Montana Western Thanks Director of Athletics Michael Feuling for His Leadership and Service

The University of Montana Western has announced that Michael Feuling, Director of Athletics, has accepted another career opportunity and will conclude his service at Montana Western in mid-May.

Feuling has served as Director of Athletics for more than four years, providing leadership and guidance to Bulldog Athletics while supporting student-athletes, coaches, and staff across all programs.

"I am deeply grateful for my time here and for what we were able to accomplish over the past four-plus years," Feuling said. "I want to thank Chancellor Mike Reid for giving me a chance and believing in me. His support was critical to our success. The coaches and staff truly epitomize the Bulldog Way, and it has been an honor and privilege to work alongside each of them," Feuling said.

Feuling emphasized the lasting impact of Montana Western's student-athletes and campus culture.

"To our student-athletes: there is no greater reward than building relationships with you and watching you grow and achieve your goals. One of the first signs I saw on campus was from MJ Simkins: 'Leave it better than you found it.' It is my sincere hope that I have done just that. The future of Bulldog Athletics is bright, and my family and I will always be proud Bulldogs," said Feuling.

"We are grateful to Michael for everything he has done for Bulldog Athletics and for the University of Montana Western. His dedication has made a lasting impact on our campus and athletic programs. We thank him for his service and wish Michael and his family the very best in this next chapter," said Montana Western Chancellor, Michael Reid.

The University of Montana Western will share more information about the leadership transition in Athletics in the coming weeks.

Southwest Montana Community Health Center's Blacktail Medical Clinic, Pharmacy, and Dental Unveil Updated Name, New Sign, and New Logo

Blacktail Medical Clinic, Pharmacy, and Dental held an event in Dillon on Feb 6, with new signage and a new logo, and to officially announce its new name – Blacktail Health. This event followed similar events in Butte and Anaconda on February 5th. Southwest Montana Community Health Center has been providing healthcare to Butte, Anaconda, and Dillon. Services in Dillon operated under the name Blacktail Medical Clinic, Pharmacy, and Dental.

"For 40 years, we have been providing outstanding healthcare to Butte, Anaconda, and Dillon," said CEO Tammy Cox. "We decided to change our name to something all three communities can share, and Blacktail Health reflects our commitment to accessible, comprehensive care for everyone."

Blacktail Health is a Federally Qualified Health Center (FQHC) known for quality, comprehensive care, offering medical, care management, behavioral health, and clinical and retail pharmacy services. In addition, they provide mobile health services and school-based care, bringing healthcare directly to where it is needed most.

"We want to assure people that we are still the same independent nonprofit community health center known for exceptional wraparound care, offering a 'one-stop' experience for all your healthcare needs," said Cox. "The only thing that's changing is our name."

Blacktail Health is a comprehensive healthcare provider serving insured patients, uninsured patients, and individuals with limited coverage. They also offer services on a sliding fee scale for those who qualify, making healthcare accessible and affordable. Each year, Blacktail Health cares for nearly 13,000 patients.

"We want to make it clear that we serve everyone," said Cox. "In addition to providing high-quality care, we also offer convenience. You can see your therapist, clinical pharmacist, and primary care doctor without calling multiple providers or receiving multiple bills. Patients with insurance help us generate revenue to continue providing care to those without insurance."

Blacktail Health is more than a healthcare provider; it is a trusted community partner, working closely with local schools, hospitals, employers, and government agencies to address barriers to care. They deliver patient-centered services that meet a wide range of health needs. Every team member is committed to treating patients with dignity, respect, and compassion.

The University of Montana Western is proud to announce Heather Hoyer, Board of Regents Member and Superintendent of Great Falls Public Schools, as the Commencement speaker for its 129th Annual Commencement Ceremony to be held Saturday, May 9, 2026, at 10:00 a.m. in Bulldog Stadium.

Now in her 31st year as a professional educator, Hoyer has dedicated her career to strengthening education at every level, from preschool through higher education and workforce development. A native of Trego, Montana, and a graduate of Lincoln County High School in Eureka, Hoyer is the daughter of a rural schoolteacher and has spent her life advancing educational opportunity for students across the state.

Hoyer's professional experience spans adult education, dual credit instruction, coaching, middle and high school science teaching, school administration, and executive leadership, culminating in her role as Superintendent. She is widely recognized as a champion for hands-on learning, innovation, and collaboration, and was named the 2024 Montana ACTE Administrator of the Year for her leadership in Career and Technical Education.

Her connection to Montana Western runs deep. Hoyer earned her Bachelor of Science in Secondary Science Education from Western Montana College (now UMW) in 1994.
