In addition to her professional work, Sloan has been a dedicated advocate for students at Montana Western. She has worked closely with the Sloan Family Foundation to help identify and support students with financial need, ensuring they have access to the resources necessary to persist and succeed. Recognizing the growing importance of mental health, she has also been a strong supporter of counseling services on campus, championing efforts to promote student well-being.

Today, Sloan continues to serve the Dillon community through extensive volunteer leadership. She has been involved with numerous organizations, including serving as a Court Appointed Special Advocate for abused and neglected children in the foster care system for more than a decade. Her community involvement has also included leadership roles with the YMCA, United Way, the Women's Resource Center, the Sloan Family Foundation Education Board, and local efforts addressing adverse childhood experiences.

of music, studying piano and performing throughout her school years. She earned a Bachelor of Science in Microbiology from the University of Montana and later completed a Master of Library Science from The Catholic University of America.

After moving to Dillon in 1980, Loge became deeply involved in both the community and Montana Western. She served the university in a variety of roles, including as an adjunct faculty member teaching courses in library reference services, history and philosophy of science, music for elementary teachers, and piano instruction. She also served as interim library director and contributed her time to campus committees and academic initiatives. As a member of the University of Montana Western Foundation Board, she provided leadership and advocacy in support of the university's growth and long-term success.

In the Dillon community, Loge has taught piano lessons for more than forty years, mentoring generations of students and helping many prepare for competitions and performances. Her passion for music has extended into countless volunteer roles, including accompanying church choirs, school music programs, and community performances.

She has also contributed her time and leadership to numerous organizations, including the Dillon Presbyterian Church, the Dillon Public Library Board, the Beaverhead County Museum Board, and the Montana Committee for the Humanities. She also served on the District 10 Elementary School Board and the University of Montana Western Foundation Board, as well as a wide range of community initiatives supporting families, education, and the arts.

A longtime member of the Montana State Music Teachers Association and the Dillon Concert Association, Loge continues to promote music and the arts in Southwest Montana. Her contributions have been recognized with honors including the Jaycee Women Young Woman of the Year Award, the Margaret Hagenbarth Award for Contributions to the Arts, and the Montana State Music Teachers Association Music Teacher of the Year.

Charlene and her husband, Dr. Rob Loge, raised two daughters: Dr. Anna Loge, a physician in Dillon, and Laura Loge, a singer and music program artistic director. Music and education have long been central to the family's life and contributions to the arts.

In recognition of her lifelong dedication to education, music, community service, and her enduring impact on Montana Western, Charlene Loge is honored with the 2026 Dr. Jane Helm Maddock Service Award.

Stockman Bank is ranked, once again, as one of the Top 50 Community Banks in the United States by S&P Global Market Intelligence

Stockman Bank has been recognized by S&P Global Market Intelligence, for the third consecutive year, as one of the top 50 best-performing U.S. community banks of 2025, among banks with $3 billion to $10 billion in assets. Ranking 23rd on the list, Stockman is the only Montana bank to be included.

S&P Global Market Intelligence ranks institutions based on returns, growth and funding but places a premium on the strength and risk profile of balance sheets. The rankings were launched in 2011 to assess the performance of community banks.

"We are honored to be the only Montana bank recognized in this ranking category for our strong balance sheet and sound practices," stated Bill Coffee, CEO of Stockman Bank. "As a family-owned, privately held community bank, we are committed to serving the financial needs of all Montanans. As always, this recognition reflects the dedication and expertise of our staff, who put our customers and communities first, providing outstanding service based on western values, local management and quick decision making."

About Stockman Bank

Stockman Bank is Montana's largest, family-owned, community bank, with convenient full-service locations across the state. Founded in 1953, Stockman remains uniquely focused on Montana, with comprehensive banking products and services, along with state-of-the-art online and mobile banking, wealth management and insurance services.
