Howard Wesley Paige, 91

Howard Wesley Paige, 91, of Dillon, passed away Wednesday, June 3, 2026 at Renaissance. He was born on July 3, 1934 in Twin Bridges, Montana to Wesley & Marjorie (Haines) Paige. Obituary to follow

Arrangements are under the direction of Brundage Funeral Home. Condolences for the family may be posted online at www.brundagefuneralhome.com

Jean Maxine Livermont

December 7, 1920 — June 1, 2026

Jean Maxine Kemnitz was born in Bloomfield, Nebraska on Dec. 7, 1920, the first child of Ray and Frieda Kemnitz. When she was 5, the family moved to South Dakota, where her parents homesteaded on Pass Creek near Norris, starting out in a sod house. There was no school nearby at the time, so Jean lived with her grandparents, Herman and Emma Jordan, in Bloomfield, NE, for her first year of school, then attended Pass Creek School and England School near Vetel thereafter. She attended high school in Martin briefly before dropping out to help at her parents' bar and cafe in Vetel. She got her first job at around sixteen years old taking care of a wheelchair-bound lady in Merriman, NE, and also worked one summer for her future mother-in-law on the Livermont ranch north of Vetel.

After the family moved to Hill City, SD, Jean worked at her folks' gas station, at the Mt. Rushmore café during the completion stages of the monument, and at a café in Rockerville.

Jean married Louis Livermont on Dec. 17, 1941. She and Louis made their home on the Livermont family ranch north of Vetel, where they raised their four sons and one daughter. In the mid-60's, they sold most of their interest in the Vetel ranch and went into the ranching business with their oldest son Butch and his wife Judy near Interior but continued to live near Vetel.

After Louis died in 1977, Jean continued to live in her home near Vetel until moving to Martin in 1991. She enjoyed travels with various family members to Alaska, the west coast, the east coast and to Hawaii. She was a faithful and active member of St. Katherine's Episcopal Church in Martin, having served on the vestry for several years, helped publish the "St. Katherine's Key" newsletter, and was responsible for cleaning the church for several years until she broke her leg at age 88. She was also active in the Senior Center in Martin

Secretary Christi Jacobsen thanks Montana voters, election workers for successful 2026 Primary Election

Montana Secretary of State Christi Jacobsen is thanking voters and election workers across the Treasure State following last Tuesday's 2026 Primary Election. Polling places opened at 7 a.m., with voters casting ballots for local, state, and federal offices.

With all counties marking their precincts as fully reported, nearly 300,000 Montanans participated in the Primary Election. Fewer than one percent of ballots were rejected, as election officials statewide worked efficiently to assist voters in resolving their ballots. Provisional ballots are scheduled to be counted on Monday afternoon.

Secretary Jacobsen also expressed her gratitude to the thousands of election workers, election judges, and local county election officials who helped administer the Primary Election.

"I'm incredibly grateful for the Montana Election Team, the state and local election officials, as well as the poll workers and volunteers who served Montana voters before, during, and now after Election Day," Secretary Jacobsen said. "Their professionalism and dedication help ensure Montana's elections remain safe, secure, accessible, and transparent."

"Thank you to every candidate who stepped forward to represent your community and state," she continued. "Running for office requires time, sacrifice, and commitment, and I appreciate your willingness to step up and serve."

Results are available at <https://electionresults.mt.gov/> and remain unofficial until canvassed.

Attorney General Knudsen encourages online safety during Internet Crimes Against Children Prevention Month

Montana Attorney General Austin Knudsen and the Montana Department of Justice Division of Criminal Investigation (DCI) are encouraging Montanans to stay vigilant during Internet Crimes Against Children (ICAC) Prevention Month and take steps to protect children online.

"As technology continues to evolve, protecting children from online predators has never been more important," Attorney General Knudsen said. "Please, do your part and talk to your kids about the dangers lurking online."

The Department of Justice's ICAC Task Force receives cyber tips from the National Center of Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC) and is responsible for investigating and working with prosecutors to hold perpetrators who use the Internet or other technology to exploit children criminally accountable.

From June 1, 2025, through May 31, 2026, DCI received 3,542 CSAM cyber tips. Nationally, in 2025, NCMEC received 21.3 million CyberTipline reports, with a 158 percent increase in reported online enticement and a 323 percent increase in reported child sex trafficking from 2024.

Attorney General Knudsen shared the following tips and reminders to protect children from online predators:

Think carefully before posting photos of your children online. Public posts can be viewed, saved, or misused by predators without your knowledge.

Keep social media accounts private to limit who can see your content.

Be cautious of strangers online. People may pretend to be the same age or share interests to gain trust.

Avoid sharing personal information or location online.

Watch for red flags, such as someone sending frequent messages, compliments, or trying to become close quickly.

Last year, prosecutors in Attorney General Knudsen's office charged a Carter County man with three felony counts of sexual abuse of children (CSAM) for possession of explicit images and videos that depict a child under the age of 12. The investigation found that Shy Herbert McCutchan captured images of a child from the parents' public social media account and used AI to manipulate the photos and

To address the issue and hold perpetrators accountable, House Bill 82, supported by Attorney General Austin Knudsen, was passed and signed into law during the 2025 Legislative Session, and allows for the prosecution of sex predators utilizing artificial intelligence to digitally alter images.

Sextortion is also on the rise in Montana. In sextortion cases, predators lure victims into sending explicit images online and then use those images to threaten the victim into sending money or doing something they don't want to do. Under the direction of Attorney General Austin Knudsen, the Montana Department of Justice is committed to raising awareness of the problem of sextortion and stopping the deadly crime. During the 2023 legislative session, Attorney General Knudsen successfully advocated for funding for an additional internet crimes against children investigator who helps combat crimes like sextortion. The Montana Internet Crimes Against Children Task Force Commander also travels the state to give presentations to educate parents and students.

For more information on how to stay safe online and to report child sexual exploitation, visit <https://dojmt.gov/dci-home/crime-information-bureau/icac/>.
