Terry Rae Hazelbaker Mattfeldt

Terry Rae Hazelbaker Mattfeldt, 77, passed away on April 12, 2026.

A scholarship will be established in Terry's name at Western Montana College to honor her lifelong dedication to education.

A Celebration of Terry's life will be held at Colstrip High School on Friday, June 26th, 2026 at 2 pm.

Clara Gerringa

Our family invites you to join us as we gather to honor the life and memory of our beloved mother, Clara Gerringa.

We invite close family and friends to join us for a graveside interment service at Mountain View Cemetery in Dillon on Saturday, June 27, at 10:00 a.m.

Immediately following the service, please join us for a reception in the banquet room, at the Andrus Hotel, where we will gather to share fond memories and celebrate Clara's life.

Your support, prayers, and kindness have brought our family so much comfort during this difficult time.

The Family of Clara Gerringa

Bannack State Park to host 50th annual Bannack Days event July 18-19

Ghost town event includes re-enactments, music and family activities

The 50th anniversary of Bannack State Park's signature event, Bannack Days, is scheduled for the third weekend in July, with many traditional attractions and activities celebrating Montana's first territorial capital.

Since 1976, Bannack Days has brought this iconic ghost town to life with music, gunfights, wagon rides, gold panning, re-enactments, artisan demonstrations, and other festivities.

This special 50th anniversary of Bannack Days will be Saturday, July 18, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sunday, July 19, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Admission is $5 for individuals ages 6 and older, or $20 per family. Admission is free for children ages 5 and younger. Tickets can be purchased with cash at the park entrance or online at montanastateparks.reserveamerica.com here. Make sure to select either July 18 or 19 when purchasing tickets online. Food and drinks can be purchased from vendors at the park.

Parking space is limited during this busy event. FWP staff will provide parking directions for visitors as they arrive. Shuttle vans will be available to and from parking areas farthest from park entrances. Visitors are encouraged to carpool and leave pets at home.

About 25 miles west of Dillon, Bannack State Park is a national historic landmark and the site of Montana's first major gold discovery in 1862. Bannack's Main Street today is lined with more than 50 historic buildings, most of which are open and accessible to the public.

For more information about scheduled events, activities and park rules for Bannack Days call 406-834-3413.

FWP seeks public input on proposed fee updates for agency-managed lands, waters

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks is proposing updates to fees for FWP-managed lands and waters, including state parks, fishing access sites, wildlife management areas and fisheries conservation areas, and is asking the public to weigh in on the changes.

The proposal would apply to both public and commercial use. FWP is proposing the updates because the current fee rules are outdated, recreation use has increased and the costs of keeping sites maintained, safe and open to the public have also gone up.

"The current fee rules have not been thoroughly updated in many years and have become difficult to administer and understand," said Renee Lemon, parks and outdoor recreation division administrator. "With increases in recreation, we see the need for an updated and more user-friendly fee structure."

The proposed updates are intended to:

Adjust fees to better reflect inflation and the increasing costs of maintaining and managing public recreation sites

Simplify fee structures and permit categories to improve clarity and consistency for visitors, businesses and staff

Maintain affordable and fair fees

"We invite the public to provide feedback to help us develop the new structure," Lemon said.

For information on how to submit a public comment, go to <https://fwp.mt.gov/aboutfwp/public-comment-opportunities/proposed-public-use-rules>

122 N. Montana St Dillon, MT 59725Commissioner James Brown Secures Nearly $60,000 in Additional Funding for Montana Securities Fraud Restitution Fund Through Enforcement Settlements

Montana Commissioner of Securities and Insurance James Brown announced that due to a series of enforcement settlements reached with entities that failed to properly file required notices of business activity in Montana, some $60,000 has been added in 2026 to Montana's Securities Fraud Restitution Assistance Fund.

The Securities Fraud Restitution Assistance Fund provides financial assistance to Montana residents harmed in cases prosecuted or administered by the Commissioner's Securities Division, or in cases initiated by the division and referred for further action. Montana is one of just six states with such a fund.

"As fraud cases increase in Montana, it's critical that we maintain a strong restitution fund to help victims begin to put their lives back together after they are defrauded," Commissioner Brown said. "We will continue using every enforcement tool available to hold bad actors accountable and protect Montana investors."

Commissioner Brown has secured $59,900 across nine settlement agreements so far in 2026. In addition to financial contributions, the agreements require parties to review and strengthen internal compliance processes, ensure timely and complete filings, and provide updated contact and filer information to the Commissioner's office.

Montanans harmed by fraudsters received $55,786 in restitution from the fund in the first quarter of this year. Recommendations for additional restitution will be made in July.

These enforcement actions reinforce Montana's commitment to protecting investors and deterring future violations of securities laws.

Attorney General Knudsen issues statement following SCOTUS decision in Second Amendment case

Montana Attorney General Austin Knudsen issued the following statement Thursday following the Supreme Court of the United States' (SCOTUS) decision in Wolford v. Lopez. Attorney General Knudsen has led multiple amicus brief in support of support of three residents and the Hawaii Firearms Coalition in their lawsuit since 2023.

