DVFD, DNRC Crews Contain Feedlot Hay Fire Near Dillon

Jeremy Crawford, Southwestern Montana News

The Dillon Volunteer Fire Department was called out
Thursday evening to a fire on Sweetwater Road.

According to information from the scene, the fire was burning within a haystack inside a feedlot. Firefighters from the Dillon Volunteer Fire Department, along with crews from the Montana Department of Natural Resources and Conservation (DNRC), responded to contain the fire and prevent it from spreading to surrounding areas.

Crews spent several hours dousing the burning hay with water while working to eliminate flames and hot spots deep within the stack. Approximately 40 hay bales were involved in the fire.

Hay fires can be particularly difficult to extinguish as heat can remain trapped within the bales long after visible flames have been knocked down. Firefighters worked through the evening to ensure the fire was fully contained and extinguished.

According to fire officials, the cause of the fire was determined to be hot equipment combined with high temperatures, low humidity, and windy conditions.

The fire was declared out and the scene was released back to the property owner at approximately 11:30 p.m. Thursday night.

No injuries were reported, and firefighters successfully confined the fire to the haystack area.

Director requests PLPW take up corner crossing issue at June meeting in Glasgow

Looking at solutions to the corner crossing issue will be front and center on the next Private Land/Public Wildlife committee (PLPW) meeting June 1 and 2 as requested by Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks Director Christy Clark.

"This is an issue that impacts hunters and landowners alike," Clark said. "We need a durable solution. The PLPW is uniquely positioned to find that solution, and I've asked them to make it a priority."

The PLPW advisory committee is a citizen advisory committee composed of people interested in issues related to hunters, anglers, landowners and outfitters. Members are appointed by the governor. The committee is charged with reviewing FWP's hunting and fishing access programs, landowner-hunter relations, outfitting industry issues and any other issues related to private lands and public wildlife. The committee makes recommendations to the FWP director.

The PLPW will meet June 1 and 2 at the FWP Region 6 office in Glasgow and virtually through Zoom. The meeting will run from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on June 1 and 8:30 a.m. to 2:45 p.m. on June 2. After the meeting on June 2, PLPW members will participate in a field tour of FWP access program sites around the region.

The meeting will focus on the following objectives:
Finalize PLPW recommendations related to work plan topics in preparation for PLPW report

At the request of FWP Director Christy Clark, review FWP access programs related to corner-to-corner public access scenarios and develop PL/PW solution recommendations to increase landowner participation

Visit various FWP access program sites in Region 6

The FWP Region 6 office is located at 1 Airport Road in Glasgow. For more information on PLPW and the full agenda for the meeting, visit fwp.mt.gov/plpw. The public is welcome to attend in person or make public comments via Zoom. To participate in the meeting virtually and/or to provide comment online, go to fwp.mt.gov/plpw and click on the meeting link.

Beware distracted drivers this summer

by Tom Purcell

As millions of Americans hit the roadways this summer, it's time to be especially aware of distracted drivers.

According to Distraction.gov, distracted driving involves "any activity that could divert a person's attention away from the primary task of driving" — everything from eating and drinking to using a navigation system to checking digital devices.

When I lived in Washington, D.C. — land of the most distracted drivers on Earth — I saw people do nutty things on the Beltway: applying makeup, reading books and newspapers, working on computers and participating in online conferences and, of course, texting.

Texting continues to be the most dangerous distraction.

According to the latest CTIA data, Americans exchanged nearly 2.2 trillion texts in 2024 — and surveys show that millions of them were sent and read while behind the wheel.

The latest National Occupant Protection Use Survey (NOPUS) shows that whereas fewer people are talking on their phones, many more are visibly manipulating their digital devices — a number that has more than doubled since 2015.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration reports that young drivers, ages 16 to 24, are distracted by digital devices at much higher rates than older drivers.

All told, digital-device distractions cause approximately 1.6 million crashes and hundreds of thousands of injuries each year — including 3,208 deaths in 2024 alone.

Which means we drivers need to knock it off.

How many studies do we have to do to finally realize how dangerous it is to let digital devices distract us as we drive?

Carnegie Mellon University found that using a digital device while driving — even just listening to a hands-free conversation — reduces activity in the brain's parietal lobe by 37 percent.

