurses' housing to pick up Elaine's roommate for a night of dancing. Elaine decided she might go along — a simple choice that changed the course of her life.

Elaine and Gunnar were married in Roundup, Montana, on November 9, 1963, and made their home on the ranch at Glen. There, Elaine brought her unwavering commitment to excellence to every part of her life. Whether working at the county nursing home, helping with cattle, driving stock truck, keeping an immaculate yard and acres of garden, raising a family, serving as a 4-H leader, feeding crews, or later returning to nursing at Barrett Memorial Hospital, Elaine accepted nothing less than her absolute best.

Over the years, Elaine's work contributed to countless lives saved and supported throughout Dillon and the surrounding communities. She was a fierce advocate for her patients and challenged those around her to meet the highest standards of care, whether in the emergency room, the delivery room, or on a mountainside. Elaine retired from Barrett Memorial Hospital in 1998 and spent several years working on an osteoporosis study before taking on what would become her most demanding nursing role.

During the final year of Gunnar's life, Elaine managed his care with the devotion of a wife and the professional advocacy and skill that all who knew her had long come to expect.

After Gunnar's death, Elaine remained on the ranch but took several meaningful trips, including a month-long journey

BLM oil and gas lease sales in Montana and North Dakota generate over $8 million in revenue

The Bureau of Land Management leased 19 parcels totaling 4,116 acres in Montana and North Dakota for $8,653,960 in total receipts during a quarterly oil and gas lease sale. Combined lease bonus bids and rentals are distributed between the federal government and state where parcels are located.

This lease sale was conducted under the One Big Beautiful Bill Act, which resets the royalty rate for new federal onshore oil and gas production to a minimum of 12.5%, reversing the 16.67% rate set by the Inflation Reduction Act. By lowering the federal onshore royalty rate from 16.67% to 12.5%, the One Big Beautiful Bill Act reduces the cost of doing business on public lands, making oil and gas development more economically attractive to industry. This is expected to spur additional leasing and drilling activity, which in turn supports increased domestic energy production and strengthens U.S. energy security.

Oil and gas lease sales support domestic energy production and American energy independence, while contributing to the nation's economic and military security. Consistent with Executive Order 14154, "Unleashing American Energy," the BLM's lease sales help meet the energy needs of U.S. citizens and solidify the nation as a global energy leader long into the future.

Leasing is the first step in the process to develop federal oil and gas resources. The BLM ensures oil and gas development meets the requirements set forth by the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and other applicable legal authorities.

Oil and gas leases are awarded for a term of 10 years and as long thereafter as there is production of oil and gas in paying quantities. Information on current and upcoming BLM leases is available through the National Fluid Lease Sale System.

BLM lease sales are held online through EnergyNet. Results are available on the National Fluid Lease Sale System. After navigating to the page, filter to the sale, and select the action "View Sale Documents" to view the sale results.

Secretary Christi Jacobsen sets new national standard for voter roll maintenance

Under Secretary Christi Jacobsen's leadership, Montana has set a new national standard for election integrity, requiring deadlines for resolving incomplete voter registration applications or removing them from Montana's voter registration system, keeping the state's voter rolls more accurate and up to date.

This marks the latest achievement in Secretary Jacobsen's historic, nationally leading efforts to improve elections.

"Montana is the gold standard. Montana leading the nation in elections is not rhetoric, it's a fact," said Secretary Jacobsen. "My commitment to Montana for accurate voter rolls and ensuring the integrity of our elections is unmatched. By setting these high standards, Montana is paving the way for other states to follow our lead and implement similar measures to enhance election integrity throughout the USA."

Multiple states have expressed interest in introducing the model developed by Secretary Jacobsen to their state legislatures.

Along with being among the first in the nation to innovate voter roll maintenance, Montana also received a national award for election integrity by becoming the most efficient state to remove deceased voters from its voter rolls.

USING GEOCHEMISTRY TO ANSWER NATURAL RESOURCE QUESTIONS

I'm Cam Carstarphen, and I have been in Montana and with the Montana Bureau of Mines and Geology for 30+ years. Although I enjoy all geology subdisciplines, I was drawn academically to sedimentology. I adore being outside. My work at MBMG has allowed me to integrate my love of landscape, geology, puzzles, study design, analysis, and outreach together into one position. Using that to understand and map Montana's aquifers has been a joy.

I'm Matthew Smith, and I'm in my last year of graduate school, fulfilling the requirements for a Master's in Environmental Geology with a focus on Hydrogeology at the University of Kansas. Furthermore, I work for the Montana Bureau of Mines and Geology as a hydrogeologist based out of the Billings field office. Previously, I served in the Marines and retired after 10 years. I live in central Montana near Roundup, where I maintain a small ranch and my slice of paradise. I have a love and passion for all fields of Geology, but have grown to appreciate the forensics of aqueous isotopes and ion chemistry to unravel system processes and sources.
