Martha Ann Troth

December 31, 1935 — March 28, 2026

Martha Ann Troth, 90, of Dillon, Montana passed away unexpectedly on Saturday, March 28, 2026. She was vibrant and engaged with life through her final days. She was found deceased in her home, having fallen from a heart attack.

Born on December 31, 1935,
in Charleroi, Pennsylvania, Martha was the daughter of Mary and George F. Manandise. She was married to Alfred Carl Troth of Monessen, PA on June 15, 1957. Both were graduates of the California State Teachers College in California, PA. The young couple moved from south of Pittsburgh to the Williamsport area of north-central Pennsylvania where they taught for 15 years. They moved permanently to Dillon in 1973 with their son, Eric.

Martha became a Title I tutor in the Dillon school system, spending most of her years in the earlier grades at the Mary Innes School. After retiring, she worked as a volunteer in the gift shop at Barrett Memorial Hospital. Martha was passionate about sewing and crafts. She made clothing and outdoor gear for the family in the early years, knitted socks, hats, and scarves, crocheted scrubbies, and made gift cards. She enjoyed gardening, reading, and puzzles. Her cooking and recipes were renowned. In spite of being on full-time oxygen at the end of her life, Martha remained physically active, pushing her walker around the neighborhood and attending water classes at the YMCA.

Martha actively shared her talents as a mentor to a number of younger women. She was cheerful, generous, and kind, beloved among her circle of friends and all those who met her. Her son was blessed to have spent time with her daily throughout her final years, including taking local walks and Martha is preceded in death by her parents, brother Merle Manandise, and husband Alfred Troth. She was a loving and devoted caregiver for her mother, brother, and finally her husband, who suffered from Parkinson's and dementia in his later years, passing in 2012 after 55 years of marriage. She is survived by her son, Eric Troth of Dillon.

A Celebration of Life was held Tuesday, April 21, 2026 in the St. James Guild Hall, in Dillon.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions to the Brundage Funeral Home to assist the family with final expenses are deeply appreciated.

Montana Western Men's Team Wins MSU-Northern Rodeo

The Montana Western men's rodeo team earned the win while the women placed fourth at the MSU-Northern rodeo this weekend. "We're really excited about the men's team performance and how many individuals stepped up to improve their chances in the region race," head coach JT Robbins said. "Also, it was good to see some of the women's team show up and compete well."

The Bulldogs won four events in the short go while also registering two wins in the average.

Coy Montgomery (bareback) and Gavin Knutson (bull riding) each on the short go and the average in their respective events.

Josie Robbins placed first in the goat tying in the championship round while Cade Costello also got the Saturday evening win in the saddle Bronc.

LONG GO RESULTS

Teagen Arnold finished fourth in the tie-down after posting an 11.6-second run. Jake Deveraux registered a 12.4-second effort to place sixth.

Tavy Leno's 2.6-second run in the breakaway put her in sixth after the first round.

Cardell Laughery finished third in the saddle bronc with a 64 in his first ride.

Cooper Pavkov put up a 5.2-second effort in the long-go steer wrestling, putting him in second heading into the short go.

Whole Food Health Minute

Food is Medicine: Yellow Foods

With all this recent sunshine, it's hard not to think about the color yellow, so let's brighten things up by celebrating the power of yellow foods. Often associated with energy, digestion and whole body vitality, yellow foods bring both nourishment and vibrancy to the table. Think of sunny, feel good foods like pineapple, bananas, and crisp yellow peppers, not just cheerful on your plate, but packed with things like bromelain, potassium, vitamin C, vitamin B6, working behind the scenes to support immunity, metabolism, and hydration. Layered into that goodness are phytonutrients, natural plant compounds that help protect the plant and, in turn, help defend our cells from oxidative stress, especially carotenoids and bioflavonoids—which offer antioxidant protection and help calm inflammation in a way that feels both gentle and powerful. Many of these carotenoids, like lutein and zeaxanthin, play a special role in supporting the eyes, specifically, the retina by helping filter harmful blue light and maintain long term eye health, while also contributing to brain health and function as we age. These nutrients are fat soluble so pair yellow peppers with a healthy fat like olive oil for the best absorption of these beneficial compounds. It's a simple shift in perspective to focus on colors instead of individual foods, inviting more variety, a little playfulness, and a deeper kind of nourishment that feeds both body and mood. A fun challenge this week: aim for at least four different colors on your plate at each meal and yes, we're talking fruits and vegetables, not frosting. Over time, this kind of diversity helps build resilience and supports vibrant, whole body vitality for the long haul. Adding more yellow foods supports everything from your gut to your glow, and even the way you see and think in the world.

Good health is built day by day, starting with real food.

Denim Day

On Wednesday, April 29, the Women's Resource Center (WRC) invites the community to take a stand against sexual violence by participating in Denim Day, a global movement that raises awareness, supports survivors, and challenges harmful myths surrounding sexual assault.

Denim Day originated in response to a 1999 Italian Supreme Court ruling that overturned a rape conviction based on the belief that the survivor's jeans were "too tight," implying consent. In protest of this decision, women in the Italian Parliament wore jeans, sparking an international movement that continues today.

By wearing denim on Denim Day, individuals send a clear and powerful message: clothing is never consent. Community members are encouraged to wear denim and share their participation on social media or with the Women's Resource Center. Those who tag WRC in their Denim Day posts will be entered into a prize drawing, which will be announced during Walk a Mile in Her Shoes on Thursday, April 30 at 3:30 p.m. at the Roe House on UMW's campus.

"Denim Day is about more than what we wear, it's about what we stand for," said Megan Chilson, UMW Professor and WRC Board Member. "It's an opportunity for our community to take action, speak out, and show survivors they are not alone."

Businesses, schools, and community groups are encouraged to participate by wearing denim, hosting conversations, and sharing photos online with denim or ribbons. Together, these actions help break the silence, foster awareness, and build a safer, more supportive community.

The Women's Resource Center provides essential support to survivors of sexual violence in Beaverhead and Madison counties. All services are free and confidential, designed to meet the unique needs of survivors and empower them in their healing.

For more information about Denim Day, contact the Women's Resource Center at (406) 683-6106.