Since the parietal lobe handles spatial awareness, processes what drivers see around them and helps them judge where their car is in relation to everything else on the road, distracted drivers are at greater risk of missing hazards, drifting out of their lanes, misjudging distances and reacting more slowly to sudden changes in traffic.

In other words, distracted driving is equivalent to driving at night with one eye closed and the dashboard lights turned off.

Here's another troubling finding: According to the Virginia Tech Transportation Institute, texting while driving diverts your eyes from the road for an average of five seconds. At 55 mph, that's enough time to cover the length of a football field blindfolded.

You'd think it would be simple common sense — that people would know better than to try to text and drive or take cellphone calls while they're roaring down a highway at a high rate of speed — but that isn't the case.

You'd think there would be no need for new laws and penalties to punish and prevent distracted driving, but unfortunately, there is.

Every day, newspaper headlines feature tragedies that involve distracted drivers — and the subsequent manslaughter lawsuits that many of these drivers face. It's all heartbreaking and totally unnecessary.

That is why many people — people like me who are otherwise wary of our government — agree that state and local governments need to crack down on this matter until a thickheaded public finally grasps the seriousness of using digital devices while driving.

So be careful when you hit the roadways this summer — careful to avoid a growing number of drivers oblivious to the dangers of distracted driving.

MBC 2026 - 27 Performance Season

Montana Ballet Company is excited to announce its 2026 – 27 performance season, featuring a mix of classical favorites, new works, and holiday traditions.

"This season reflects Montana Ballet Company's commitment to honoring the classical ballet tradition while continuing to grow through new choreography, creative collaborations, and innovative performances. We are incredibly excited to share such a dynamic range of performances with our audiences, from the magic of Nutcracker to the romance of Giselle and the creativity of Montana Mix Vol. I. This season highlights the power of dance to inspire, connect, and bring our community together." Melissa Bowman, MBC Artistic Director.

The season begins Halloween weekend with Un/Dead & Un/Forgiven at the Ellen Theatre on October 30 – 31, 2026. The program includes the world premiere of The Raven by choreographer Sasha Janes, along with Dracula and Act II of Giselle. Tickets for this production are available through The Ellen Theatre.

On December 5 & 6, 2026, MBC presents the 43rd Annual Nutcracker with the Bozeman Symphony and Opera Montana at the Willson Auditorium. Featuring Tchaikovsky's beloved score, this holiday tradition brings magical storytelling, beautiful choreography, and live music together for audiences of all ages.

On March 6 & 7, 2027, MBC and the Bozeman Symphony present Giselle at the Willson Auditorium. Widely regarded as one of the greatest romantic ballets ever created, Giselle tells the heartbreaking story of a young village girl who falls in love with a mysterious nobleman, Albrecht, disguised as a peasant. When she discovers his betrayal, Giselle dies of heartbreak and joins the Wilis, ghostly spirits of women betrayed before their wedding days. In the ballet's haunting second act, Giselle's love and forgiveness ultimately save the remorseful Albrecht from the Wilis' deadly revenge. Combining dramatic storytelling, ethereal choreography, and the power of a live orchestra, this timeless masterpiece remains one of the most moving works in classical ballet.

The season concludes April 28 & 29, 2027, with Montana Mix Vol. 1 at the Willson Auditorium. This exciting collaboration features Bozeman musician Madeline Hawthorne, the Montana premiere of George Balanchine's Valse Fantaisie, and a new work set to music by Bozeman composer Eric Funk. The production brings together live music, choreography, and dance in a dynamic season finale.

Season subscriptions and ticket packages are available now. Single tickets go on sale July 25, 2026 at www.montanaballet.org or by calling 406. 582 . 8702.

Temporary closure resumes for portion of Gallatin River during Markley Bridge replacement

A portion of the Gallatin River will close to boating temporarily starting May 29 while crews continue working with the U.S. Forest Service to install a new bridge replacing Markley Bridge near Big Sky.

The closure will temporarily restrict boating on the Gallatin River from the Upper Deer Creek boat launch—located just above Markley Bridge—to the Portal Creek boat launch. Boaters will still be able to put in at the Portal Creek boat launch and float downstream.

Wade angling and other walk-in use will continue to be allowed, except in the immediate area of bridge construction.

The area was closed previously during earlier phases of construction. The current closure will be lifted as soon as conditions allow.
