Academic Olympics

Here is a recap of our successful day at the Southwest Montana Academic Championship at MSU on March 18th: BCHS did a 3-peat and has now claimed the #1 title for 5 out of the last 6 years! There were about 45 teams from all classes competing today.

Team B - Brekken Venn, Darrell Lewis, Aven Pfeiffer, Abbi Eason and Ripley Reasoner went undefeated to claim 1st place! They were able to each have a $50 shopping spree in the MSU Bookstore!

Team A - Izzy Regan, Hunter Wigen, Daria Adkins, Ean Field and Kestral Aikern finished in 4th place winning all but 2 matches - both losses to a very tough Park High team. They have nothing to hang their heads about as they battled and won against many impressive teams.

Team C - Emma Lovaas, Clara Nittinger, Greer Morstein, Kendal Martin, and Drew Morgan-thaler had a good day with some wins early, but then falling to a couple challenging teams. They went on to be great support for their fellow teams.

The 100 question written test that they took earlier this year also brought many awards for our students. Out of 175 students taking the test here our 8 who scored in the top 20:

Hunter Wigen 2nd top score overall and 2nd for Seniors
Brekken Venn 3rd overall and 3rd for Seniors
Izzy Regan 7th overall and 7th for Seniors
Ean Field tied for 10th overall and 2nd for Sophomores
Clara Nittinger tied for 10th overall and 3rd for Juniors
Kestral Aiken 13th overall and 6th for Freshman
Aven Pfeiffer 18th overall and 6th for Juniors
Abbi Eason 20th overall and 9th for Sophomores

As always, these students represented BCHS well in both performance and character! Thank you for helping them prepare with all the knowledge you bestow and examples that you set. I hear things like "we learned that in Mr. Hansen's jeopardy game" etc. etc. It is def-inately a group effort!

Food Is Medicine: Brussels Sprouts

While Brussels sprouts still rank among America's least favorite vegetables, these little gems deserve another chance. Sticking with our cruciferous veggie theme from last week, Brussels sprouts are basically mini cabbages that grow along a long stalk, producing 60-100 per plant. I used to hate them too—like, secretly spitting them out and stuffing them in my socks kind of hate as a kid (anyone else remember not being allowed to leave the table until your plate was clean?). Safe to say, I've come a long way. If you're still holding onto that childhood grudge, it might be time to give them another shot. The good news? They're not as bitter as they used to be—that's been bred out over the years and of course, preparation matters. I prefer them roasted with olive oil, salt, pepper, and a sprinkle of parmesan to serve. They're crispy, savory, and completely addictive. Just be sure to give them room, overcrowding leads to steaming, and the texture becomes more like boiled Brussels (not the goal). Beyond taste, they're packed with fiber, vitamins K and C, and antioxidants that support detox pathways, help reduce inflammation, promote bone health, balance blood sugar, and protect your cells, making these little green nuggets well worth revisiting.

Good health is built day by day, starting with real food.
Written by Amber Barone, RN Holistic Nurse & Founder of Bar1wellness

*Individuals taking blood-thinning medications should consult with their primary care provider regarding appropriate intake of vitamin K-rich foods such as Brussel sprouts.

Outdoor Association Special Meeting

The Beaverhead Outdoors Association will be holding a special meeting on March 30th, 6:00 PM at the Beaverhead County search and rescue building. Warren Hansen, with the Montana Fish, Wildlife and Parks dept. will be discussing the closure that they put in place in the East Fork of Blacktail game management area, from Swamp Creek to the top of Rob/ Ledford Creek. A 3 mile stretch of road that was closed from October 15th to May 1 5th that required you to go around 26 miles to get to the same area in question during hunting season. This road goes around private ground. It's closed normally, right after hunting season to the 15th of May, which is no problem. But during hunting season, it is a problem! We would like to see all personnel that are interested in keeping this open during hunting season please show up to the meeting to voice their opinion.

Thank you,

Gene Loder, Pres. B.O.A

Montana Western to Produce 78th Season of Virginia City Players

Virginia City holds a prominent place in Montana's history, and the Virginia City Players contribute to the region's longstanding traditions. The area offers a unique destination for visitors, where families and travelers can ride the historic train, explore preserved homesteads and architecture, pan for gold, enjoy local dining, and experience live theatre. The Virginia City Players specialize in turn-of-the-century melodrama and vaudeville.

The theatre will be artistically directed by Stephen Alan Seder, a returning player (2012–2018, 2021, 2022) who has worked as a stage manager, designer, and performer. During his time with the Players, he trained under Bill Koch and the Koch family, gaining extensive experience in theatre operations and developing expertise in melodrama and vaudeville. Seder is now an Assistant Professor of Theatre and the Artistic Director of the BOC Performing Arts Series at Montana Western.

The company will be managed by Adryan Miller Gorder. Gorder has been involved in theatre since childhood, beginning with Missoula Children's Theatre and continuing through her studies at the University of Montana (2015) and Carnegie Mellon University (2019). A Montana-based scenic designer, her work combines design, construction, and performance to support immersive storytelling. She currently serves as Assistant Professor and Technical Director of the BOC Performing Arts Series at Montana Western.

The cast and crew will include both new and

Fishing for the future: Funding for 8 habitat projects

A historically blocked cold water stream will be fully reconnected to the Big Hole River. Hyde Creek, a historic side channel to the Madison River, will be restored to improve spawning habitat for trout while also improving riparian habitat, floodplain connection and instream habitat.

These projects are two of the eight that recently received funding by the Montana Fish and Wildlife Commission through the Future Fisheries Improvement Program (FFIP). In all, nearly $440,000 in funding was approved to improve Montana fisheries.

The fisheries improvements include restoration of streams to a natural condition, installing riparian fencing, restoring streambanks and riparian areas, creating instream habitat and more. Projects will help both native and non-native fish, including bull trout, mountain whitefish, westslope cutthroat trout, brown trout, rainbow trout and numerous non-game fish.

This year's funding was paired with $1.15 million in match and other contributions from outside sources. The eight projects were submitted by landowners, watershed organizations, county governments, federal agencies and nonprofits.

Approved FFIP projects

• Butte Area

Big Hole Tributary Reconnection, Phase 2 - Alder Creek

Tenmile Creek Fish Barrier

Lower Racetrack Creek Restoration Project

• Missoula Area

Lower Grant Creek Restoration

Marshall Creek Culvert Removal and Habitat Restoration

Upper O'Brien Creek Restoration Project

• Wisdom Area

Christiansen Creek Fish Barrier

• Ennis Area

Madison River Side Channel Restoration - Hyde Creek

Applications for the FFIP summer-cycle grants are due May 15. Forms are available on FWP's website, fwp.mt.gov/FFIP, or at FWP offices.

Any individual or group with a project designed to restore or enhance habitat for wild or native fish may apply for FFIP funding. Applicants are encouraged to work with local FWP fisheries biologists. Landowners and other project partners usually share project costs, extending FFIP dollars.
