Older resident hunters have a new opportunity

When the Montana Legislature passed House Bill 328 earlier this year, it expanded hunting privileges for Montana residents 75 years of age and older.

Currently, residents aged 62 and older can purchase various hunting and fishing licenses at half price, such as conservation licenses, fishing licenses and tags for different game animals.

The new provision allows residents who are 75 years or older to use a general elk license to harvest an antlerless elk on private lands during any season in a hunting district where youth under 15 may harvest an antlerless elk.

The hunting districts where residents 75 years of age and older can harvest an antlerless elk on private land with general elk licenses are located in western and southwest Montana. They are:

Region 2

201, 204, 210, 211, 212,
213, 215, 216, 217, 240,
261, 270 (North of Rye
Creek), 280, 281, 285,
291, 292, 293

Region 3

All hunting districts in Region 3, except
309, 310, 313, 324, 388,
391, 392.

Hunters looking to take advantage of this opportunity should be familiar with the regulations. Youth hunt opportunities that are equal to these opportunities for resident hunters and 75 years and older can be found in a chart on page 126 of the 2025 Montana Deer, Elk, Antelope Regulations.

Ribbon Cutting

to Reopen Dillon's Normal Street Bridge

Set for Friday, October 10

at 1:00 p.m.

The Beaverhead Trails Coalition (BTC), in partnership with the City of Dillon, will host a ribbon-cutting ceremony to celebrate the reopening of the Normal Street Bridge on Friday, October 10 at 1:00 p.m. (MT). Community members, partners, and the media are invited to attend on site at the bridge on Normal Street between Washington and Pacific Streets. The new span restores a vital walking and biking connection across the Dillon Canal.

The Normal Street Bridge has long served residents on Dillon's southwest side and is a key link in a safe walk/bike route that connects historic neighborhoods, the University of Montana Western campus, and the hospital. After years of deferred maintenance, the previous bridge was deemed unsafe and removed in the winter of 2022-23; the new structure reestablishes that connection and advances BTC's vision of a community with easy access to active transportation.

Event Details

- What: Normal Street Bridge Ribbon Cutting
- When: Friday, October 10, 2025 at 1:00 p.m. (MT)
- Where: Normal Street Bridge (Normal St. between Washington & Pacific), Dillon, Montana
- Who: Beaverhead Trails Coalition, City of Dillon, partners, and community members
- Media Ops: Brief remarks, ribbon cutting, and photo opportunities on site

About the Normal Street Bridge Project

BTC partnered with the City of Dillon to replace the removed bridge with a new span across the Dillon Canal, improving accessibility on both sides and strengthening a planned network of safe, enjoyable walking and biking routes throughout town.

About Beaverhead Trails Coalition

Beaverhead Trails Coalition is a local nonprofit that provides the community with walking and bicycling trails, parks, and programs—pursuing a vision of a community with easy access to walking, bicycling, and horseback riding. ## Shut down the shutdown hysteria

Making Sense By Michael Reagan

It's almost like the news media is trying to get us to hide under our beds in fear.

From CNN to USA Today to Fox and beyond, all we hear is, "There's a shutdown! There's a shutdown!"

Of course there's a bloody federal government shutdown. It's the end of September, isn't it? It's federal budget-passing time, isn't it?

It's the season when our great political leaders in Congress finally have to stand up tall and decide who in the federal government will get the tens and hundreds of billions of dollars we don't really have and will be borrowing for our grandchildren to pay off.

For most Americans, shutting down the federal government means nothing. First off, it's an empty threat that rarely ever happens — the last time was 10 years ago. (America survived, by the way.)

Almost every year at this time we hear the same scary and sad media stories about the threat of federal parks closing and federal employees — aka, bureaucrats — being furloughed and not getting their paychecks until the deadlock is over.

But shutting down the federal government for a few days or even weeks doesn't seriously affect the lives or the livelihoods of most Americans.

If it weren't for the big TV networks and print dinosaurs like the Washington Post acting like it was the end of the world, most Americans wouldn't even know that the federal government has been closed for the last two days.

It's the usual story — the usual dumb "government shutdown" story that I swear I've written about 10 times before. The characters are just a different collection of spineless and incompetent Republicans and Democrats in Congress who can't or won't make the right decision.

As usual, instead of sensibly passing a multi-trillion budget to fund the federal government one small chunk at a time, they kicked the entire 2025-2026 budget can down the road like a gang of little kids until the fiscal deadline — September 30.

This year the funding fight is over the extension of enhanced Obamacare subsidies, but it's always something partisan and stupid. Democrats okayed a similar bill nine months ago, but they won't OK this one largely because they hate President Trump so much they can't see straight.