"This decision is a victory for all law-abiding gun owners in this country. Hawaii tried to use the 'spirit of Aloha' to make it nearly impossible for anyone to carry a gun in a public place, a violation of the Second Amendment. Today, the Supreme Court rightly overturned the unconstitutional law. Montanans' rights do not end at the state's border and today's decision confirmed that."

The Hawaiian government wrongly enacted a law prohibiting the carry or possession of firearms in designated "sensitive" places, including bars and restaurants serving alcohol, parks and beaches, banks and financial institutions, and other areas. Additionally, Hawaii's now unconstitutional "default rule" severely and purposefully narrows the public's right to carry by flipping the long-held presumption that a citizen could enter a business open to the public with a firearm unless told otherwise by the owner.

Attorney General Knudsen led three different amicus briefs in this case. In 2023 he asked the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals to not overturn a District Court ruling, in May 2025 he asked SCOTUS to intervene in the case, and in November 2025 he filed a brief supporting the plaintiffs Supreme Court case.

Spring mule deer surveys show good fawn recruitment in many areas of southwestern Montana

*Mild winter made trend survey conditions challenging
this year*

Mild winter conditions and lack of snow made for challenging survey conditions this spring for wildlife staff in southwestern Montana. But the warm winter weather likely helped mule deer winter survival and fawn recruitment in many areas.

These were key takeaways from post-hunting season and spring mule deer surveys conducted by wildlife staff with Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks. The annual surveys provide trend data on overall mule deer population estimates, herd makeup and fawn recruitment, and they inform management decisions in accordance with Montana's Adaptive Harvest Management Plan for mule deer.

Biologists conduct mule deer surveys in trend areas that allow for repeatable surveys of a sample of herds within a larger surrounding area. Results are comparable from year to year and form a long-term average, which is based on all years for which data is available. These aerial surveys happen away from roads, in the early morning or late evening hours when deer are most active, and in areas where deer usually concentrate seasonally—factors that allow biologists to count and classify deer most efficiently.

This past winter was exceptionally mild with very little snow at middle and lower elevations. In southwestern Montana, that led to an early and widespread spring green-up and mule deer herds that were widely dispersed at times when they're usually congregated in smaller areas. This made spring trend surveys challenging for FWP staff. However, biologists gathered valuable fawn recruitment data, which is less dependent on ideal survey conditions.

Sheridan area: Surveys in the Sheridan area, which include the Snowcrest, Sweetwater Hills, Tobacco Root, Ruby, Red Rock, and West Greenhorn mountains, observed above-average fawn recruitment everywhere deer were classified. Recruitment ranged from 17 to 60 percent above the long-term average. Both fawns and adult mule deer appeared to be in good body condition, and high recruitment is expected following two consecutive mild winters and good forage.

Dillon area: Surveys in the Dillon area include the Lima Peaks, East Pioneer and Tendoy mountains. Recruitment here remains strong, with more than 50 fawns per 100 adult deer observed. Minimum counts—the actual number of deer observed—were 25 percent greater than the long-term average in the Lima Peaks and similar to the long-term average in the East Pioneers.

Bozeman area: Mule deer numbers in the Bridger Range remain within the 20-year average but below the long-term average. Fawn recruitment here is robust with 53 fawns per 100 adults, about 66 percent above the long-term average. Minimum counts were within the long-term average in the Madison Range, where mule deer numbers have been stable over the past 30 years.

Livingston area: A survey in the Brackett Creek trend area found a total count that was 3 percent less than the 10-year average but 40 percent lower than the long-term average since 1979. Fawn recruitment was also lower this year, down 33 percent from 2025 and 3 percent lower than the long-term average.

Butte area: A trend area near Fleece Wildlife Management Area continued to show stable fawn recruitment at 36 fawns per 100 does, just above the long-term average. The total count was 510, the highest since 2018 but still below the long-term average of 591. Buck harvest in HD 319 remains low.

Mule deer populations in the south Boulder area have been on a declining trend since 2019. This year, biologists counted 34 fawns per 100 does, compared with a long-term average of 41 fawns per 100 does.

Now Hiring: Patient Access Specialist at Blacktail Health

Are you someone who loves helping others and thrives in a fast paced, people focused environment? Do you enjoy being the friendly face (or voice) that makes someone's day a little easier? If so, you might be the perfect fit for our Blacktail Health Patient Access Specialist role!

As a Patient Access Specialist, you'll be the first point of contact for our patients—providing exceptional service while ensuring every visit starts smoothly. You will:

- Greet and register patients with warmth and professionalism
- Verify insurance and assist with general questions
- Schedule appointments and coordinate services
- Support patients through the check in/out process
- Work closely with clinical teams to keep care seamless and efficient

We'd love to meet you if you:

- Have excellent communication and customer service skills
- Are detail oriented and tech savvy
- Can multitask and stay organized under pressure
- Bring empathy, patience, and professionalism to every interaction
- Enjoy working as part of a supportive, mission-driven team

What We Offer

- Competitive pay
- Comprehensive benefits
- Opportunities for growth and advancement
- A collaborative, values driven workplace
- The chance to truly impact patient experiences every day

Apply today: www.blacktailhealth.betterteam.com or email your resume to employment@blacktailhealth.org
