Jerome Magee, Jr.

November 17, 1952 – August 26, 2026

Jerome Magee Jr, known to all as Jed, of Dell, MT passed away on August 26, 2026 at the age of 73. He was born in Berkeley, CA, on November 17, 1952, to Jerome and Barbara Magee of Piedmont, CA. He is survived by his two sons, Tom Magee, his wife Kari and their son, Boone, and Ben Magee, his wife Ashley and their son, Kash, all of Belgrade, MT, his sisters, Ann Magee of Stephenville, TX, and Susan Magee Brandt and husband Bill of Fredericksburg, TX, as well as his nephews, David Brandt, his wife Julie and their daughter, Stella, of Austin, TX, and Stephen Brandt of Fredericksburg, TX.

Jed always said he had an idyllic childhood. Raised in Piedmont, CA, his summers were spent at the family ranches in Alamo and Danville, CA, which proved formative to his character and built the foundation of his adulthood. His younger years were spent exploring the hills of Alamo with his sisters, with countless hours spent horseback. These freedoms, along with a love of the west, grew into a passion for the outdoors and much time spent in remote wilderness areas. He became a student of primitive skills and undertook many arduous backcountry camping trips in his youth and could easily survive with nothing but a pocket knife.

Jed graduated from the University of Oregon with a degree in English and then went to work for the family oil and gas business in the Bay Area. His writing was both beautiful and articulate and he penned many stories. He was also an avid reader with a passion for the history of the West and World War II, with a personal library second to none.

One of his more unusual pursuits was a stint as a gold miner in the remote Alaskan wilderness in the early 1990's, an adventure that he fondly reflected on throughout his life. He ran cattle on the family ranch in Danville for years and passed that love of ranching, caring for animals, and stewardship of the land on to his sons. Without a doubt, his greatest joy as an adult was time spent hunting and fishing with his boys. The adventures in pursuit of game created a lifetime of memories. Duck hunting specifically, occupied the majority of their time together, combining all he loved in one place: his sons, the outdoors, and his dogs.

Jed came from a long line of CA pioneers and was a life member of The Society of California Pioneers. He was truly a man from another time. He rejected technological advances and prided himself on never owning a computer. He had very strong convictions regarding brutal honesty, loyalty, trust, perseverance, uncompromising family unity and doing the right thing, no matter what. His word counted for something and a handshake sealed any commitment. A copious note taker, if he said something, it Cisco Confidential was likely backed up on a yellow legal pad. He left an impression on all he met, good or bad, and carried that as a badge of honor. His love was shown through actions, not words and beamed with pride around his grandsons. His known stubborn streak faded in the presence of his daughters-in-law, exposing a much softer side known only to them. He shot his 30-06 like nothing you have ever seen, "I'm better when they're moving," he'd say. His devotion to his family was unwavering and absolute. He loved dogs, tolerated people, and certainly adored his grandchildren.

Jed lived the majority of his adult life in Danville, CA. His tussles with the Town regarding property rights became legendary, and ultimately manifested in preserving the family ranch for everyone to enjoy. Though his time there left a large impression on Danville, his ultimate destination was always Montana. He finally moved to a little slice of heaven on the Red Rock River outside of the small town of Dell in 2021. The only sadness of his retirement years was that he wasn't able to enjoy his new Montana life for as long as he had hoped. Many words get passed around at someone's passing, at Jed's passing, none more so than "Legend". For those that truly knew Jed…he certainly was one.

Antonio, Texas. Her service took place during the Desert Shield and Desert Storm era, and she received the National Defense Service Medal in recognition of her active-duty service.

James Ritter | U.S. Navy

Ritter served in the U.S. Navy from 2005 to 2009 as a Third Class Aviation Boatswain's Mate. Stationed in Yokosuka, Japan, he served aboard the USS George Washington and USS Kitty Hawk, supporting aircraft launch and recovery operations. During his service, he also earned the distinction of becoming a Trusty Shellback, a title awarded through a longstanding naval tradition.

Tom Nichols | U.S. Navy

Nichols served in the U.S. Navy from 1983 to 1991 as an Electrician's Mate (E-5). After completing specialized nuclear power training, he served aboard the USS Haddock, a nuclear-powered fast-attack submarine. His service included deployments throughout the Pacific and an extended period of 63 consecutive days underwater. He later continued his service as a Navy reservist in Butte, Montana.

Grady Holt | U.S. Army

Holt served in the U.S. Army from 2006 to 2012, achieving the rank of Sergeant. He served with Task Force Troy during Operation Iraqi Freedom before becoming a Training Noncommissioned Officer with Bravo Company, 3rd Battalion, 415th Infantry, where he helped prepare fellow soldiers for service.