So now the Schumers and the Thunes and Johnsons and Jeffries are pointing partisan fingers of blame at each other. They're trying to force the other side to capitulate and sign a gigantic one-piece omnibus budget bill that contains all the legislative crap, boondoggles and self-serving bills both parties couldn't get passed on their own during the year.

No one knows how long this latest self-inflicted shutdown "crisis" will last – probably into next week. And you can bet any settlement will just push the next budget showdown "crisis" back to Thanksgiving week or on Christmas Day.

Meanwhile, the propagandists at CNN are already writing hysterical things like "The ramifications of Capitol Hill's deadlock are steadily rippling across a broad swath of American lives."

As examples of these supposedly dire threats to American lives, CNN pointed out that New York can't afford to keep the Statue of Liberty open and the DC court system won't be able to issue marriage certificates.

CNN and everyone else in the media's shutdown spook show know how this one will end. Everyone in the federal workforce will get their back pay. And America will survive, despite the predictable failures of Congress.

If we really want to stop these seasonal shutdowns, I've got an idea that might help.

How about a piece of legislation that says when a government shutdown occurs, the first nonessential federal "workers" to lose their pay are members of Congress?

It's hard to be optimistic, given Congress' sorry track record, but I'm looking for a member of the Senate or House who has enough courage to write it – and a party that has enough courage to pass it.

Bozeman Symphony Storytime Features the Bass

The Bozeman Symphony invites children and families to a special Symphony Storytime featuring the upright bass on Wednesday, Oct. 8, at 10:15 a.m. at the Bozeman Public Library. This free, interactive program, presented in partnership with the Library's Toddler and Preschool Storytime, combines storytelling with the wonder of live music, creating a joyful experience for children ages 3–5.

The morning's adventure will feature Bozeman Symphony bassist Scott Stebbins alongside Roxy, the playful monster puppet from Random Acts of Silliness, as the guest reader. Together, they will bring a story to life through the magical interplay of words and music. After the reading, Stebbins will introduce children to the unique sounds of the bass with a short, hands-on performance.

Families can look forward to the next Symphony Storytime of the season on Saturday, Nov. 8, at 10:15 a.m. at the Bozeman Public Library.

My dog Jake has been diagnosed with allergies to everything except VENISON, BEEF LIVER and RICE. Beef liver can cause copper poisoning in dogs. Rice is ok as a supplement but it can contribute to inflammation for dogs with allergies. With this very unusual diagnosis I am struggling to keep my dog alive. If you have any venison in your freezer that you don't want I sure could use it. I will pick it up. Call me - Catherine Cain 406-498-6198

MENDING BRIDGES: HOW TO RECONNECT WITH ESTRANGED LOVED ONES

As we grow older, many of us find ourselves reflecting on the people who once played a large role in our lives. This could be friends, family members, even children or siblings we may have grown distant from. Whether the separation happened because of a disagreement or our lives simply moving in different directions, the desire to reconnect can become stronger with age. Reaching out can feel daunting, especially when emotions like guilt, sadness, or fear of rejection are involved. But it's never too late to take the first step toward rebuilding a relationship. Here is a compassionate, practical guide to help you consider how to reconnect with someone you've lost touch with.

STEPS FOR REACHING OUT

- 1. Reflect on the Why: Before reaching out, it can be helpful to ask yourself: Why do I want to reconnect? Is it for closure, to rebuild the relationship, to offer forgiveness, or simply to say hello? Understanding your reasons can help you approach the situation with clarity and compassion.
- 2. Acknowledge What Happened: You don't have to rehash every detail, but being honest with yourself about what led to the estrangement can be grounding. Whether it was a major falling out or a gradual drifting apart, recognizing both sides of the story helps set realistic expectations for the future.
- 3. Start Small and Gentle: If you feel ready, consider a soft approach. A short letter, card, email, or even a social media message can be a good place to start. Keep it light, kind, and simple.
- 4. Focus on Listening: If you do reconnect, try to listen more than you talk, especially at first. Let the other person share their experience and feelings. Be curious, not defensive. Healing takes time, and listening helps rebuild trust.
- 5. Be Prepared for Any Outcome and Celebrate the Effort: They may not be ready to reconnect yet. Respect their boundary, and applaud yourself for doing something that takes maturity, strength, and heart.

Our hospital-based outpatient program meets the unique needs of older adults experiencing depression and/or anxiety. Anyone can make a referral to our program, including self-referrals, provider referrals, or community consultations.
