married Greyson Phipps in 1972 and moved them to Lima, MT where Tina graduated from Lima High School in 1982. In 1990 she moved to Connecticutt where she married Harvey Hollm. They moved to Billings, Montana in 1993. In 1999,Tina and Harvey divorced. Tina and her five children moved back to Dillon, MT to be closer to family and friends. She moved to Nebraska for a while around 2014 to be with her friend Michael who she had met online. He has since passed away. Her daughter Tabitha moved with her and still resides in Nebraska with her daughter Tia. Tina moved back to Dillon where her health began to fail. In 2019 she had to move into Pioneer Care in Dillon. She stayed there all through Covid until 2024 when she was moved to Valle Vista Rehab in Lewistown to be closer to her son Nate (Shelby) their boys Vincent, Issak, and Benton and her stepgrandchildren Alysa, Maya, and Konner. All was well until October 2025 when she fell and broke both of her legs, the left femur in two places. An Ode to the Beaverhead Trails Coalition

Dedicated to Dan Downey and Deanna Nelson, all trailblazers, but especially Pat C., Deanna N., Cathy W., Dan D., and Jill P.

It was early afternoon, when I queried my friends who'd like to go romp around up hill and down glens?

My three pups all responded with waggles, barks and yahoos – oh boy, oh boy, oh boy, Kathy will do!

It's so easy to wander in these wide open spaces where earth meets sky, and eagles soar on air currents up high and mountains have faces.

I am able to dismiss the current rattling cacophony in exchange for contemplative brew. This sure does recharge the spirit anew.

The sage was all spent, rabbit brush lay still, and the valley was so quiet, not even a trill.

From behind me, all I could hear was the deliberate trodding of dog paws and the rhythmic grunting and sniffing of pure canine delight.

While I used my poles so as not to trip I patiently explained to my group come on girls and boys! Up another hill!

The trees, so barren cacti lay dormant coyote all resting snakes but ravens remain discordant.

As we carefully trudged down the slippery slopes, I could hear a refrain remaining afloat.

Be thankful for these hills, for they provide thrills that settle the soul and calm a restless spirit.

Happy trekking to all and to all a wide and good grin.

With love,
Kathy Kirkley

State Auditor James Brown Helps Stop Additional $9.5M in Unsupported Payouts Connected With Obamacare Fraud Scheme, Bringing Total Savings to $55.6M

State Auditor James Brown helped prevent roughly $9.5 million more in unsupported payouts by a health insurer impacted by an Obamacare fraud scheme that targeted Montana's native communities. To date, the Auditor's Office has helped stop more than $55.6 million in unsupported payouts associated with the scheme.

The treatment and billing scheme abused an Affordable Care Act (ACA, also known as Obamacare) provision allowing tribal members to enroll year-round with no waiting period. The fraudsters exploited victims by:

- Convincing members of Montana's native communities to disenroll from Medicaid or other existing health coverage;
- Enrolling them in Obamacare plans using fake information;
- Transporting them across state lines for alleged addition treatment, and;
- Billing Montana insurers for treatments that never occurred, were inadequate, unnecessary, or provided at inflated costs.

The fraud scheme impacted two Montana insurers – PacificSource and Mountain Health Co-Op – for which 160 rescissions have been approved, totaling $55.6 million. There are at least 216 suspected rescission cases across the two insurers, amounting to more than $60.8 million in claims charges.

"Every dollar that we stop in fraudulent billing is a dollar saved for Montana consumers and taxpayers. Fighting fraud is a critical part of keeping life affordable," Auditor Brown said.

The agency's ongoing investigation revealed that "body brokers" targeted homeless shelters on or near tribal reservations, promising vulnerable persons free luxury rehab, as well as transportation, housing, and cash incentives. Some victims were provided alcohol or drugs during transport or at the time of medical evaluation to keep them compliant.

Investigators found that victims were housed in substandard conditions, shuffled around different facilities, and abandoned far from their homes without resources to return, potentially contributing to the scourge of missing and murdered indigenous persons.

"This fraud scheme is particularly despicable. I'm determined to not only prevent the fraudulent billing, but to help hold the perpetrators fully accountable," Auditor Brown added.

Montanans should be suspicious of unsolicited offers of treatment or

Secretary Christi Jacobsen: State Board of Canvassers selects races, precincts for 2026 General Election post-election audit

Montana Secretary of State Christi Jacobsen says the state's post-election audit process is underway.

The Montana State Board of Canvassers, made up of representatives from the Attorney General's Office, Office of Public Instruction, and State Auditor's Office, met in the Supreme Court Chambers on Tuesday to randomly select the races, ballot issues, and precincts to be audited for Montana's 2026 General Election post-election audit. Participants rolled multiple 10-sided dice to determine the audit selections.

Under Montana's Post-Election Audit Act, election officials must hand count votes and compare those totals with the previously tabulated results. Laws passed by the 2023 Legislature strengthened the Act by expanding the number of races included in the post-election audit and by requiring counties that count votes by hand to conduct a post-election audit as well.

"Paper ballots and the Post-Election Audit Act work together to confirm that Montana's election results are accurate and transparent," said Secretary Jacobsen. "Over the past five years, Montana has strengthened its election processes, from voter ID to cleaning the voter rolls to these post-election audit procedures. Thank you to the Montana Election Team and the State Board of Canvassers for initiating this important step."

The Secretary of State's website contains the list of random-sample audit selections from Tuesday's meeting. Counties across the state will conduct the post-election audit and complete their county canvassing by Tuesday, November 17. The State Canvass is scheduled for Monday, November 30.

Secretary Christi Jacobsen: 'New business filing fee eliminated for veterans and active-duty military members in Montana'

Montana Secretary of State Christi Jacobsen says initial filing fees are officially eliminated for new businesses registered in Montana by veterans and active-duty military members.

Effective today, Veterans Day, Secretary Jacobsen is waiving the initial filing fee for new Montana businesses registered by U.S. veterans and active-duty military service members. She announced the news during a Veterans Day celebration in East Helena, where she and members of the Secretary of State's Office staff took part in the event and parade.

"There is no true way to give back to the Montana veterans and military members who answer the call to serve our state and nation, but we're honored to provide this fee waiver as a thank you for their service," said Secretary Jacobsen. "We want to make it easier for these dedicated men and women to turn their ideas into successful Montana businesses that can thrive in their communities."

Under the permanent waiver, the initial filing fee for a new domestic limited liability company (Domestic LLC) or new assumed business name (ABN/DBA) registered by a U.S. veteran or active-duty military service member is waived.

By eliminating yet another fee for Montana business owners, Secretary Jacobsen continues her commitment to making it easier to do business in the Treasure State. During her first term, she cut registration fees in half for new Montana businesses, leading to Montana's business registration fees being the lowest in the nation. That reduction has saved Montana businesses more than $6 million. Secretary Jacobsen has also waived the annual report filing fee for all Montana businesses since 2024, saving them more than $15 million.

Secretary Jacobsen has also prioritized improving services and efficiencies for businesses across the state, including providing 24/7 access to filing and accessing documents online. Montana has set a record for new business creation every year under her leadership, including a record 76,800 new registrations in 2025.

"From day one, my promise to Montana businesses was to remove red tape and bureaucracy so they could focus on day-to-day operations and growth," said Secretary Jacobsen. "I'm excited that we have extended this focus to our military members and veterans and ask Montanans to join me in thanking them for their service."

Veterans and active-duty military members interested in registering their Montana business can learn more at https://sosmt.gov/business/.
