Celebrate the Wood Bank at Beaverhead Brewing Co. Pint Night Nov. 13

Don't be superstitious! This coming Friday the 13th could be your lucky day. Stop by the annual Pint Night benefit for the Wood Bank, from 4:30 to 8 pm at the Beaverhead Brewing Company. In addition to Brewery products and a friendly crowd, there will be snacks, a 50:50 raffle, and a silent auction. Proceeds from this event will help the wood bank continue to provide gifts of firewood to help warm the homes of our neighbors in need.

The silent auction will feature several handcrafted items made and donated by local woodworker Gerry Meacham of Sharptail Creations. Auction winners can take home a live-edge Siberian elm wood coffee table, or a serving tray made of alder and cherry wood, a cutting board made of cherry, maple, walnut, and elm wood, or a heavy-duty nylon firewood tote. Several other auction items will also be on offer, including gift baskets from Jack Shinkle.

With energy prices and other costs rising, many households will be struggling to keep warm this winter. The Beaverhead Community Wood Bank Ministry is a 501(c)3 nonprofit formed in 2015 to help meet the fuel needs of qualified households based on income limitations and disability concerns. Last winter, the wood bank distributed about 150 cords of firewood among 50 households in our area. So far this season, 37 applications have been approved to receive firewood. As of October 31 the Wood Bank has already distributed 44 cords of firewood.

Making and delivering firewood takes time. For a few hours each week, wood bank volunteers share their time and energy to help others, while enjoying outdoor activity and the sense of accomplishment a big stack of firewood can provide. Last year, 50 local volunteers and 68 cadets from the Montana Youth Challenge Academy logged a total of 1,912 volunteer hours at the wood bank.

The Wood Bank's major expense is for logs. Most of the wood comes from dry, dead timber salvaged from logging areas on Federal, State, or private lands, purchased in semi-truck loads. The cost of a truckload of logs for the wood bank in the past year has risen to $2,300.00 due to the cost of diesel. Each truckload is processed by volunteers into 10-11 cords of firewood, so about 15 truckloads are needed to meet the goal of 150 cords. In addition, there are operational expenses for fuel and equipment, insurance, phone, bookkeeping, etc. So, fundraising is always on the Wood Bank's agenda.

The firewood isn't free – it is priceless. Our community has stepped forward in extraordinary ways to support the Wood Bank for more than 10 years. On behalf of the households warmed by gifts of firewood, THANK YOU for your support. It wouldn't be possible without you!

For information about the Wood Bank or Pint Night, contact Rick Hartz at 406-683-4506.

Tyrades! by Danny Tyree

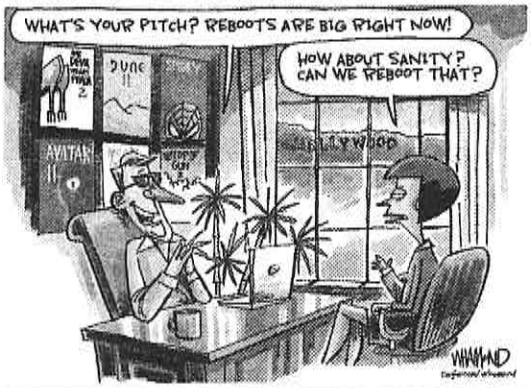

November 7, 1976 was a special day for me, and I'm not just whistling "Dixie."

That was when NBC broadcast the first part of the network television premiere of the Hollywood epic "Gone with the Wind."

I was working the day shift at the convenience market and babbling about my evening plans to anyone who would listen (and who wouldn't ridicule me for having to watch the Technicolor movie on a black-and-white TV).

"Gone with the Wind" didn't quite ring a bell with customer Woodrow Helmick, who would have been a young adult when the film first hit theaters in 1939. ("Is it a Disney movie?") Bless his heart, he wasn't "up" on current events, so he probably thought the idea of "brother against brother" was as ludicrous as (ha ha) North Vietnam versus South Vietnam.

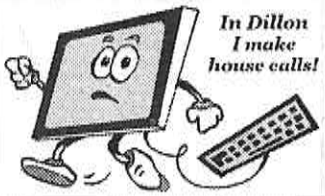

Nowadays, only live sporting events make much of a ratings splash on network television, but "Gone with the Wind" (part of NBC's "The Big Event" umbrella title) had quite the ripple effect on culture. For one thing, it encouraged my boss's wife to dismiss someone's impertinence with "Frankly, my dear, I don't give a hydroelectric dam."

And just five days after part 2 aired, CBS broadcast the Carol Burnett spoof "Went With the Wind," featuring the iconic line "Thank you. I saw it in the window, and I just couldn't resist it." (R.I.P., Bob Mackie.)

The aura of good will had its limits, however. I wanted to read Margaret Mitchell's 1936 novel for a junior year English book report, but Mrs. Jones didn't feel it was "classic" enough. Maybe I should have tried bluffing my way through with a few Shakespearean tweaks. ("Alas, poor Yorick. I knew him, Horatio: a fellow of infinite jest, of most excellent carpetbags…")

"Gone with the Wind" became my favorite movie (I still whistle "Tara's Theme" when deep in thought) and I have stayed loyal to it this past half-century. Perhaps some of my stubbornness comes from great-great grandfather Joseph Harrison Gipson. He was wounded at the battle of Dead Angle on the Kennesaw Mountain line near Marietta, Georgia. The Confederate infantryman never received a military pension because he steadfastly refused to sign a loyalty oath to the Union. (If only the Loyalty Program had offered 10 cents off on a gallon of gasoline…)

Even without the family connection, I would still thrill to the spectacular "burning of Atlanta" scene, although modern technology has tried to dim its impact. ("The Johnson Family's CGI Yule Log: it's Sherman's March to the Sea, Moses parting the Red Sea and Ben-Hur's chariot race all rolled into one!")

Sadly, "Gone with the Wind" is now saddled with politically correct disclaimers, such as the mandatory four-and-a-half-minute introduction on HBO Max. I dread the not-so-distant future when "Frozen" comes with a trigger warning. ("Advisory: this film may rub it in your face that you have a snowball's chance of ever collecting your Social Security.")

I was reasonably impressed with the 1994 miniseries sequel "Scarlett," but I hope no one is tempted to abuse the intellectual property for advertising, say, GLP-1 drugs. ("As God is my witness, as the FDA is my witness, I'm not going to lick icing. I'm going to live through this and when it's all over, I'll never feel hungry again.")

I'd like to take a long breather, but fiddle-dee-dee, such luxury is not for me.

After all, next week is another deadline.
