The Obit Project highlights Pit the Elephant

The Beaverhead County Museum is pleased to share with the community "The Obit Project," a podcast series featuring stories about the lives of real Montanans told after they are gone. Created by young journalists from the University of Montana School of Journalism, this project reimagines the traditional obituary—exploring universal truths, legacies, and the ways we remember those we love.

The story of Pit the Elephant will be featured in the third episode, airing April 16. You can listen to "The Obit Project" wherever you get your podcasts and on Montana Public Radio.

Written and produced by journalist Jacob Baynham, the episode draws on interviews with several Dillon residents to bring this unique piece of local history to life.

Known throughout the region, Pit's remarkable story includes being struck by lightning and laid to rest at the fairgrounds. In this episode, Jack Kirkley and other Dillon residents share personal memories and reflections, vividly bringing Pit's story back to life.

The series premiered April 2 and offers thoughtful, often moving reflections on the people and histories that shape our communities.

Lady Beavers Fall in Heartbreaker to Corvallis

Jeremy Crawford, Southwestern Montana News

The Beaverhead County Varsity Lady Beavers came up just short Saturday, falling 12-11 to the Corvallis Blue Devils on the final play of the game. Tied at 11 in the bottom of the seventh, Corvallis pushed across the winning run on an error to seal the walk-off victory.

Despite the loss, the Lady Beavers put together a strong offensive performance, tallying 13 hits in the high-scoring contest.

The Lady Beavers got on the board first in the opening inning when Mya Creighton lifted a sacrifice fly to bring in a run. Corvallis answered in the second, taking a 4-1 lead behind RBI doubles from Natalie Jolley and Brooklyn Cary.

The Lady Beavers surged ahead in the fifth inning when Kennedyl Meine drew a bases-loaded walk and Tymber Barnes delivered a two-run single down the left field line. Corvallis responded in the bottom half with five runs to regain the lead, highlighted by a three-run single from Taylor Andersen.

The Lady Beavers battled back again in the sixth, taking a 10-9 lead on a two-run double by Reese Jensen and a run scored on an error. Corvallis answered once more to go back in front before the Lady Beavers tied the game at 11 in the seventh on an RBI single from Maisy Hutchinson. Tymber Barnes took the loss for Beaverhead.

At the plate, Kaitlyn Konen led the Lady Beavers with a perfect 4-for-4 performance. Jensen and Creighton each drove in two runs, while Barnes added two hits and stole two bases. Beaverhead also showed patience at the plate, drawing eight walks.

The Lady Beavers will look to bounce back Friday on the road at Frenchtown.

Weekly Good Food Network Garden Notes
Don't Toss Those Leaves: Spring Garden Prep Starts with Last Fall's Cleanup

As gardeners begin spring yard work, experts are urging homeowners to rethink how they handle leftover leaves from winter. Rather than removing every trace, using leaf litter strategically can improve soil health and support vital pollinators.

Leaves that remain in garden beds over winter begin to break down into organic matter, enriching the soil with nutrients just as plants enter their growing season. This natural process improves soil structure, boosts moisture retention, and reduces the need for chemical fertilizers.

In lawns, lightly mulched leaves can be worked into the grass using a mower. As they decompose, they feed the soil below, encouraging thicker, healthier turf without additional inputs.

Leaves also provide critical habitat for pollinators emerging in spring. Many native bees, butterflies, and other beneficial insects spend the winter in leaf litter. Raking too early or too thoroughly can destroy these habitats before insects have a chance to emerge.

Garden experts recommend a gradual approach to spring cleanup: wait for consistent warmer temperatures above 50 degrees F before removing leaves, and leave some undisturbed areas whenever possible. In garden beds, leftover leaves can be spread as mulch, while excess material can be composted or used to enrich soil elsewhere.

By incorporating leaves into spring yard care, homeowners can reduce waste, improve soil health, and help sustain the pollinators that keep gardens thriving.

Letter to the Editor,

Supports Mark Boka for Beaverhead County Commissioner.

In just a few weeks Beaverhead County electors will be voting for a new county commissioner, a most important position. We need to take this responsibility seriously. This person should be well established in our county, exemplify business knowledge and integrity, have been involved in community organizations and boards and a supporter of our youth.

Mark Boka checks the boxes of all of these qualifying attributes. Mark has been a successful businessman in Beaverhead for 45 years. He is a Christian and a lifelong Republican. He has been a member of the Beaverhead Co. Waste Board, a past member of the Beaverhead Search and Rescue, a Fair board member, a board member of the Dillon Volunteer Fire Department Dist. #2, President of the Beaverhead Golf Course for 9 years, a member of the Elks and the South West Montana Conservation Coalition, which supports mining, logging, grazing, recreation and private property rights in Beaverhead County. He is a constant supporter of 4-H, FFA, Little League, Rodeo and other youth sports.

Mark is very interested in the community and ready to listen to everyone.

I urge you to support and vote for Mark Boka for County Commissioner.

Nancy Johnson

THANK YOU!!!!!!!!!!!!

The Beaverhead Community Food Pantry would like to thank -

R.E. Miller / Phillips Concrete / Local Donors

For the work they did to pave part of the Food Pantry walkway and driveway. This was a critical need to allow our clients that use walking assistance to be able to get into our building and use those devices. The ramp into the building will assist them and allow them to better utilize our shopping carts as they pick-up.

Thanks again!

momentum while supporting student-athletes both on and off the field.

"Jason truly embodies what it means to be a Bulldog. He has lived the Montana Western experience and understands firsthand the impact our athletic programs have on students' lives. His leadership, work ethic, and commitment to our community provide a strong foundation that will allow him to lead Bulldog Athletics into its next chapter," said Chancellor Michael Reid.

Ferris earned multiple degrees from Montana Western, including a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration and a Bachelor of Science in Natural Horsemanship, along with an Associate of Applied Science in Equine Studies. During his time as a student, he was an eight-time Dean's List honoree and recipient of the Erb Grant Academic Scholarship.

As a standout member of the Bulldog football team, Ferris was a two-year team captain and a two-time Frontier Conference Defensive Player of the Year. He earned NAIA All-American honors and was recognized multiple times as both an Academic All-American and All-Conference linebacker.

Following his collegiate career, Ferris pursued professional football opportunities, signing contracts with the Carolina Panthers and Birmingham Stallions. While his professional playing career did not ultimately lead to a roster position, the experience strengthened his leadership skills, resilience, and ability to perform in highly competitive environments.

Ferris currently serves as a Loan Officer and Security Administrator at Pioneer Federal Savings & Loan Association in Dillon. In addition to his professional work, Ferris has remained actively involved in athletics and community leadership. He serves as the Varsity Defensive Coordinator for Beaverhead County High School and is deeply engaged in local organizations, including the Engine 18 Foundation and the Dillon Jaycees. His involvement with the Dillon Jaycees further reflects his commitment to community development, youth engagement, and leadership.

As Director of Athletics, Ferris will oversee Montana Western's athletic programs, supporting student-athlete success, strengthening community partnerships, and advancing the proud tradition of Bulldog Athletics. He will begin transitioning into his new role over the coming weeks and start his duties by the end of June.
