Whole Food Health Minute
Mushroom series 3/5 Lion's Mane

Lion's Mane looks like a fluffy white waterfall and works like a tune-up for your brain. It's the only food source known to naturally stimulate Nerve Growth Factor (NGF) — a protein your brain relies on to grow, maintain, and repair its own nerve cells. This makes it a standout for memory, focus, and mental clarity, and emerging research points to real promise for mood support and recovery from mild cognitive decline. As we age, protecting the brain becomes one of the most important things we can do, and Lion's Mane is one of the few natural tools that works at that foundational level.

What makes this mushroom even more remarkable is how much it brings to the rest of the body as well. Beyond the brain, it supports gut health, healthy nerve function throughout the body (including relief for conditions like neuropathy), reduced inflammation, and balanced blood sugar. It's rare to find something that does so much — but for most people, it's the neuroprotective benefits that make Lion's Mane truly worth knowing about.

Good health is built day by day, starting with real food.

2026 WATER CONSERVATION NOTICE

The City of Dillon is once again asking the citizens of Dillon to help in the conservation of water this summer. Starting at 12:01 a.m. May 31st, 2026 and continuing until 11:59 p.m. September 5th, 2026 it is requested that citizens avoid watering lawns, gardens, and limit outside water use for recreational purposes, such as car washing, during the hours of 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The houses with odd numbers should water on Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday, and Sunday. The houses with even numbers should water on Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday. The City of Dillon hopes that everyone has a great summer. We would like to thank everyone in advance for cooperating and assisting the city in conserving water. Lets' all do our part in protecting our water supply.

One week to Election Day: Returning absentee ballots, rejected ballots remain low, photo voter ID reminder

With one week until Montana's 2026 Primary Election, Secretary of State Christi Jacobsen and the Montana Election Team are reminding voters of important information to ensure their voices are heard.

"As of Tuesday morning, nearly 125,000 absentee ballots had been received by county election officials across the state," said Secretary Jacobsen. "For those absentee voters wishing to mail their ballot to their county election office, USPS officials recommend mailing them no later than today, Tuesday, May 26, to ensure they are received by your county election office by the deadline of 8 p.m. on Election Day (June 2nd). Voters can also return their ballot in person directly to their local election officials."

"The Montana Election Team reminds voters to vote only one party's ballot during the Primary Election, place that voted ballot in the secrecy envelope, then place the secrecy envelope containing the voted ballot in your return signature envelope," Secretary Jacobsen continued. "Sign your name, add the date, and include your birth year on the return signature envelope."

Election officials remind voters that they can track the status of their absentee ballot using the Secretary of State's VoteMT.gov website. Voters tracking their absentee ballot will see the following under the "ballot status" category:

- SENT: The county election office issued and sent an absentee ballot.
- RECEIVED: The county election office received a voter's returned absentee ballot.
- ACCEPTED: The county election office received and verified a voter's returned absentee ballot, and it is ready for counting.

- REJECTED: The county election office received a voter's returned absentee ballot, which may contain a missing and/or incorrect signature/birth year. Voters can easily resolve a rejected ballot by visiting https://votemt.gov/resolve-my-ballot/.

As of Tuesday morning, roughly one-quarter of one percent of the ballots issued were in a rejected status, and election officials statewide are contacting those voters to resolve potential missing or incorrect information and ensure their votes are counted.

"The Montana Election Team has done a fantastic job notifying voters of important election information through Public Service Announcements (PSAs), press releases, social media posts, direct voter outreach, and more," said Secretary Jacobsen, whose office has led a months-long, thorough voter outreach campaign.

Montana election officials are also warning voters of the increased potential for long lines on Election Day after a court order blocked implementation of Senate Bill 490. Voters wishing to avoid potentially long lines on Election Day may register, update their registration, and cast their vote in person through their local county election office ahead of Election Day. Montanans voting at the polling place on Election Day are reminded that election workers will request photo identification such as a driver's license, passport, or Tribal ID. Detailed voter ID information is available at VoteMT.gov.

"Election officials are proud to provide our Montana voters with an efficient process that allows for a safe, secure, accessible, and transparent election," said Secretary Jacobsen. "We're honored to serve and look forward to Election Night to share the results with Montanans!"