Nick Gutcheck | U.S. Marine Corps

Gutcheck served in the U.S. Marine Corps from 2001 to 2005, attaining the rank of Sergeant. As an Infantryman with the 4th Marine Expeditionary Brigade (Anti-Terrorism), he supported the Marine Corps' mission of protecting and defending the nation.

Montana Western is grateful to each of these individuals for their service and sacrifice. The university also recognizes that some veterans within the campus community prefer not to be publicly identified, and that others may not have been included in this year's recognition.

Our appreciation extends to every veteran among Montana Western's faculty, staff and students. The university welcomes the opportunity to hear more stories and learn about the military experiences of its Bulldog community members so they can continue to be recognized in the future.

To all who have served, Montana Western thanks you for your service.

Dillon Business Creates 49 Personalized Mugs for U.S. Soldiers Stationed in Poland, Seeks Community Support

Jeremy Crawford, Southwestern Montana News

A local Dillon business is helping bring a little piece of home to American soldiers stationed overseas, and now the community has an opportunity to help support the effort.

3-D Trophies & More recently took on a special project after being approached by the parents of a soldier stationed in Poland.

The soldier wanted to provide personalized thermal mugs to the members of his military unit, each featuring the unit's logo and an individual call sign .The soldier's parents reached out to ask whether the shop could create the mugs for their son's unit.

The team at 3-D Trophies & More ordered the thermal mugs and engraved each one on both sides. All 49 mugs have now been completed and shipped overseas. According to shipping tracking information provided to the business, the mugs are currently in transit. Making Sure Our Soldiers Know They Are Appreciated. For those involved in the project, the effort was about more than creating personalized merchandise.

The project was inspired in part by a desire to prevent today's service members from experiencing the lack of appreciation that some veterans faced in the past.

Community Donations Sought to Help Cover Costs

The total cost of the project, including shipping, was $1,945.62.

So far, donations have helped cover a portion of that expense.

- Project Fundraising Update:
  Total Project Cost: $1,945.62
  Donations Received: $560.00
  Remaining Balance: $1,385.62

3-D Trophies & More is inviting community members who would like to contribute to stop by the store and make a donation toward the remaining invoice.

A Small-Town Thank You That Reaches Across the World With Veterans Day, the project is another example of how local businesses and residents can show their appreciation for those serving in the United States Armed Forces.

Although the soldiers are thousands of miles away the mugs will carry a reminder of the support they have back home.

For anyone interested in helping with the project, donations can be made directly at 3-D Trophies & More in Dillon.

General hunting season reaches mid-point; hunter success mixed in southwestern Montana

The general hunting season is halfway through, and hunter numbers and success have been mixed in southwestern Montana.

The season so far has brought unseasonably mild weather, which can provide favorable access conditions for hunters but keep wildlife herds disbursed at higher elevations in some areas.

Wildlife biologists operate game check stations to collect data on hunter participation and success, as well as the species, sex and age class of the animals harvested. This supplements data collected through hunter harvest phone surveys each year.

Hunters are required to stop at game check stations they encounter, regardless of whether they harvested an animal.

Over Nov. 7 and 8, biologists operated check stations in Alder, Cameron and Divide. They met with 759 hunters who collectively harvested 39 elk, 29 mule deer and two white-tailed deer, among other species.

Wildlife staff met with 184 hunters at the Alder check station, about 18 percent fewer than average for that weekend. More than 11 percent of those hunters were successful, compared with an average of 14 percent.

Some 342 hunters came through the Cameron check station, just 10 fewer hunters than average. Just over 10 percent were successful, compared with an average success rate of 9 percent.

At the Divide check station, wildlife staff met with 233 hunters over the weekend. That's about 17 percent more than average. Hunter effort, measured in days afield, was 45 percent greater than average, with the weekend's hunter success rate of 8 percent being about 7 percent above average.

Hunters continue to report seeing tracks from both black bears and grizzly bears. Bears are still active throughout the general season, so it's important for hunters to be bear aware.

Veteran's Corner Update #589

By Mike Lawson

Veteran News Updates: • When Congress passes Veteran Legislation Bills, it sometimes takes time to digest and understand some of what the actual benefits are. One case in point is the passage of the "Senator Elizabeth Dole 21st Century Veterans Healthcare and Benefits Act, signed on January 2, 2025. For those who don't want to go into a Nursing Home and want that care to be done at home, this is especially important. It allows the VA to pay 100% nursing home-care. If you or your loved on fits into this category, please check it out with your VA Rep.

• Just a well deserved shout-out to our Native American Veterans from the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The VFW is recognizing November as National Heritage Month. They, along with a grateful nation, honor our Indigenous service members who with their courage, skill and devotion to country, have helped defend the United States for more than two and a half centuries. Well deserved.
